COL. THOMAS B. FELDER DICTOGRAPHED BY CITY DETECTIVES

COL. FELDER DENIES OFFERING $1,000 OR ANY OTHER SUM FOR AFFIDAVIT HELD BY DETECTIVES

At the Request of The Journal He Left Trial of a Case in Marietta and Came to Atlanta Friday Afternoon, Where He Dictated a Statement Without Having Read the Dictographed Interview Which Is Given Elsewhere in This Paper

WELL-KNOWN ATTORNEY GIVES HIS VERSION OF WHAT HE SAID TO SECRETARY G. C. FEBUARY

Col. Felder Declares He Told Febuary and Colyar He Would Introduce Them to Some Gentlemen Who Might Be Interested in Getting Possession o Evidence on the Detective Department–Says He Never Claimed He Had Been Employed by the Colemans

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL has developed the fact that the city detectives have dictographed a conversation alleged to have taken place between Colonel Thomas B. Felder, the widely known attorney, G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a citizen, alleged to have occurred between them Wednesday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock in Room 31 of Williams House No. 2. That the detectives believed they were setting a trap for the astute attorney is known, but there is also a probability that Colonel Felder on his part was endeavoring to trap the trappers.

After having secured a stenographic report of the dictographed conversation, which has been sworn to by George M. Gentry, a nephew of Colonel W. T. Gentry, president of the Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co., the detectives, for reasons satisfactory to themselves, failed to proceed any further. A copy of the stenographer's typewritten record is in their possession, but if they had any intention of bringing charges against Colonel Felder, they seem to have, at least temporarily, abandoned their plans.

JOURNAL PRESENTS COMPLETE RECORD OF THE DICTOGRAPH CONVERSATION

The Journal is today presenting the complete record or the dictographed conversation and leaves the public to decide whether the detectives have trapped the attorney, or the attorney has trapped the trappers. The Journal also presents a copy of the affidavit which was the principal subject under discussion in the dictographed interview. Another affidavit, sworn to by Secretary G. C. Febuary and A. S. Colyar, detailing an alleged interview which occurred in the office of Colonel Felder, in the Equitable building, on last Monday night and relating to the same subject as that under discussion when the dictograph was at work is also given.

Still another affidavit referring to a telephone conversation between Colonel Felder and A. S. Colyar is sworn to by Detective R. S. Ozburn, who overheard same.

COLONEL FELDER DENIES OFFERING $1,000
OR ANY OTHER SUM FOR AFFIDAVIT

Colonel Thomas B. Felder was in Marietta Friday morning engaged in the trial of a case. He was communicated with by The Journal and informed that a story of importance was to be printed in The Journal in which he was interested. Colonel Felder stated that he would come to Atlanta and see us at 1:30 p. m. Colonel Felder said:

"On my arrival at The Journal office, Mr. J. R. Gray, editor of The Journal, informed me that the manuscript forming the basis of the story was in the hands of the printer and it would be impossible to submit it to me at this time, but that the same would be submitted as soon as it came from the machine.

"In the absence of the manuscript, Mr. Gray outlined the sum and substance of the story, adding that The Journal would go to press at 2:30 or 2:45, and suggested that I make any reply that I might desire. My reply to this was first that I could not make answer to it without reading the story, and second that I would not have time between this hour and the hour at which The Journal goes to press to reply fully. As I understand from Mr. Gray there is nothing in the article which involves either my personal or professional integrity, unless it should be the particular portion which states that I offered to pay one thousand dollars for the possession of certain documents which were to be taken from the safe of the chief of detectives.

"As to this, I desire to say first, and will establish this by proof, that I declined to pay a thousand dollars or any other sum for this evidence but stated to the parties that I would introduce to them a gentleman, namely: Mr. E. O. Miles, who might be interested in securing possession of this evidence. I am informed that Mr. Miles after meeting the parties introduced Mayor Woodward and several other gentlemen who are interested in probing the police department to them. I positively and emphatically declined to accede to the suggestion of these parties to go to East Lake. I stated to them that if they had any business with me that they might come to my office.

WILL MAKE HIS REPLY LATER

"On tomorrow, after I have had an opportunity to read the article I will prepare a full and complete reply thereto and will submit affidavits covering the same. My detailed reply will appear in the Sunday paper. In addition to this I will undertake to show to the people of Atlanta a condition which exists in respect to the so-called 'detective department' that will be appalling to them as it was to me.

"In relation to the Coleman affidavit, I only have to say that I have never claimed that this man Coleman or his wife employed me in the Phagan case. But I do say that Mr. Coleman personally approved the employment and assured me that his wife would do likewise.

"As to the story that an alleged conversation with me was dictographed, I wish to say, first, that I do not believe that these parties employed a dictograph to report my conversation because it is a well-known fact that the inventor of the dictograph does not permit its use to irresponsible blackmailers and character assassins. Second, if these parties employed a dictograph, they put themselves to unnecessary trouble as I said nothing to them in the several interviews that occurred that I was not willing to put in writing and have published in the press.

"In conclusion, permit me to say that in my reply a full and accurate report of what occurred in connection with this transaction will be given to the public, along with some other matters that have not heretofore been presented.

"I was strongly tempted a week ago to publish the history of this transaction but I felt that nothing should be done in the premises to prejudice the Phagan case, and when called upon by a reporter of The Journal several days ago to discuss this matter with him, I declined to discuss it and begged him not to publish anything in relation to it as I was too busily engaged in chasing elephants to engage at this time in a chase for mice."

After reading over his statement Mr. Felder left The Journal office to fill another engagement. He stated that h did not have time to wait for proofs on the dictograph records and the various affidavits, which had been promised him as soon as the type was in such shape as to permit of it being proved.

Colonel Felder, as is well known, has taken an active interest in the efforts being made to solve the Phagan murder mystery. His name first become associated with the case when it was announced that he had been employed by the citizens of Bellwood, friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, the step-father and mother of the murdered girl, to help in the search for evidence and to prosecute the murderer if found.

COLONEL FELDER EMPLOYED BURNS' DETECTIVES TO UNRAVEL PHAGAN MURDER MYSTERY

Colonel Felder made a visit to New York recently, and upon his return let it be known that he had conferred with the New York agency of William J. Burns, the famous detective, in reference to the Phagan case. A few days later C. W. Tobie, criminal investigator for W. J. Burns, reached Atlanta, and he has been actively engaged in the search for evidence ever since. Through the press Colonel Felder started a subscription to bring Mr. Burns himself to Atlanta. This fund has been largely subscribed to by the public, and Colonel Felder is confident that the great detective will be brought here and use his personal efforts to discover and convict the murderer of Mary Phagan.

Colonel Felder is one of the most widely known lawyers in the south. He was chief counsel for Charles W. Morse, the famous banker, and was largely instrumental in securing his pardon before the expiration of his sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary. He has also been retained as counsel in many other cases of nation-wide importance.

HERE IS COLEMAN AFFIDAVIT WHICH OFFICERS SAY COL. FELDER OFFERED TO PURCHASE FOR THE SUM OF $1,000

STATE OF GEORGIA:
FULTON COUNTY:

The affiant, J. W. Coleman and wife, citizens of Atlanta, Ga., who reside at 146 Lindsay St.

The affiant is the step-father of Mary Phagan, deceased, the child who was foully murdered by a hellish brute on April 26, 1913.

The affiant is in the employ of the City of Atlanta in the Sanitary Dept.

The affiant, while at the Police Station during the Coroner's inquest, the exact day he does not remember, was approached by a man somewhat under the influence of liquor, and said to the affiant, "I am working for the law firm of T. B. Felder, and I would like to have you go to his office, as he wants to see you, and I advise you to employ him." Affiant said, "No, I won't go to his office." The Piker then said, "will you talk to Col. Felder if I bring him here?" whereupon the affiant agreed to see him. He went off and came back in a few minutes with Felder. Col. Felder then said, "I want you to employ me to prosecute this case, it will not cost you a cent, as certain people have promised to pay me my fee, but I have got to have your consent to the employment before I can get into the Coroner's Jury." The affiant told him he did not want to employ him and did not want to have anything to do with him, as the affiant did not know him and had never seen him before that day, and affiant did not employ him, nor did the affiant's wife employ him, and the only information the affiant ever had that he was employed, was what he read in the newspapers.

Affiant has many good neighbors, and he appreciates their sympathy for him and his broken-hearted wife, but he cannot see how they would come to employ Col. Felder without his knowledge and consent.

A man met the affiant on the street and offered him one dollar to go upon the fee of this astute counsel, but he declined to accept it and told the party he had not employed Felder.

Affiant is thoroughly satisfied with the great work done by Chief of Police Beavers, and Chief of Detectives Lanford and the able men working under them, as he believes, as thousands of others do in Atlanta, that they have the real murderer in jail, and the affiant cannot reconcile himself to the conduct of Col. Felder, who is posing as a prosecuting attorney, and wanting five thousand dollars from the people of the City as set out in the afternoon's papers, to bring a noted detective here, and according to the press of the city, large amounts have been subscribed by people the affiant does not believe are anxious to prosecute the men under arrest.

The affiant means no reflection on the press of the City and the citizens of Atlanta who are in favor of justice and fair play. Affiant will ever appreciate the sympathy I have shown him and his family by these good people, and he asks them if they have any money to spend to punish the murderer of his sweet innocent child, to stand behind the Atlanta Police Dept. and let no one mislead them.

HOW DICTAGRAPH WAS INSTALLED IN WILLIAMS HOUSE NO. 2 TO TRAP COLONEL THOMAS B. FELDER

Instrument Was Put in by Lawrence O. Surles of the Southern Bell Telephone Company–George M. Gentry, Nephew of W. T. Gentry, Took Down the Conversation in Shorthand

The dictagraph, through which was recorded the conversation held by agents of the city detectives with Attorney Thomas B. Felder, was most ingeniously arranged and installed by Lawrence O. Surles, chief clerk of the traffic department of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, who is the Atlanta representative of the Dictograph Manufacturing company.

Just behind the lower portion of a dresser front board in room No. 31 of Williams House No. 2 was screwed two tiny dials, the transmitters or sounders of this cunning little device. Running from these dials were two dark red wires, which were so hidden in the corners of the dresser as to be invisible even to a suspicious person who might have made a minute investigation.

The dresser was placed directly in front of a door which connected with room No. 32, and the two wires were run through the keyhole of this door. To further avoid the possibility of discovery of the instrument or its wires the dresser was then screwed to the door frame so that it could not be pulled out or moved.

Inside room No. 32 the wires ran through two small dry batteries, of the type used for electric door-bells and were there attached to the receiver, which hung upon a hood-piece exactly similar to those employed by operators of private branch telephone exchanges.

Every sound in room 31 was picked up by the sensitive transmitters and delivered to the receiver in room No. 32. With the hood adjusted about his head so that a highly-sensitized transmitter fitted snugly to each of his ears, George W. Gentry, a nephew of W. T. Gentry, president of the Southern Bell and Cumberland Telephone companies, who is employed as a stenographer by the General Fire Extinguisher company, sat at a table in room No. 32 and took down in shorthand the conversation which the dictograph brought to him from room No. 31.

Room 32 faces on Forsyth street, and although the windows were down, the noise from the street occasionally drowned out the dictograph, causing Mr. Gentry to lose portions of the conversation.

Personally appeared before me a Notary Public in and for the above State and County, A .S. Colyar, who being duly sworn says:

"At 11 p. m. on May 19th, 1913, I called ttelephone number Ivy 3508, which is the phone of T. B. Felder's residence on the Howell Mill Road, about seven miles from Atlanta, and after waiting several minutes, some one finally answered the phone and lasked the question, 'Is Col. T. B. Felder there," and the party at the other end replied, 'This is Col. T. B. Felder.' And I asked the question again, 'Is Col. T. B. Feider there?' and he said, "This is Col. T. B. Felder,' and I said, Colonel, since I saw you tonight, I have got on to another piece of evidence,' and he said, 'Oh, is that so, and I said, 'Yes, I have found where they were trying to back up Coleman's affidavit,' and he said, 'Is that so?' and I said, 'Yes, there is a man under indictment or will be indicted and they have promised this man that if he will swear he heard J. W. Coleman refuse to employ you, they will have his case nol prossed and thrown out of court,' and I then said, 'Now, Colonel, if I get this evidence up by tomorrow and hand it to you tomorrow night, will you be ready to give me the thousand dollars in cash?' and he said, 'Yes, sir; I will have the money to hand you when you hand me the papers.'"

FEBUARY AND COLYAR SWEAR THAT FELDER OFFERED BIG BRIBE

Affidavit, Detailing Conversation Which Is Alleged to Have Occurred in Col. Felder's Office, Is Given Below

"GO AND GET EVIDENCE," COL. FELDER IS QUOTED

"Lanford Couldn't Detect an Elephant at Five Points," He Is Alleged to Have Said, Both Chiefs Are Denounced

The city detectives have in their possession an affidavit sworn to by G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a private investigator, detailing the alleged conversation which it is claimed took place between Colonel T. B. Felder, Colyar, and Febuary, on Monday night at Colonel Felder's office in the Equitable building.

So much of the affidavit as can be printed in a newspaper like The Journal is given below:

"STATE OF GEORGIA,
COUNTY OF FULTON.

Personally appeared before me, a Notary Public in and for the above State and County, A. S. Colyar and G. C. Febuary, who being duly sworn, deposes and says:

"We met Mr. Felder in his office Monday night at eight o'clock p. m., and Mr. Felder said, 'I know who killed Mary Phagan. That d—d Jew Frank killed her and I have known it for three weeks. And another thing I want Lanford to know,' the affidavit quotes Mr. Felder as saying, 'I have had a Burns man here for three weeks, I know when she was killed, and how she was killed. She was murdered thirty minutes after she reached that building, on the second floor, and then the body was lowered to the basement. And I know the two white men that were found by her body, Frank wrote them, and Frank pulled that staple out of the door . . . . . He was afraid her family would kill him or send him to prison . . . . . and he murdered her."

"'This d—d fellow Lanford, who could not detect a dead elephant at Five Points, knows that Frank killed this girl, but he has sold out to the Jews for his money which he is getting and has got, and he is trying to discredit the solicitor general, Hugh M. Dorsey, and myself, in his effort to protect this Jew . . . . . I have traced his record back, d—— him, from H—— to breakfast. I want Lanford to know that he can't clear this case through, and that I will make a goat of an innocent negro. He has had that poor negro Ed Connally locked up for two weeks without a warrant, and he knows it, and he can be impeached from office for it; he knows there is no evidence against Newt Lee, and yet he holds him. I would expose Lanford and Beavers right now, but I don't want to detract attention from the Phagan case or mix their case up with the Phagan case."

"'Beavers is a ——— ——, but I came pretty near catching him one day last week, but when we do catch him, we are going to put the d—d reform —— in a two-horse wagon, naked, and drive him through the streets of Atlanta with a sign on him, "Here is Atlanta's Reform Chief of Police." Lanford is a d—d drunkard and keeps a quart of whiskey in his desk all of the time, and the people of this town are indignant at the conduct of those flunkeys down there, and are receiving at least twenty letters every day, and as many telephone calls, telling me that the people are behind me in the fight to impeach those ——— ——. Right here on my desk is a letter (getting letter from his desk and reading it) from one of the most prominent women in the city of Atlanta, commending my course.

ATTACKS BOTH CHIEFS.

The affidavit then continues, "The Colonel then said, 'I want the evidence to impeach both Beavers and Lanford.' The remark was made that we might get in jail, and Colonel Felder said, 'There are only two ways of getting to the jail; one is through the mayor and the other is through the governor; and if you get arrested by the policemen, Jim Woodward, with whom I had a long interview this afternoon, will make those ——— down there jump a rope to turn you loose, and I don't give a d—— who the governor is, I will get it to Brown or Jack Slaton, I will have any man turned loose that will get me the evidence that will impeach those ——— ———, and rest your job I will place you in a government position in Washington or a job in New York, and if I fall down on that I will give you a job here in my office.' It was suggested to Colonel Felder that we would have to steal the papers, for no one knew the combination to the safe except Chief Lanford and Mr. Febuary, and in reply to this, Colonel Felder said, 'Go ahead and get them and I will pay you one thousand dollars.' And we then stated to Colonel Felder that this would be larceny after trust, and Colonel Felder said, 'Larceny H—— ——. It is not larceny to steal a perjured affidavit and forged statements and other crook-

DICTOGRAPH SET BY DETECTIVES TO TRAP COL. THOS. B. FELDER; HERE IS THE DICTOGRAPH RECORD

In Interview With G. C. Febuary, Secretary to Chief of Detectives Newport Lanord, in Room 31 of Williams House No. 2, Heard by Dictagraph and Taken Down in Shorthand, Col. Felder Is Alleged to Have Offered Bribe

"I CONTROL MAYOR, SOLICITOR AND JUDGE," HE IS QUOTED AS SAYING IN ASSURING FEBUARY PROTECTION

East Lake Was Agreed Upon as Place for Transfer of Papers, Although Colonel Felder Suggested the Transportation Club, According to Stenographic Report of Conversation That Occurred–All of Alleged Interview That Is Printable Is Given Below

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL has in its possession a sworn copy of an alleged dictograph conversation, said to have occurred Wednesday afternoon in Room No. 31, of Williams House No. 2, 34-36 North Forsyth street, between Colonel Thomas B. Felder, well-known Atlanta attorney; G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford, and A. S. Colyar, a citizen.

In this record of the alleged dictographed conversation Colonel Felder is quoted as offering a large sum of money to Secretary Febuary if he would extract certain affidavits and papers relating to the Phagan murder mystery from the safe of Chief Lanford and turn them over to him.

Colonel Felder is also quoted as having promised immunity to Febuary if any attempt was made to prosecute him for extracting the papers, and according to the dictograph record Colonel Felder declared to Febuary that he controlled Mayor Woodward, Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey and the judge of the criminal court.

It is said that Colonel Felder offered one thousand dollars to Febuary for the papers, and that he agreed to have the delivery of the papers and the payment of the money occur at East Lake, although he preferred that the transfer take place at the Transportation club.

The alleged conversation, as reported by Stenographer George M. Gentry, nephew of Colonel W. T. Gentry, president of the Southern Bell and Cumberland Telephone companies, who it is said by detectives was stationed in room No. 32 with the earpiece of a dictograph instrument strapped over his head, is given below, as fully as the language can be quoted in this newspaper. Here is the alleged dictograph conversation, written out and sworn to by Stenographer Gentry, who was stationed in room No. 32:

CONVERSATION WITH COLONEL FELDER
AS REPORTED BY THE DICTOGRAPH

The following conversation occurred at Williams House No. 2 34-36 North Forsyt street, Atlanta, Georgia, Wednesday, May 21, 1913, between Thomas B. Felder, G. C. February and A. S. Colyar:

A. S. Colyar: I have been stopping here off and on for five years.

Thomas B. Felder: When I moved here twenty-three years ago, this was the finest hotel in Atlanta.

A. S. Colyar: Well tell me, I thought you told me the other day that you became solicitor general six months after you were twenty-one. And I was reading the statutes and it stated the solicitor general had to be twenty-five years old.

Thomas B. Felder: No. The statute has been changed since I was made solicitor.

A. S. Colyar: The statute stated that he must be twenty-five years of age and must be an attorney at the bar of Georgia for three years in good standing, and must take an oath that he will prosecute all without fear or favor.

Thomas B. Felder: Yes.

A. S. Colyar: How old are you, Colonel?

Thomas B. Felder: I will be forty-nine in October. How old are you?

A. S. Colyar: I will be forty-seven next February?

G. C. Febuary: Mr. Colyar looks a good deal older than you.

Thomas B. Felder: Well! I have an appointment with another gentleman at 3:30.

A. S. Colyar: Well. There's the ma you want to talk to.

G. C. Febuary: Now, you know this is pretty ticklish business——

A. S. Colyar: I told him last night that they could put him in the penitentiary for stealing these papers——

Thomas B.Felder: Penitentiary, hell. They can't put you in the penitentiary as long as Hugh Dorsey is solicitor general.

G. C. Febuary: Well. You see, I am the chief's stenographer and I write all these affidavits.

Thomas B. Felder: Can this young man be trusted all right?

A. S. Colyar: Absolutely. I would trust him anywhere on earth. Who is this fellow Miles?

Thomas B. Felder: Well, you see, Miles is in the bureau of investigation, and he has three or four experts in the way of investigators and things like that.

Now, what I say to you is strictly confidential. Day before yesterday I saw Woodward.

A. S. Colyar: You saw Woodward, Monday?

Thomas B. Felder: Yes. Woodward says now it is all right for you to get the papers, and we will pay you for them.

PROMISED MAYOR TO GET EVIDENCE AGAINST BEAVERS AND LANFORD

Thomas B. Felder: I will tell you what I have been doing for the last month. I have been investigating certain things for this company Mr. Miles works for, and I called on the mayor Monday afetrnoon, with C. C. Jones, and I told the mayor I could get the evidence on these grafting . . . . . Beavers and Lanford, and the mayor told me to see Mr. Miles. That he had been working on it for a month. To show you how conscientious Mr. Miles is, although he has been in my office nearly every day, he has never mentioned it to me. The mayor also wanted me to prosecute them in the courts, as attorney, and I told him "No, I had my hands full, but I would help get up the evidence." Miles came over yesterday afternoon and I had a conference with him about an hour or two and without calling any names, I told him that I could get the evidence. But I said this young man doesn't want to lose his position. Well, he says, tell him for me that I will give him a position today just as good as the one he has. Mayor Woodward said to get him the evidence and he would be glad to prosecute this bunch.

A. S. Colyar: Well, I tell you he wouldn't. I tell you that this thing will just put us in the penitentiary.

Thomas B. Felder: Well, I assure you that I have never mentioned the names of either one of you.

A. S. Colyar: Well, say; Dorsey told Chief Lanford, so I have been informed, that you told Dorsey Sunday night that I was the ——— framer and double-crosser and blackmailer in the state, and you know if you know the law at all, that a blackmailer has to threaten a man with a crime, and you know I have not charged you with any crime.

Felder: No, you have been straight with me, and I will put up a thousand dollars to ten cents that I never mentioned your name to Dorsey, but he mentioned your name to me.

Colyar: If this is going to get us into trouble, I am not going to have anything to do with it.

FELDER ASSERTS HE CAN CONTROL MAYOR,
SOLICITOR GENERAL AND JUDGE

Felder: Trouble, hell. Why I can control the judge, the mayor and Hugh Dorsey.

Colyar: What judge.

Felder: The judge of the criminal court. And I wouldn't do it in an improper way.

Colyar: I wouldn't want you to do that.

February: Well, it is just like this. There is only one certain time of day that I can get those papers, and I don't want to carry them around with me.

Felder: Well, you understand, I don't want the papers unless they are evidence enough to put Lanford and Beavers out of business. Now, Colyar says you say that you have got the papers that will put him out.

COL. THOMAS B. FELDER DICTOGRAHHED BY CITY DETECTIVES

Well, Mr. Febuary, can't you see Miles, who is working on this thing for me, and give him the papers.

Colyar: We don't want to deal with Miles. We are dealing with you.

Felder: Personally, I know Miles is all right, and you can deliver the evidence to Miles.

(On account of street car passing dictograph was indistinct.)

Colyar: What fellows did Woodward want to prosecute?

Felder: Lanford and Beavers.

(On account of noise in room distograph was indistinct.)

Felder: All that you you have got to do is to go and do it and just tell Miles and he will do just whatever is necessary on that end of the line.

Colyar: Yes?

Felder: Now, so far as you and Febuary being prosecuted or indicted or put in jail, that is all bull.

Colyar: Yes, I understand.

Felder: Where did you see Lanford?

Colyar: I did not see him. I heard through Febuary that he heard Dorsey make this statement. He thought that you and I were good friends and he would turn you against me.

Felder: He told you that Hugh Dorsey told him that I told Hugh Dorsey that you were a crook and a framer and double-crosser? He is a damned liar. When did he tell you that?

Febuary: I don't know whether it wa: the first of this week or the last of last week.

Colyar: You told me Monday that you had taken this down in a statement and had filed it away and that Hugh Dorsey told Chief Lanford that I was the damnedest blackmailer and crook he ever saw and for him not to have anything to do with me. You told me that Lanford dictated that statement and put it away—that Tom Felder told Dorsey that I was a crook and a damned liar and a frame-up and a double-cross.

Felder: Don't you understand Lanford? That was a statement of his own imagination in order to get you in that frame of mind towards me.

Colyar: I do not know Lanford.

Felder: Let me tell you another thing ——

Colyar: Lanford knows that you and I have always been good friends.

Felder: Hugh Dorsey has got no use whatever for Lanford, and wouldn't talk to him and if I had told him anything about you he wouldn't tell Lanford. I could have said all that to Dorsey and he never would have mentioned it to him.

Colyar: Mr. Febuary will tell you what he has got to say.

Felder: Now, Febuary can get those papers, can't he?

Febraury: I can only get them at a certain time of the day, and I don't want to carry them around with me; I want to turn them loose right away.

Felder: Now you understand I must see the papers first, in order to do what I told you.

SOUGHT COLEMAN AFFIDAVIT AND ALL OTHER PAPERS IN PHAGAN CASE

Febuary: Let me understand you. You want this Coleman affidavit and all other Phagan affidavits that I can get hold of.

Felder: Yes. Colyar told me that he was to have the evidence that would get those two chiefs out of commission, the Phagan papers and the Coleman affidavit. Now what have you got?

Febuary: I haven't got these papers. The chief has these papers in a large envelope. I do not know whether he keeps any graft sheets or not. I never saw one.

Colyar: You will have to examine the papers after Mr. Febuary brings them up. ——— Tell me this. Wasn't you employed by Coleman to work on this case?

Felder: Coleman said this to me: (failed to catch part of conversation) Then I said "Mr. Coleman I was invited by Mr. McCall." I believe that was his name (scraping of feet on floor interfered with dictograph). I said Mr. Coleman, I would like to go in on the prosecution of this case. He said, I haven't got any money to employ a lawyer. I said, you misunderstand me, it isn't necessary for you to pay me any money, that has all been arranged. McCall said, now you meet us down there at 4:30, wasn't it Febuary, that the inquest was to be held that afternoon, and I went down and was introduced to Mr. Coleman, but I have forgotten who introduced me to Coleman. Now he said Mr. Felder we would like to have you look after the case, but I haven't money to employ anybody with. Now I said Mr. Coleman, you misapprehend the gentleman, now he is asking you for no money, he is simply asking you for your consent to represent you. Before we could close the deal the coroner's jury broke up and we all separated. Now there wasn't anything said about the regularity of my employment, but it was taken for granted.

Colyar: I want to put you in position where you can act, without bringing me into it.

Felder: I don't have to say you gave me the papers.

Colyar: If you do, they will give me hell and you know it. I will be an accessory before the fact for him getting those papers and giving them to you.

Felder: You violate no law.

Colyar: He has.

Felder: No he hasn't. To abstract a lot of framed up documents is no larceny.

Colyar: Well, tell him what you want to Febuary. Felder, can you bring Miles up here to see me. Can you bring him up at 4 o'clock?

Felder: Yes. All right.

Febuary: It is 3:20 now.

Felder: Tell what you are going to do about the papers.

Febuary: Well, I put them back. I was afraid to deliver these papers to you in Atlanta.

Felder: What is that?

EAST LAKE OR DECATUR SUGGESTED AS PLACE TO TURN OVER THE PAPERS

Colyar: He said he was afraid to give them to you in Atlanta. He will give them to you at East Lake or Decatur.

Felder: Now, I don't know just exactly that he has absolutely got the papers that I want.

Febuary: I will bring them up and let you examine them and see if they are what you want.

Colyar: Well, I will meet you at East Lake or Decatur with him.

Felder: That isn't necessary at all.

Colyar: No. Tom Felder, I am not going to do anything with these papers in this city, because they can prosecute me and frame up a lot of evidence, and swear hell's an ice box.

Felder: Nobody would believe them.

Colyar: They can frame up on anybody.

Felder: Well, now what time could you see me?

Febuary: Well, about 2 o'clock.

Colyar: Well I think that would be best.

Febuary: Oh! I know it is.

Colyar: I am not going to deliver the papers to you in Fulton county. We can meet tomorrow at East Lake or Decatur.

Felder: They can indict you at East Lake. They can indict you anywhere. Did you ever see Coleman?

Colyar: No, can't anybody get to see him that I know of. I know a man that was raised up with him in Cobb county or wherever it was he was raised, and he went to see him, but Coleman wouldn't let him come in.

Felder: Well, he told somebody all about how he happened to sign that affidavit.

Colyar: How was it?

(Noises interferred with sounding on dictograph.)

Febuary: Well, will 2 o'clock suit you?

Felder: That will suit me.

Colyar: Well, I would suggest that we go out to East Lake.

Febuary: I am afraid to fool around in the city here.

FELDER PREFERS THAT THE MEETING TAKE PLACE AT THE TRANSPORTATION CLUB

Felder: There is one place you can go where it will be safe. That is the Transportation club. There will be no danger of anyone seeing you up there. You are safer there than you would be anywhere else. There are no damn policeman ever allowed up there, and there is no danger of anyone intruding.

Colyar: I am not going to deliver them anywhere in Atlanta. He has got the papers you want, but he don't want to lose his job.

Felder: I can get you a job any time. How in the hell are they going to know he got the papers.

Colyar: Nobody knows the combination of the safe but him and the chief.

Felder: They would not know it.

Febraury: It is not supposed that the chief would take them out.

Colyar: How long will it take you to examine the package?

Felder: Well. It's all owing to the number of papers in the package. What time does the chief leave in the evening.

Febraury: He don't leave down there until 8 or 9 o'clock. Some times a little earlier, most of the time about 8 o'clock.

Felder: Which one of those detectives down there don't like him?

Febraury: I never heard any of them say anything against him and don't know who it is unless it is Pat Campbell.

Felder: Isn't there fiction between some of them.

Febraury: You can hear things like that on the outside that we never hear on the inside, but I don't think there is anything to it. Who do you think it is?

Felder: I don't know, somebody told me, but I am sure there a half a dozen of them.

(Street car passed drowning the words in the dictograph).

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS NAMED AS PRICE TO BE PAID FOR THE PAPERS

Colyar: Will a thousand dollars be paid if we can get the papers?

Felder: Yes.

Colyar: I don't want any of that money.

Felder: Well. I have got an appointment with Miles. If the papers will do what you think they will do, I will give you a thousand dollars for them.

Colyar: We will get the papers and turn them over to Mr. Miles. But damned if I do it in Fulton county.

Felder: Why?

Colyar: I have got my reasons for it.

Felder: Well, if you can get the papers for me to examine, by 2:30 tomorrow——

Colyar: He can tell him he is going fishing or something like that, just as he get the papers; and he can go to Lakewood.

Febuary: I would rather do it out there.

Colyar: You and Miles together can meet us out there.

Felder: I have some business engagements tomorrow that will not allow me to get away long enough to go out there.

Colyar: Oh! Pshaw! You can hop in your machine and go out there in a couple of minutes.

Felder: You won't meet anybody else except Miles and myself?

Febuary: No. It is like you said awhile ago, "Too many cook spoil the broth."

Felder: That's right.

Febuary: Well, if you are in a hurry now, suppose we think this thing over and let you know later today or tomorrow whether to meet you here or out yonder.

Felder: I can't possibly go to East Lake.

Colyar: You can take your man and go out there and get the papers in a few minutes, give us a receipt and the money.

Felder: I told Woodward that I would get the papers that would put these two fellows out of business.

Febuary: That is all you want the papers for?

Felder: That's all. Yes.

Colyar: Well, we will met you at East Lake at 2:30.

Felder: Well, I will send Miles up here and you can talk to him.

Colyar: Well, write your name on a piece of paper, for I don't know whether I will know him or not.

Felder: Why you just met him a short while ago.

Colyar: Yes, I know, but I don't know whether I would recognize him or not, so you write your name on a piece of paper.

Felder: Well, I will write my name on a piece of paper so you will know him. As soon as I can get hold of Miles I will send him up.

GERMAN NIMRODS FOND OF AMERICAN FISHERMAN

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—In appreciation of his services in re-establishing the American Rainbow trout in Germany, Dr. Hugh M. Smith, United States commissioner of fisheries, has been presented with a handsome silver medal by the German Fishery society. On one side is a mermaid, endowed with two flippers instead of the usual one, while various kinds of fish and fish-catching birds also are shown. On the reverse is an inscription "ofr service in the fisheries."

DETECTIVE R. S. OZBURN SWEARS TO PHONE TALK

Says He Overheard Col. Felder Offer $1,000 for Phagan Papers

County of Fulton.

Personally appeared before me the undersigned notary public, for the state and county aforesaid, R. S. Osburn, who makes oath, in due form of law, and says he is a citizen of Atlanta, Ga., and a member of the detective department of the Atlanta police force; that he was in J. M. Hewitt's office, 1409 Fourth National Bank building, in said city, on Tuesday, May the 20th, 1913, at 11:43 a. m., and that at that time there was J. M. Hewitt, N. A. Lanford, chief of detectives; A. S. Colyar, and the affiant in the room. A. S. Colyar called over the telephone, Main 1108, and called for T. B. Felder to come to the 'phone; the affiant got up and put his ear by the side of the said Colyar's ear and had the receiver to said 'phone between the two ears, and the affiant heard what the said Colyar said to T. B. Felder, "If I get the ppers for you in the Phagan case, with the Coleman affidavit, do we get the thousand dollars," and T. B. Felder said, "Yes," and then Felder said also, over the telephone, "Now, will these papers impeach both chiefs?" and Colyar said "What chiefs," and the voice answered back Beavers and Lanford."

"Colonel Felder further stated that Lanford and Beavers were feasting and fattening off of the rich graft they were getting out of certain disorderly houses they were shielding, after they had had people to believe that they had closed them up, and certain blind tigers and gamblers that were favored by these grafters; and upon being asked how much they got, Colonel Felder replied that the amount was colossal."

THE ANSWER BOOK EXPLAINED

COVINGTON, Ga., May 20, 1913.

Atlanta Journal, Atlanta Ga.

Gentlemen: I don't quite understand the change you have made in the Booklovers' Campaign. After buying the first book I thought that was all that was required, and now comes this new book and I confess I don't understand the change. If I do not buy the new book, but simply rely on the first, have I lost my chances or even part of them? In either contingency does it look quite fair?

Yours truly,
W. C. C.

Once more we will explain the difference between the Answer Book and the Catalogue and try to show this gentleman from Covington and all other contestants why each of these books are used in the Campaign. The Catalogue is a list of some 4,000 book titles, and has in it the 75 prize titles used in this Campaign. No contestant can make a good showing on correct titles without our official Catalogue, as they must get the titles we use from it.

Under the old plan of conducting Booklovers' Campaigns it was necessary to use a picture and coupon for every answer submitted. As contestants are entitled to ten Answers on each title, and the pictures and coupons costing him 2c each, it would cost a total of $1.90 to submit ten answers to each picture. As a great many of our readers could not afford to exercise their rights in that way something had to be done in order to give them an equal show with those in the contest who might be able to buy the full set of 750 pictures. So the Answer Book was suggested and orders given to get one that would be convenient and economical to use. It is arranged with a page for each of the 75 pictures, and a page opposite each picture with space for contestants to write their Answers on.

By using this Answer Book you will need only one of each picture, yet you will have the right to ten Answers on each of the 75 titles, just the same as if you had 750 pictures and coupons. And this Answer Book giving you the privilege of ten Answers to each title will only cost you 50c at The Journal office or 90c by mail.

Contestants can use the Answer Book or use all pictures and coupons. Any way to suit them will be satisfactory to The Journal.

JAPANESE PRAY AS EMPEROR LIES ON TOKIO DEATH BED

Emperor Yoshihito Taken Suddenly Ill on Thursday and Is Near Death's Door Friday, It Is Announced

FEVER RISES RAPIDLY TO 103.46 DEGREES

Many Physicians Attend His Majesty, but Little Hope Is Entertained for Recovery, as Lungs Are Inflamed

(By Associated Press.)

TOKIO, May 23.—Official reports that Emperor Yoshihito is ill with pneumonia, the constant attendance upon him by one or more of the eight court physicians and the vigil which Empress Sadako kept at his bedside all night, made it appear today that his condition is very grave. The entire Japanese empire was depressed by the news.

The bulletin issued this morning only announced briefly that the emperor's condition was unchanged. The high fever of last night, when his temperature ranged from 98.58 to 102.92, apparently was unabated.

The patient is at the Aoyama palace, on whose immense parade grounds he contracted a cold while reviewing the troops last Sunday. It had been intended to remove him at once to the newer Chiyoda palace, but the sudden serious turn of inflammation of the lungs necessitated abandonment of the plan.

The issuance of the first bulletin yesterday announcing the emperor's illness came as a great shock to the people, and as it gained circulation through extra editions of the newspapers, a sorrowful hush fell upon the city, and crowds silently assembled in front of the royal palace. The people knelt and prayed fervently for their sovereign's speedy recovery.

The three most important business thoroughfare of the city, which usually is brilliantly lighted, was dark last evening and almost deserted. All the shops were closed.

Court circles are still in official mourning for the late Emperor Mutsuhito. The period does not expire until July 30, a year from the date of his death.

The official bulletin of the emperor's condition, issued this morning by the court physicians, says:

"His majesty's temperature has risen to 103.46 fahrenheit. His pulse is 90 and his respiration 30."

The young emperor is holding his own, according to officials at the palace. They declared this afternoon that his prospects of recovery were more hopeful.

Multitudes of Japanese prayed throughout the day in the streets near the palace, in the temples and in churches.

Yoshihito Is Touched by Wilson's Message of Sympathy

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Wilson today received the following cablegram from Emperor Yoshihito, of Japan:

"Deeply touched by your kind message inquiring after my indisposition, I express my sincere thanks to yourself, government and the people of the United States."

President Wilson Cables Sympathy to Yoshihito

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Wilson last night cabled the emperor of Japan as follows:

"Reports received through press agencies are current to the effect that your majesty is indisposed. We have heard these reports with sorrow and with great concern. Should they prove to be true, I desire to offer to your majesty myself and for the government and people of the United States the assurance of my sincere sympathy, and to express the ardent hope that your illness may prove to be of brief duration and your recovery rapid and complete."

One Dog, Mad Perhaps Kept Dozen Negroes Barricaded In House

A pet dog which suddenly developed hydrophobia held a dozen negroes captive in a house at 321 Forrest avenue for nearly five hours early Friday morning.

Call Officers Jones and Horn rescued the blacks from their retreat by killing the dog at 5 o'clock a. m., after one of the prisoners had slipped from the house and telephoned to police headquarters.

Shortly before midnight the dog became mad, the negroes said. He tried to bite several of the blacks, and all barricaded themselves in the house. For five hours the canine circled about the house, according to their story, and all were afraid to emerge.

HOBSON WANTS LOWER PRICES ON PIG IRON

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Representative Hobson introduced a bill today to provide that when the price of pig iron or any structural shape of iron or steel exceeds by 50 per cent its price on January 1, 1913, the product shall automatically be placed upon the free list, for the apparent purpose of inducing lower prices through foreign competition. The bill was referred to the ways and means committee.

U. S. A. ASSEMBLY IS RUSHING BUSINESS TO CONCLUDE ON FRIDAY

With Other Two Assemblies Closed, Northern Commissioners Grow Restless for Home and Rush Business

An attempt to reopen the fight on the home mission board, which failed, a decidedly alarming report on the state of religion by the narrative committee, and a discussion of the problem of vacancy and supply, were the main features of the Friday morning session of the Northern assembly in the Baptist Tabernacle.

The time apart from these matters was consumed in transacting routine details incident to the closing hours of the assembly.

Instead of reconvening at 2:30 o'clock, the assembly hustled back from lunch and started at 2 o'clock, in order to finish if possible and adjourn sine die Friday afternoon, the U. S. and U. P. assemblies having disbanded with the closing mass meeting Thursday night.

ASSISTANT CLERK KEEPS OFFICE.

The movement to abolish the assistant stated clerk of the northern assembly, involving, it is said, considerable politics, was "quashed" Friday morning, when the executive commission, before whom the matter was pending, recommended that it be dropped.

Dr. W. H. Roberts the stated clerk started the movement by recommending to the executive commission that the assistant's office be abolished in the interest of ecohomy. The assistant clerk is J. M. Hubbert, D. D., and he is paid $3,000 per year.

That the movement, if pressed before the assembly, would have caused a lively fight was clearly indicated Thursday when W. S. Bennett, the New York former congressman, demanded removal of the three-minute limit on speeches if the question came to debate.

The executive commission's recommendation, to drop the matter, was received with applause.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS.

Other recommendations of the commission which were adopted were as follows:

That the proposed consolidation of the board of education and the college board be referred to the all-inclusive committee which shall report to the 1914 assembly.

That the question of creating a single treasurer for all the boards be deferred until the 1914 assembly, to be further considered by the executive commission.

At the close of the commission's report the home mission board broke out again, but the dissatisfied commissioners could accomplish nothing, owing to the parliamentary rules of the assembly, backed up by Moderator Stone.

EXPLAIN MISSION RECOMMENDATIONS.

Dr. Mark A. Matthews, chairman of the executive commission, was asked to explain the commission's recommendations on the home board, which were threshed out and adopted on Wednesday, the particular explanation desired being that one in reference to the church and country life department of the board.

Dr. Matthews explained that in recommending the abolishment of this department "as soon as practicable," the com-

BROYLES SAYS MAYOR HAMPERS POLICE BY TOO MUCH PARDONING

"His Action Unprecedented," Says Recorder, in Severe Arraignment of City's Chief Executive Officer

EFFECT IS TO ENCOURAGE LAW VIOLATORS, HE SAYS

"Blind Tigers Feel If They Lose in the Courts the Chance Remains That the Mayor Will Save Them"

The pardoning and reducing of fines imposed upon defendants found guilty of violating city liquor laws, by Mayor Woodward, brought forth caustic comments from City Recorder Nash R. Broyles Friday morning.

Declaring that he is "hampering the police in their work of driving out illegal sellers of liquor and encouraging law-breakers," Recorder Broyles severely criticized the city executive.

The remarks were precipitated by the action of Mayor Woodward in commuting the sentences imposed upon Mattie Lou White and Griff Freeman, who lost long legal battles in higher courts on appeal from police court fines.

A few days ago the higher tribunal sustained the decision of the lower court in both cases.

On Thursday Freeman was taken into custody by the police to serve a thirty-day jail sentence and pay a fine of $500 imposed upon him by Recorder Broyles.

He did not go to jail, however. Mayor Woodward, exercising the power given him by the city charter, reduced the fine to $250 and declared the jail sentence null. Freeman paid the money and avoided imprisonment.

ANOTHER CASE "BLOCKED."

The police did not succeed in their attempt to punish Mattie Lou White, as decreed in Recorder Broyles' sentence. The woman, who was convicted on November 12, 1912, appeared at the police station Thursday afternoon to visit R. D. Dickson, who also is held in jail for violating the city liquor ordinance. She exhibited a letter from Mayor Woodward and told the police that they could not arrest her.

The substance of the mayor's letter was to the effect that he understood that her fine had been reduced to $100 by the court of appeals, and that he was considering a pardon. It contained an admonition not to take the woman into custody until he had reached a decision in the matter.

The White woman was found guilty of selling whisky in violation of the law, and of immoral conduct.

The action of Mayor Woodward placed police officials in a quandary. Under the law the mayor has a right to pardon or reduce the fine of a prisoner if the fine is over $50 or the sentence thirty days or more.

"Men who have preceded Mayor Woodward have used the privilege only on rare occasions," said Recorder Broyles Friday morning, "and then they acted only upon the recommendation of, or with the consent of, the city recorder.

CONFERRED ONLY ONCE.

"Mayor Woodward has several times taken like steps in the past without consulting me in fact, I can recall but one instance where we ever conferred over such a matter. That was in the case of Freeman. Two months ago he called me over the telephone and asked me about the case, saying that friends of Freeman had asked that the fine be reduced. The case was then on appeal.

"We discussed the matter and Mayor Woodward told me that he would take no action inasmuch as the offense was committed in September, 1911, long before he took office. And yet he turns around and reduces the fine and removes the jail sentence."

Recorder Broyles cited other instances where he says the mayor has interceded in favor of the defendant. He brought up the case of Dan Shaw, convicted under both the city ordinance and state law. Shaw fought through the higher courts to have the decision of the lower courts reversed, but lost. Finally the governor pardoned him of the state conviction under Shaw's promise that he would leave the state. Recorder Broyles, however, refused to set aside a thirty-day jail sentence imposed under the city ordinance. Mayor Woodward stepped in and pardoned the alleged violator.

DEFERRED ACTION.

"The case of Dr. W. D. Roper is another example of Mayor Woodward's attitude," declared the city recorder. "Dr. Roper was convicted of having whisky

To Probe Indian Affairs

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Investigation of the administration of the affairs of the five civilized Indian tribes by a special committee of five members of the house was proposed today in a resolution by Representative Carter, of Oklahoma. Similar investigation is contemplated by the senate Indian affairs committee.

GIVING HIM A RUN FOR HIS MONEY

JAPS COULD LAND AND STAY AWHILE, SAYS VAN ORSDALE

Colonel of 17th U. S. Infantry at Fort McPherson Says Invasion Would Be Easy for Them, Serious for Us

Colonel J. T. Van Orsdale, of the Seventeenth infantry, one of the senior colonels of the United States army, who has been mentioned widely as being slated for early promotion to the ranks of brigadier, declared to a representative of The Journal Friday, that it is in the power of Japan to gain a foothold on the Pacific coast that could not be dislodged until the United States had pressed into service a regular army and all of its militia, and had called for volunteers.

How long it would take, he declined to say. It would take "some time," he said.

Colonel Van Orsdale advocated a "moderate" increase in the regular army and preparations generally for any emergency. The United States is not prepared for any big invasion, he said.

He does not anticipate any trouble with Japan, however, he says.

DUPONT RESOLUTION.

The resolution recently introduced by United States Senator DuPont, of Delaware, calling on the secretary of war to furnish the military committee with a list of the retired officers and the occupations of those in civil life, has no connection with the Japanese situation, Colonel Van Orsdale thinks. He does not believe, he says that there was any intent to draw the retired officers back into service. Such would require a special act of congress, he said. As a matter of fact, Coolnel Van Orsdale said, the DuPont resolution was introduced before the Japanese situation arose.

Should there be a war with Japan, the first act of the Japanese would be to seize the Philippines, Colonel Van Orsdale thinks.

Should there be an invasion of the Pacific coast, the United States would have to organize an army to drive the Japanese out, he said, "but there is no danger of an invasion."

VICTORY WOULD BE COSTLY.

"Ultimately we could put the Japanese out," said Colonel Van Orsdale. "But it would cost a great deal of money and many lives."

Colonel Van Orsdale pointed out that it would be difficult for the Japanese to maintain an army on the Pacific coast.

"The army would be necessarily three or four thousand miles from the nearest point in Japan," he said, "and any invasion would be a great tax on the resources of that nation."

"If we were better prepared for war, there would be less liability of it," Colonel Van Orsdale went on. "We should have a moderate increase of the regular army; an improvement of the national guard and a perfected system for the prompt organization of volunteers."

BIGGER FIGHTING FORCE.

"What we ought to do now more than anything else," he said, "is promptly to form a reserve for the regular army. We would offer financial inducements to men who have been in the regular army to enroll in the reserve on the condition that they be not called out except in case of absolute necessity.

"In the United States today there are not less than 300,000 efficient men who have been in the regular army. If we could enlist as a reserve even 10 per cent of the men who have served at some time it would be a great help."

Colonel Van Orsdale said also that

MOST INSURGENT OF ALL PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLIES ENDS ITS SESSIONS FRIDAY

Mr. Ellis Reviews Principal Events in Great Pan-Presbyterian Gathering—The Political Reporter's View of the U. S. A. Assembly

By William T. Ellis

THE political reporter leaned across the press table at the Northern Presbyterian General assembly and delivered himself thus: "The thing that impresses me about this convention is the fact that the men have a perfect command of their subjects. They have a wonderful grasp of all sorts of questions, covering the whole world. I tell you, it is statesmanlike."

"This is a hair-trigger assembly, remarked another while one of the congressmen present said: "This crowd is far harder to handle than congress or a state legislature. These men are all alert and posted. If they were politicians, two-thirds of them would be asleep."

Lying underneath the surface of the news of these three great Atlanta meetings is the tremendous significance of the ramifications of the business of religion. Doubtless the church is the most diversified of all the enterprises in the land—far larger and more intricate than the steel trust or the Standard Oil company. The ones under review ranged from the salaries of native preachers in China to American universities. A single board reported yesterday on annual disbursement of $2,000,000 for one phase of Christian work—that in foreign lands.

DAY OF INTERNATIONALISM.

The imagination of the church seems to have been caught by a vision of this overseas service, and in all three assemblies the foreign mission reports marked the summit of interest. This is the day of internationalism in the church, as in the nation.

All sorts of domestic problems engaged the attention of these world-united patriots. Temperance, divorce, the white slave question, and other trials of citizenship, stirred the commissioners. Of the new frontings of social and political issues by the church, there were many evidences. The adoption of the summer assembly idea was up Friday, with the biggest assembly, when the famous Winona assembly, in Indiana, was indorsed as a Presbyterian institution. Rev. Sol C. Dickey is the president of Winona, and William Jennings Bryan is one of its most active officers. The Southern assembly has its famous institution in Montreat, North Carolina.

REUNION MADE INEVITABLE.

Atlanta is a word that has become synonymous in religious circles with the most progressive strides made by Presbyterians since the Civil war. Reunion of a much-divided Presbyterianism has been made inevitable by this joint gathering. All the separate assemblies made known their mind on this matter. The expectations of the Atlanta enthusiasts that this would become a historic occasion have been abundantly fulfilled.

Efficiency in religion has been set forward to a greater extent than has appeared on the surface. The U. P. assembly adopted a "missionary and efficiency committee," with large powers; and it laid one of its boards on the carpet. The U. S. A. assembly likewise looked more closely int olts agencies than for years past, and dropped one board secretary, Rev. Dr. J. McMillan, of the board of church erection. The Southern assembly restored with full power its business efficiency committee. These are the most insurgent and self-assertive and self-governing assemblies that living commissioners know. Fearless in criticism, the Northern assembly in particular has been quick and fair in appreciation. After threatening drastic vigorous action concerning the stated clerk, it adopted resolutions commending his notable efficiency—and the splendid voice of his assistant.

NEW ORDER IN U. S. A. CHURCH

The election of an unslated candidate for the moderatorship, Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, has brought about a new order in the U. S. A. church. The distressing feature of this radical action was that men who were peculiarly free from the taint of ecclesiastical politics should have been put in the light of especial offenders.

Most amazing of all the characteristics of these extra ordinary assemblies is the light of the supposed trend of the times toward laxity in industrial thinking, was the tremendous stress laid upon the fundamental historical tenets of Christianity. The Pan-Presbyterian gathering seemed a chronic ebullition of orthodoxy. The word of all was unmistakably, even vigorously, one of a return to first things. Evangelistic orthodoxy, charitable toward those who believe otherwise, will be reported throughout the churches as most characteristic of this unique gathering. The things deemed fundamental in the days when kings first called themselves "defenders of the faith," and when theology was esteemed "the queen of the sciences," are still of first concern to throughtful men and women.

A hard task has been laid upon all the cities which in future entertain general assembles by Atlanta. The Atlanta type of hospitality will be hard to equal, much less surpass. It is certain that wherever an Atlantan goes in America for years to come he will find a welcome in Presbyterian circles merely by mentioning the name of his city.

THAW'S LAWYER IS SENT TO SING SING PRISON

John Anhut, Who Attempted to Bribe Matteawan Officials, Sentenced to Two Years

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—John Anhut, the lawyer convicted of bribery in attempting to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, was sentenced today to serve not less than two years nor more than four years in Sing Sing prison.

Usual motions for a new trial were denied. No notice of appeal was filed.

To the declaration by Anhut's lawyer that the court should have thrown out testimony of Harry K. Thaw, Justice Seabury said:

"The evidence was sufficient to justify it being placed before the jury. If there had been in my mind any doubt as to the guilt of Anhut I would have so charged the jury and instructed a verdict for the defendant."

M'KINLEY'S SURGEON LOST ON HUNTING TRIP

(By Associated Press.)

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., May 23.—After wandering for five hours in a wooded swamp in which he had lost his way, Dr. Charles McBurney, the New York surgeon who operated on President McKinley, at Buffalo, was found by searchers yesterday, wet, cold and mud bespattered. He started on a fishing trip Wednesday and when he did not return to his estate here at nightfall his family became alarmed and Martin Dooley, his farm superintendent set out to search for him.

He, too, became lost in the wilderness and it was not until several hours later that a searching party of farm laborers found Dr. McBurney and Dooley together. They had encountered each other in the swamp but were unable to find their way out. The physician experienced no ill effects from the exposure. He is 68 years old.

GRAND JURY FAILS TO END ITS PROBE OF PHAGAN MURDER

Witnesses Summoned and Bills Presented Against Leo M. Frank and the Negro Night Watchman, Newt Lee

WILL RESUME PROBE AT 10 O'CLOCK SATURDAY

Five Witnesses Are Examined at Friday's Session—State Will Concentrate Efforts Against Leo M. Frank

The Fulton county grand jury reached no decision Friday in the investigation of cases against Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, and Newt Lee, negro night watchman, both of whom were committed to it by the coroner's jury which probed the death on April 26 of Mary Phagan.

The investigation began at 11 o'clock Friday morning. After hearing five witnesses the jury adjourned until 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The witnesses who appeared were Dr. J. W. Hurt, county physician, who examined the body of the slain child; Police Sergeant L. S. Dobbs, R. P. Barrett, Detective J. N. Starnes and W. W. Rogers, former county policeman.

Should no bills be returned against either or both of the 2 men held whose names were presented to the jury by the state, they will not be released from the Tower, where they have been confined since a few days after the tragedy. It takes a "no bill" from two separate grand juries to automatically secure the release of a suspected person. The next grand jury will convene the first week in July, and Frank and Lee will remain in the Tower until that time if "no bills" are returned, unless their attorneys secure their release on habeas corpus proceedings.

Twenty-one grand jurors were present, the only absentee being H. M. Beutell, who had been excused to accompany the Old Guard on their eastern trip, and George A. Adair, who had been excused to go to New York City.

Two bils were to be presented by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, charging Leo M. Frank and Newt Lee with having murdered Mary Phagan by strangulation "on or about" April 26.

It was generally admitted that the case against Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, would not be pressed but that the state would concentrate on Frank, as predicted by The Journal.

It developed that Mrs. Mima Famby the rooming house keeper of 40 Pledmont avenue, who was expected to be summoned, would not appear before the grand jury Friday and that in all probability she will not be at all called.

Mrs. Famby has given the detectives a affidavit in which she swears that Frank telephoned her insistently after 6:30 o'clock on the evening of the tragedy, seeking a room, telling her that he wanted to bring a girl with him to the house. She declared that she declined to let him have the room.

The importance of this affidavit is cumulative, even vigorously, one of a return to first things. Evangelistic orthodoxy, charitable toward those who believe otherwise, will be reported throughout the churches as most characteristic of this unique gathering. The things deemed fundamental in the days when kings first called themselves "defenders of the faith," and when theology was esteemed "the queen of the sciences," are still of first concern to throughtful men and women.

A hard task has been laid upon all the cities which in future entertain general assembles by Atlanta. The Atlanta type of hospitality will be hard to equal, much less surpass. It is certain that wherever an Atlantan goes in America for years to come he will find a welcome in Presbyterian circles merely by mentioning the name of his city.

WILSON'S PHYSICIAN IS RECOVERING OPERATION

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Major Thomas L. Rhoads, chief aide and personal physician to President Wilson, is recovering in the army hospital here from an operation for appendicits performed Wednesday. The major was stricken Tuesday, went very quietly to the hospital and his illness did not become known until today.

Seeking a Room?

How many weary steps some people travel to find the room they want, and then they often take one that does not exactly come up to their ideals, simply because they are tired of the search and impatient to get settled.

You can avoid all this if you will just let The Journal Wants do your hunting for you. Put your ad in The Journal Want Columns and, at the same time, watch The Journal Wants daily until you either get the reply to your ad that suits you, or until you see The Journal Want that fills the bill.

This is the modern way to look for a room and you cannot succeed at anything, even room-getting, unless you adopt the most up-to-date method.

Try a Journal Want Ad. They have been tried by thousands who make their homes in furnished rooms, and found successful.

Telephone your ad to The Journal, or ask that it be sent for—whichever is most convenient for you. Main 2000 or Atlanta 423.

FOUR DIE IN BLAST AT FORT MOULTRIE

Captain Hanna, Privates Baxter, Christian and Dalton Killed by Explosion

(By Associated Press.)

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 22.—Privates Baxter, Christian and Dalton and Captain Hanna are dead. Privates Swaggerty and Steinspringer seriously wounded and several others less seriously wounded as the result of the explosion of a four and seven-tenths inch gun at Battery Lord, Fort Moultrie, at 9:29 o'clock Thursday night while the coast artillerymen were at target practice.

Baxter and Christian were killed outright and Dalton passed away at 12:30 o'clock, according to reports from the army post hospital. Captain Hanna, of the Sixteenth company, who was in charge, was struck in the intestines by a fragment from the breech block, which was blown into a thousand pieces. He was standing between Captain Clarke, of the 15th company, and Lieutenant Perry, of the Sixteenth, neither of whom was hurt.

The gun was directly opposite the army post hospital to which the victims were immediately taken. A message was flashed to Charleston asking that all the doctors be sent to Fort Moultrie. They began to assist at the hospital immediately on their arrival and help the army surgeon.

Captain Hanna Rose From Ranks Since War of '98

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Captain Hanna rose from a private to the rank of captain, having been mustered in at the beginning of the Spanish-American war with the Twelfth Minnesota Infantry, qualifying as a second lieutenant in 1901 and reaching a captaincy in 1911. He was born in Iowa in 1879.

Colonel Strong's report to the war department indicates the accident was more serious than at first reported. Nearest relatives of the men killed are:

Private Alton McD. Baxter, father, W. T. Baxter, Cosby, Tenn.; Private Arthur Christian, relative, William Christian, Long Satreet, Ohio; Private Roy Dalton, mother, Nancy Dalton, Conway, Ky.

Privates Charles B. Swaggerty and Lee O. Steinsprings were slightly injured.

Ambassador to Great Britain Arrives in Queenstown on Friday

(By Associated Press.)

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, May 23.—Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador to Great Britain, parried all attempts of newspaper men to obtain an interview when he arrived here today from New York.

He contented himself with the remark that his constant endeavor while holding his own would be to "maintain the more than friendly relations between the United States and the United Kingdom which had happily continued for such a long time."

The American consul here went on board the Baltic and delivered a package of dispatches to Ambassador Page.

CASES AT MILLTOWN ARE NOLLE PROSSED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

NASHVILLE, Ga., May 23.—Game Warden Jesse Mercer and Deputy M. F. Boisclair, were in Nashville Wednesday.

They came to attend the trial of the defendants in the now famous Banks pond fishing affair.

The cases were nolle prossed.

The facts of the case follow: Banks pond which contains about 7,000 acres; the land being owned by various parties, the water privilege being claimed by the Banks estate and in charge of Bob Berryhill. Citizens of Milltown claim that when they get permission to fish from parties owning land upon which the water of the pond rests, that they are not violating the law. The case has received no little comment.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR DO YOU WANT IT?

You Can Surely Have It By Using Parisian Sage.

Who does not love a beautiful head of hair? Some may think it is a gift that some women are born that way. The fact is, beautiful hair is largely a matter of cultivation, just as you would water the plants in your garden and fertilize the soil.

Parisian Sage is a scientific preparation which the hair and scalp readily absorbs. It removes dandruff at once. It puts a stop to itching scalps and makes your whole head feel better—as if your hair had had a square meal.

One application will astonish you—it will double the beauty of the hair. If used daily for a week you will be simply delighted with the result—you will want to tell all your friends that you have discovered Parisian Sage. You should see the number of enthusiastic letters we receive from delighted users.

All doubts settled at one stroke—your money back if you want it.

Parisian Sage is a tea-colored liquid—not sticky or greasy—delicately perfumed, that comes in a fifty cent bottle. The "Girl with the Auburn Hair" on the package. Get a bottle today—always keep it where you can use it daily.

Sold by Jacobs' 10 Stores and at drug and toilet counters everywhere.

KING GEORGE URGES WORLD-WIDE PEACE

England's Monarch, in Germany, Speaks Earnestly on Necessity of Peace

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 23.—King George, of England, at present the guest of Emperor William here, spoke earnestly today on the necessity for the maintenance of world peace, in replying to an address presented to him by the British residents of Berlin gathered at the British embassy.

His majesty said:

"The preservation of peace is my fervent dehire, as it was the chief aim and object of my father's life."

This is the first political note sounded during the wedding festivities of Emperor William's only daughter, for which three emperors and many princes are gathered.

The king's words seem, according to the opinion expressed in influential circles, to epitomize the chief significance of the royal visits as a demonstration of the peaceful and friendly relations existing among the three powerful dynasties.

King George and Queen Mary this afternoon were the guests at lunch of the British ambassador, those present including Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and John G. A. Leishman, United States ambassador to Germany.

At the same time Emperor Nicholas, of Russia, was the guest at luncheon of the Russian ambassador.

For the gala opera to be given tonight the first act of "Lohengrin" has been selected by Princess Victoria Luise.

FARRELL QUESTIONED IN STEEL TRUST SUIT

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—Cross-examination of James Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, was resumed today in the suit to dissolve the corporation.

He was questioned by Jacob M. Dickinson, government attorney, concerning the accuracy of statistical exhibits which he had introduced to show the quantity of products sold abroad by the corporation.

Judge Dickinson objected to the statistics on the ground that they were "hearsay evidence."

One Dead, Three Hurt In Fight On Road

(By Associated Press.)

MOULTRIE, Ga., May 23.—Horace Hornage is dead, his father, J. H. Hornage, has his head laid open with the butt-end of a shotgun and Jerry and Jim Hart are believed to be dying as the result of a fight that took place on a road near Berlin Thursday.

The two latter operate a sawmill and had been buying timber from the Hornages. It is stated that there had been trouble about the purchase and this morning the two Hornage men, accompanied by Mrs. Hornage, attempted, it is said, to intercept wagon loads of lumber belonging to the Harts. The latter went to the scene in a buggy.

What took place in the fight that followed is not clear, but the four men mixed it with guns, hand-to-hand and with rocks, until the only one of the party able to stand was Mrs. Hornage, whom it is alleged, fired the shot that brought down Jerry Hart. She went for a doctor when the fight was over.

CONGRESS TOO BUSY TO TAKE UP NEW WORK

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Congress is too busy with tariff and currency reform to plan for a new department of public works, in the opinion of Speaker Clark and Vice President Marshall, to whom the educational committee of the national drainage congress appealed today.

Both officials expressed sympathy, however, with the desire of the drainage advocates for greater federal attention to reclamation and for the flood control. Members of the committee will now undertake to draft a bill for the establishment of the new department in the hope that the attention of congress can be secured if a detailed plan is laid before it.

SHOULD BRIDLE TONGUES OF THE NON-BELIEVERS

So Declares Dr. R. M. Russell at Closing Mass Meeting of Presbyterians

Dr. Robert M. Russell, moderator of the United Presbyterian assembly and president of Westminster college, in a masterful address Thursday night at the closing mass meeting of the Presbyterian assemblies, deplored a recent utterance of Prof. Montagne, of Columbia university, in which he is alleged to have said to a Barnard class:

"Morality should be taught altogether apart from speculation on religion. Anyhow, we are in this world to 'clean up' as much as possible, and it does not become us to think too much about immortality and God."

"Surely," said Dr. Russell, "we are lavish enough in our thought to say 'the fool hath said in his heart there is no God,' and are ready to go a step farther and resolve that the near-fool or mad man who is not sure of divine existence shall not be permitted to say it in classrooms that are supported by Christian endowments."

In addition to Dr. Russell's speech, the mass meeting was addressed by Rev. B. Vinson, of Austin, Tex., and Rev. J. Balcom Shaw, of Chicago.

DR. ROY HAD EXPERIENCE SIMILAR TO MACON MAN'S

Only Prompt Action Saved Atlanta Physician From Same Fate as Mr. Walker's

Dr. Dunbar Roy, an Atlanta physician, narrowly escaped meeting the same fate that overtook Mr. B. Sanders Walker, the Macon banker, who died Thursday from a dose of bichloride of mercury which he had taken by mistake for an aspirin tablet. The accident occurred to Dr. Roy about eight months ago. Only his knowledge of medicine and prompt action on his part saved him from the lingering death which was the unfortunate lot of Mr. Walker.

Dr. Roy went to his medicine chest one night last October, he says, intending to take some calomel before retiring for the night. Next to the bottle of calomel was another one containing bichloride of mercury. Dr. Roy grasped the wrong bottle and swallowed two half-grain tablets of the poison.

The peculiar taste of the mercury at once told him that something was wrong. He read the label on the bottle and realized that he would die were not something done at once.

An emetic in the form of five raw eggs and two pints of hot water rid the doctor of the poison, and, although he was uneasy for many hours afterward, he went to work the next day feeling no ill effect.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR THE CITY SAVINGS BANK

Assets of Bank Are Nearly Double Liabilities, but Demands Could Not Be Met

The City Savings bank was placed in the hands of a receiver Thursday, by Judge John T. Pendleton of the superior court, through a consent order, despite the fact that a statement of the assets of the bank shows them to be $100,000 and its liabilities but $57,000.

The bank, it was stated, suffered a "run" from March 20 to March 31, and was forced to close its doors. The trouble, officials say, was that so much money was invested in long term notes which could not be disposed of, that it became impossible to meet demands of creditors and depositors.

The petition for receiver was filed Thursday by five members, who compose the recently appointed committee, who were to secure aid from other financial institutions to help the bank tide over its affairs. The committee, which is composed of W. A. Sims, F. M. Loveless, directors and stockholders, and Charles P. Glover, S. J. Bridgen and Ed M. Pearce, stockholders, but not directors, state that their persistent efforts to secure temporary aid had been in vain, and that it is necessary now for a receiver to be appointed in order to conserve the assets, at present in the hands of the state bank examiner.

Attorney L. F. McClelland was appointed receiver, and was ordered by the court to make a complete inventory of the assets and to hold them pending further notice.

G. M. A. CADETS WILL GET THEIR DIPLOMAS

The retiring grand chief, Mrs. Dreeson, was presented with a handsome jewel by the temple. The supreme representative elected was Mrs. Josie Cox, of Savannah, and Mrs. E. M. Schroeder, of Savannah, alternate.

ATLANTIANS WILL SEE CHATTANOOGA EXHIBIT

Special Train Will Carry Manufacturers Who Are Planning Permanent Show Here

In preparation for the proposed permanent exhibit of Atlanta-made goods, the chamber of commerce decided Thursday afternoon to charter a special train to take the merchants and manufacturers of Atlanta to Chattanooga to see the exhibits there.

Brooks Morgan was selected as chairman of the committee to prepare for the excursion and it was decided to take the trip as soon as is practicable. The exhibit in Chattanooga has been operated for about a year.

Atlanta manufacturers propose to lease a big building near the center of the city and as soon as possible to place there a permanent exhibit of local products.

ENGLISH COMMERCIAL HIGH SCHOOL URGED

Board of Education Declares This Building Should Take Precedence Over All

The board of education adopted unanimously Thursday afternoon a resolution that the erection of the Girls' Commercial High school building should take precedence over all other new buildings and that it should be built as soon as possible.

W. H. Rich, who introduced the resolution, pointed out the immediate need for such a building, and declared that between eighty and a hundred girls, now seeking a business education, cannot be accommodated in the limited quarters of the school.

The board debated, without taking any definite action, as to whether the medical inspectors of schools are overworked and as to whether dental inspectors shall be employed.

The board of lady visitors reported that since they have started serving penny lunches they have furnished 49,988 at a total cost of $586.02.

LEAPED FROM ONE TRAIN INTO PATH OF ANOTHER

Railroad Brakeman Survives Grinding Beneath Passenger, But Is Badly Mangled

R. C. Potts, of Adairsville, a railroad brakeman employed with the Western and Atlantic railroad, had a narrow escape from instant death Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when he leaped off the caboose of a freight train near the Magnolia street bridge directly in the path of the Western and Atlantic railroad passenger train which was then on its way to the Union depot.

When Potts was taken from under one of the coaches of the passenger train, his face was covered with blood from a deep gash in his head, and both legs were horribly mangled. The latter fact saved his life, the physicians declared afterwards, as the arteries had become so twisted that it was impossible for him to bleed much. He was taken in Patterson's auto ambulance to the Elkin-Goldsmith sanitarium, where one leg was amputated just below the hip.

Mr. Potts showed nerve through his ordeal. When taken from under the coach he requested those in attendance to be sure and straighten out his legs, and when he was placed on the operating table before the amputation he joked with the physicians until the anaesthetic was administered.

He is married and has a family in Adairsville.

VENEZUELAN GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHES CENSORSHIP?

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—Venezuelan government officials yesterday withheld a telegram to the correspondent of the Associated Press at Caracas, Venezuela, requesting details of the arrest of many Venezuelans there, and the reason for the flight of Dr. Leopoldo Baptista, former secretary general to President Gomez, and of General Juan Pablo Penalosa from the Venezuelan capital to Curacoa, where they arrived in a small sailing boat on Wednesday.

SMITH MAKES A REPLY TO CRABTREE'S CHARGES

Declares That It Would Be Impossible to Hold Services Except on Sunday

Shelby Smith, chairman of the Fulton county commissioners and of the committee of public works, which has direct control of Fulton county's convict system, has issued a strong denial of the charges made by Evangelist George W. Crabtree, who declared that the 700 convicts in this county are treated more brutally than any others in the state and that evangelists are not allowed to attempt to convert them or to hold services among them except on Sunday.

Captain Tom Donaldson, who has charge of the convicts in Fulton, has made no statement on the matter and says that he would rather not discuss it.

Chairman Smith declares that it is impracticable to hold services among the men other than on Sunday, as he thinks men who work as hard as they do all day should be allowed to rest and sleep when once they return to camp for the night. He says that he favors services on Sunday, but that to hold services any time the evangelists might want to do so would be well nigh impossible.

He says that the Fulton county convicts are treated humanely, and that the system employed here is better than any other in the south.

TWO WEEKS' REVIVAL AT EMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH

A two weeks' revival at the Emanuel Baptist church, corner of East Fair street and Berean avenue, will begin Sunday morning, with services at 11 o'clock and 8 o'clock at night.

There will be preaching every night by P. S. Callaway, of Macon, and the soloist and chorus director will be Charles Butler.

DINNER IS GIVEN TO DR. GEORGE T. POWELL

Dr. George T. Powell, of New York, N. Y., president of the Agricultural Experts' association, will be given a luncheon at the Capital City club Friday by Louis B. Magid. Plans are being made to entertain about a hundred business men.

DON'T LET YOUR LIVER GET LAZY OR SLUGGISH
Dodson's Liver Tonic Will Keep it Working and Make You Feel Well and Clean—No Bad After Effects

If you have allowed your fear of calomel to keep you from toning up your liver when it gets a little sluggish and lazy—try Dodson's Liver Tone, and note how quickly and harmlessly it starts the liver and relieves constipation and bilious attacks.

When you take Dodson's Liver Tone, you do not have to stay in the house all day. None of the weakening and harmful after effects of calomel follow its use. Dodson's Liver Tone is a mild, pleasant vegetable liquid that cannot hurt either children or grown people. Yet it easily overcomes the most stubborn and inactive liver without making you quit eating or working.

These are not just claims. Your own druggist backs up every one of these statements and agrees to refund the price of Dodson's Liver Tone with a smile to any person who pays his 50 cents for a bottle and isn't satisfied that he got his money's worth.

Imitations of Dodson's Liver Tone are another proof that it is a good thing. Nobody ever imitates a poor remedy. Be sure you get the genuine Dodson's Liver Tone—the kind that is guaranteed by every druggist who sells it.—(Advt.)

BANKERS NAME DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CONVENTION

T. W. Townsend Elected President of Atlanta Branch of American Institute

A meeting for election of officers and delegates to the national convention was held Thursday night in the chamber of commerce hall by the Atlanta organization of the American Institute of Banking. T. W. Townsend, of the Fourth National bank, was unanimously elected president, as was E. H. Bee, of the Third National bank, who will serve as treasurer for another year. Fonville McWhorter, of the Central Bank and Trust corporation, was elected vice president, and W. V. Crowley, of the American National bank, secretary.

Delegates elected to the eleventh annual convention in Richmond were T. W. Townsend, Fourth National bank; John W. Yopp, of the Southern Banker; Fonville McWhorter, Central Band and Trust corporation.

The American Institute of Banking is a section of the American Bankers' association, which has been invited to hold its 1914 convention in Atlanta.

Release of Negro Boy Secured By Man Whose Family Owned Parents

Because the grandparents of Dallas, alias Allen, Russell, a seventeen-year-old negro boy serving an eight-months' sentence in the chaingang for stealing a pistol from a blacksmith shop, were devoted, trustworthy and reliable slaves for his family during the Civil war, W. D. Green, city license inspector, has appealed to Governor Joseph M. Brown to allow the boy to pay a nominal fine and go free, and the appeal has been granted.

An old ante-bellum negro, the grandfather of Russell, came to Atlanta Tuesday from his home in Chattanooga, Tenn., and enlisted the aid of Mr. Green, who immediately made application for the boy's release.

Russell pleaded guilty to the charge, and was fined $50 or eight months in the gang. The old grandparent, thinking that the fine was but $40, brought only that much money to the city, in the hope of freeing the prisoner and taking him back home with him.

It was pointed out in the application that the boy already had served one month of his sentence, and accordingly the fine was reduced to $40 and costs, with the concurrence of Judge A. E. Calhoun and Solicitor Lowry Arnold.

Russell's grandmother died well off and will to him certain property that he will come into at his majority. Mr. Green is the sole executor of this will of the old mammy, who nursed and cared for him in his babyhood.

TALLAPOOSA VISITED BY $25,000 FIRE

Several Buildings and Stores Are Burned, With Heavy Loss

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

TALLAPOOSA, Ga., May 23.—One of the largest fires that ever occurred in Tallapoosa, started at midnight. The W. L. Tumlin, L. J. Pounds and Brock buildings were destroyed, also the S. S. Rambo residence, the Kimball brick block was damaged considerably.

The R. G. Kilgore and Huddleston stores, located in Kimball block, were badly damaged by water. The McMahon store, located in the Tumlin block, was totally destroyed. Also Miss Tumlin's millinery store, restaurant, meat market, bakery and barber shop. The estimated loss is $25,000, partly covered by insurance. It is reported the fire started in the pressing club.

CHURCH TO HAVE FLOWER SERVICES NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday will be "Flower Sunday" at the First Christian church. On that day every one who attends the services in the morning is requested to bring an offering of flowers. These will be banked around the pulpit, and after the sermon and services are over will be made into bouquets and sent to the different charitable institutions and hospitals in the city.

Everybody in Atlanta who has flowers, whether a member of this denomination or not, is requested to send an offering of flowers to help brighten the lives of the sick, aged and those in the prison, for flowers will be sent to the county jail, as well as the Grady hospital, the Home for Incurables, the Old Ladies' Home and the Battle Hill sanitarium. In fact, every hospital in the city will be remembered.

It is specially asked that the flowers be sent early Sunday morning, in order that the ladies in charge may have plenty of time to arrange them for the flower sermon.

WILL LEVY ON TAX DODGERS IN ATLANTA

An unofficial statement made at the city tax office Thursday declares that there are now approximately 1,500 pupils in Atlanta's public schools whose parents are delinquent in the payment of their personal property taxes.

This number probably will be boiled down to about 1,200 when C. B. Beauchamp, chief clerk in the tax assessors' office, completes checking the school list against the tax register. It is estimated that about $4,500 will be added to the tax returns by forcing the "dodgers" to pay up.

"I am going to instruct the tax assessors to notify the delinquents to pay their taxes," said Chairman Smith, "and if they fail to pay up, the city marshal will fi fa them and make levies on their personal property.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK BOARD MEETS MONDAY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 23.—The Chickamauga park commission will hold a special meeting here Monday in order to be in session during the Confederate reunion. This was considered necessary in view of the fact that Chickamauga park and other parts of the federal reservation will be visited so extensively during the reunion. It was felt that it was best for the commission to be in session so that immediate action might be taken in regard to any contingency which might arise. General C. H. Grosvenor, the chairman, is expected to arrive from his home at Athens, Ohio, Sunday night.

ALL READY AGAIN FOR THE AUTO ASSN'S HILL CLIMB

Entry List, Reopened by Authority Because of Postponement From Last Saturday, Closed at Noon Friday With Several New Ones In—Nothing but a Second Deluge Can Stop the Big Event

Of course, if the rain keeps up and there's another downpour——

But, then, there's no use speculating. The automobile association's big hill climb is scheduled for Saturday, postponed from last Saturday on account of rain. Everything is ready.

The program will commence at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

At noon Friday the re-opened entry list was closed again, with several new contestants listed who were not there last Saturday. The American Automobile association gave its authority for the Atlanta Automobile and Accessory association to receive more entries, and the concession opened the way to some good ones who will make the contest tighter even than it stood before.

Secretary E. H. Elleby, of the Atlanta association, urges that all drivers who have not done so already register with Charles I. Ryan, representative of the A. A. A., at the Fourth National bank.

Following is the full entry list for this second hill climb of the local automobile and accessory association:

Deaf School Trustees

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., May 23.—The annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Georgia School for the Deaf was held Thursday at Cave Spring. Reports of the past term's work showed that everything is in satisfactory condition.

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

Uneeda Biscuit—soda crackers better than any ever made before—made in the greatest bakeries in the world—baked to perfection—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them, oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package. Five cents.

Sisson's "War Speech" Is Not So Hot, After All

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, made his announced Japan speech today in the house. President Wilson, after Mr. Sisson recently made a "war speech," called the Mississippian to the White House and asked him not to make another speech that might complicate diplomatic negotiations with Japan or inflame the public mind. Mr. Sisson today disclaimed any intention of making a "war speech," but attacked the position that the treaty-making power superseded the law-making powers of the sovereign states.

Mr. Sisson declared he took his position, not because the Japanese were involved, that he would take it toward England, France, Germany or any other nation and that if only required "patience and cool heads for both countries to arrive at an amicable, fair and just settlement of all differences."

"If any nation," he said, "should decide that they will dictate to us our land laws, then we would be unworthy of national existence if we submitted to such dictation. Does any one claim that existence if we submitted to such dictation, does any claim this is a declaration of war because I announce this truth.

NO WAR DECLARATION.

"It is no declaration of war for the United States government to decline to override the rights of a sovereign state at the dictation of a foreign power. If the United States government should deliver a state over to the mercies of a flood of aliens, lands, naturalized, I maintain that the federal government would have prostituted its authority.

"Is the recent announcement of this principle a declaration of war?

"Nothing has been further from my mind than to embarrass or to tend to render difficult the peaceful solution of whatever differences, real or imaginary, may exist between the friendly government of Japan and our own government."

Mr. Sisson pleaded for the open door in treaty sessions of the senate.

"If the president and senate can make such a treaty, let us tear down every door of secrecy. Let us require the president to publish every letter and telegram bearing upon a contemplated treaty on the very moment of its despatch. Let the cloture of the senate be removed. Throw open the doors."

Mr. Sisson made a lengthy argument purporting to show the possibility of federation control of land which would be made possible by allowing the importation of Chinese alien laborers.

EMPLOYERS WOULD LIKE IT.

"Many of these large employers of labor," he said, "would be delighted to have the federal government, through its treaty-making power, let down the bars and let the alien come in. What would become of the American farmer if the great corporations of the country should buy all the best lands and cultivate them with Mongolian, Chinese, Hindu, Japanese and other cheap alien labor?

"In California individuals and corporations owning great tracts of land are cultivating them with Hindustani, Chinese, Mexicans and Japanese. It is this class of land owners and land monopolists who are opposed to all restrictions upon labor importation into this country.

"The rich and the powerful, who purchase labor will have their fortunes vastly increased by having all barriers to cheap labor broken down. They know that the quickest and surest route is through the treaty-making power because they only deal first with one man, the president, and one body, two-thirds of the senate.

"I don't want this government to be destroyed through the treaty-making power," Mr. Sisson concluded. "So, gentlemen of the house, I have taken this position not because the Japanese are involved in this controversy, but I would take this position if England, Germany, France or any other nation on earth were involved."

He Who Creates War Spirit Civilization's Foe—Franklin

DETROIT, Mich., May 23.—"The man who, by word or deed, creates bad feeling between the United States and Japan is an enemy of civilization," declared James H. Franklin, of Boston, foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society, in an address today before the northern Baptist convention.

Secretary Franklin, discussing a recent tour he made in Japan, said the "Japanese people want no trouble with the United States unless the trouble is forced on them in defense of what they consider their national honor.

"The Japanese newspapers are absolutely fair," said Mr. Franklin, "in their reports of news of a religious or moral nature. Their libraries are stocked with the best books in the world.

"With all the earnestness which I can command I say that the Japanese are entitled to the respect and confidence of the world."

in his drug store in Capitol avenue for the purpose of sale, and of selling it. I fined him $200 and sentenced him to spend thirty days in jail. The higher courts sustained my decision. Dr. Roper has never paid his fine or served the jail sentence, however, because Mayor Woodward instructed the police not to take him into custody, as he was considering a reduction of the sentence. That was two months ago, but Mayor Woodward has not yet announced a decision.

"The action of Mayor Woodward in rescinding fines and commuting sentences without conferring with me is unprecedented," Recorder Broyles asserted. "No other mayor has taken it upon himself to reverse my decisions without consulting me first. Such steps place an obstacle in the way of the police and hamper them in their work. They encourage keepers of blind tigers because the latter feel that even if they do lose out on appeal in the higher courts, there is always the chance of getting the mayor to intercede as a last resort."

U. S. A. ASSEMBLY IS RUSHING BUSINESS TO CONCLUDE ON FRIDAY

mission had a "gentlemen's agreement" with the board that it would "carefully examine its administrative machine between now and the 1914 assembly, and if it finds any wheels that can be eliminated it will itself recommend such elimination."

A commissioner in the rear said this explanation did not tally with Dr. Matthews' explanation when he presented the commission's report on the home board Wednesday.

Rev. F. M. Hall, of Erie, Pa., undertook to discuss the explanation further, but Moderator Stone ruled him out of order, unless the whole matter was first reconsidered.

"Then I want a reconsideration," he exclaimed.

But he had no chance, for Moderator Stone reminded him that a two thirds vote would be necessary to reconsider, and, as every one could see at a glance, not over one-half the commissioners were present.

LAST HOME BOARD MATTER

"Take your medicine and sit down old man," remarked Dr. Mahland Alexander, chairman of the standing committee which so vigorously defended the home board.

Mr. Hall took his advice, smilingly, and thus was the last of the home board matter.

DEPLORE STATE OF RELIGION

A discouraging report on the state of religion throughout the church, and a severe arraignment of various tendencies of the times, was rendered by the committee on narrative, through the chairman, Rev. Frederic Sander. Some of the notable features were as follows:

That there is a distressing loss of church members in many synods.

That some of the church's most intelligent and influential members, instead of attending divine services on the Sabbath, spend their time on the golf links.

That the extent and boldness of the white slave traffic has became appalling —even extending, the committee declared, into Sabbath schools and Christian Endeavour societies.

That nearly 4,000 churches in the past ecclesiastical year failed to bring a single soul to Christ.

LACK OF FAMILY WORSHIP

That there is a great and alarming lack of family worship.

That the list of "suspended members" is much too long in many churches, and in the committee's opinion there is a tendency to suspend members not from a holy desire to save their souls, but purely from mercenary motives.

GREAT CIVIC AWAKENING

But the report was not entirely hopeless. It called attention to the fact the 87,000 new members were received during the year on confession of faith, and spoke of the great social and civic awakening as cause for thanks to God.

DEAD ARE REMEMBERED.

Dr. W. H. Roberts, the stated clerk, read the list of Presbyterian ministers who went to their last reward during the past year, of whom there were more than 150. Dr. Charles L. Thompson said a prayer and the assembly sang an appropriate hymn.

Rev. W. H. Houston, of Columbus, O., secretary of the permanent committee on vacancy and supply, gave the assembly a review of this problem which opened their eyes. He declared an absolute solution of the problem is impossible under the Presbyterian system of government.

He hoped, however, that an approximate solution could be accomplished by means of a general system of cooperation between presbyteries.

He said the problem of vacancy and supply is the most distressing and troublesome not only in the Presbyterian church, but also in every non-episcopal church.

THE METHODIST SYSTEM.

"Whatever else may be said of the Methodist Episcopal church," said he, "we must admit that it has the most effective system we know anything about of supplying churches with pastors."

The committee on vacancy and supply engaged Mr. Houston one year ago to undertake a solution of the problem.

He told the assembly it was useless for him to continue unless he could have at least five years to give his central correspondence bureau a thorough try-out, and submitted to the assembly the question whether it would so authorize.

After considerable discussion, the assembly voted by a large majority to appropriate the necessary money and direct Mr. Houston to continue.

William T. Ellis moved that the moderator, during the next year, through whatever agency he deemed the most effective, take steps to urge upon the fathers and sons the church's claims upon them for the ministry, and that this appeal be separate from and supplemental to other similar action already directed. The motion was adopted.

The permanent committee on theological seminaries submitted a report distinctly hopeful in tone, reviewing the enrollment, faculty changes, new plans, etc., of each seminary. The committee, in passing, recommended that ministers throughout the church bring systematically to the attention of young men the pressing claims and high opportunities of the ministry.

APPRECIATION OF DR. ROBERTS.

The assembly adopted, by a rising vote, appropriate resolutions expressing appreciation of the long and faithful service of Dr. N. H. Roberts, the stated clerk, who has held the office thirty years.

Dr. Roberts replied in a short, eloquent speech, in which he said the remaining years of his life will be spent, as have many previous years, in working to bring closer together the churches of Christ throughout America and the world.

Dr. S. S. Palmer said a prayer.

At 12:45 the assembly adjourned for lunch. It will reconvene at 2 instead of 2:30, in order to finish if possible and adjourn sine die Friday afternoon.

Chicago Is Selected As 1914 Meeting Place

The attendance Thursday afternoon was noticeably smaller than Thursday morning. Veteran commissioners explained that the distribution of mileage checks at the close of the morning session was responsible. In other words, many commissioners cashed their checks as soon as they got them and caught the train for home.

The assembly Thursday afternoon selected the Fourth Presbyterian church of Chicago as the meeting place for 1914. The pastor of this church is Dr. John Timothy Stone, the moderator. When the question of a meeting place came up he surrendered his gavel to Vice Moderator Booth, and made a speech of invitation.

"Although I happen to be a moderator," said he, "the thing I really came here for was to extend this invitation. In addition to the cards other Chicago commissioners have told you, as to why you should accept the invitation of Fourth church, there is one very potent reason which I find in the language of the Scriptures, and believe me it is a good reason, where I am concerned. It is this: 'And then shall Timothy be released.'"

A PUN IN MODERATION.

Whereupon the assembly enjoyed a hearty laugh. Dr. Stone will serve as moderator until the 1914 assembly convenes, and then he will preach the opening sermon and retire for the next moderator, who will be elected at the first business session.

The resignation of Rev. Duncan J. McMillen, of New York, as secretary of the board of church erection, came before the assembly Thursday afternoon as an unexpected aftermath of the assembly's action of Wednesday in directing the board to use $90,000 of the John S. Kennedy bequest as a loan fund to aid feeble congregations in building churches.

He gave as his reason that he conscientiously believes the money cannot be used legally for this purpose, and therefore he does not want to be placed in the attitude of disobeying the assembly's instructions. The assembly referred the resignation to the board.

Upwards of an hour of Thursday afternoon's session was consumed in greetings from other churches, Presbyterian and otherwise. Those who spoke were as follows:

SPEAKERS URGE UNION.

Dr. David G. Wylie, of New York, himself a commissioner, on behalf of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian faith.

Rev. Charles H. McFarlane, secretary of the Federal council of the churches of Christ in America, on behalf of that body.

Rev. C. H. Bandy, on behalf of the United Presbyterian church in India.

Rev. F. B. Duvall, D. D., on behalf of the Presbyterian church in Canada.

Prof. Alberto Ciot, an Italian, on behalf of the Waldensian church of his native land.

Rev. C. E. Morgan, D. D., on behalf of the Church of the Disciples.

Rev. W. H. Black, on behalf of the Council of Reformed Churches in America Holding the Presbyterian faith.

The keynote of these speeches was organic union among all groups of the Presbyterian family in America, and ultimately a union of all evangelical Christian religions. Both were warmly applauded by the assembly.

VETERANS "JOLLY" US

After the greetings from churches, the assembly invited General Robert N. Adams and Adjutant-General John W. Isoughlin, veterans of Sherman's army who were in the battles around Atlanta, to extend greetings to this city through the assembly.

They mounted the rostrum amid applause, and spoke interestingly of their recollections of "Atlanta's somewhat warmer reception in 1864." Both are commissioners in the assembly.

The assembly elected the following new members of the executive commission:

Ministers—Rev. John Timothy Stone, D. D., Chicago; Rev. Edward H. Pence, D. D., Detroit.

Elders—B. F. Edwards, St. Louis; Henry P. Crowell, Chicago; John L. Severance, Cleveland.

Former Burglar's Work, Unrepaired By Owner, Let These Others in

Because he neglected to repair the damage done by burglars who entered his store several weeks ago, L. A. Benton, of 456 Edgewood avenue, lost $100 worth of groceries through a second visit of the marauders Thursday night. Negroes are suspected of the theft.

Thieves recently removed the glass from the front door of the shop, pulled loose a corner of the screen, and slipped the bolt which held the door in place. They carried off a quantity of merchandise.

Instead of putting in a new glass, Benton contented himself with tacking down the screen. So, when the intruders called again Thursday all they had to do was rip loose the wire and unlock the door.

A Most Remarkable Sale of Summer Dresses

$5.95 to $8.50 Summer Dresses $3.85

We buy a great many dresses from certain makers at regular prices. Then at the end of their season, they favor us with their surplus stocks greatly under price. That is how these dresses—though worth $5.95 to $8.50—come to us to sell at a profit at $3.85.

New as the morning—shown tomorrow for the first time. Made of soft white voiles and lingeries, prettily developed in embroideries and laces. Cool, inviting styles for summer wear. One hundred and eighty-seven (187) in the lot, and choice is only $3.85.

$10.00, $12.50 Linen Lingerie Dresses

The linen dresses are in the "Composed" models; one-piece dresses with white linen skirts and colored linene semi-coats. Variously white skirts with blue, rose, brown, lavender and tan coats. $5.85

The other dresses are of voile or lingerie, some comparatively simple; others made of elaborate embroidery flouncings or trimmed with laces, crushed silk girdles, crystal buttons, etc. Worth $10 and $12.50, for $5.85.

Beautiful New Waists at $1 to $2.50

Buyer just back from New York with the late styles. Lingerie waists at $1. Variously in voiles, marquisettes and lingeries. High or low necks, Gaby and flat collars, long or short sleeves.

White Outing Skirts at $1 to $2.49

The skirt at $2.49 is a particularly good value. Made of white striped Bedford cord, smartly tailored; buttons on side. Small tucks in back and strapped to simulate a belt. Other white skirts variously tailored.

Pique $1 to $1.50. Linen $2. Ratine $2.98.

$2.50, $3.50 Silk Shirts $1.95

All white shirts of Jap silk, with turn-over collar and French attached cuffs. Also in habutai wash silks with black or colored stripes. All coat styles.

Every Woman Who Wants a 1913 Panama Can Choose $4 Grades at $2.98; $7 Grades at $4.95

Look at the illustration. Please note that these are not the wide, flappy, "farm hand" Panamas of 1912, but the trig, smartly blocked models of 1913. Real Panamas, too, every one—the genuine Formosa and Adamba grades; woven under water; finely plaited; pliant and flexible. All the new shapes, large, small and medium, including the small poke and mushroom models now in such high favor. On sale Saturday.

$2.98; values $4. $4.95; values $7.

$15 Spring Trimmed Hats $5

Just about a score or so of smartly trimmed Spring hats. Charming styles, chiefly in the dark braids. Excellent for traveling or street wear. Former prices $10, $12.50, $14 and $15. Choice $5.
(Millinery, Second Floor.)

Children's Hats Half-Price

Their fresh beauty makes irresistible appeal. Pretty straws, cunningly developed into quaint pokes, charming Colonial hats, smart styles with roll or droop brim. Prettily trimmed with dainty flowers, shirred silks and ribbons.
Were $1.50 to $10; now 75c to $5.

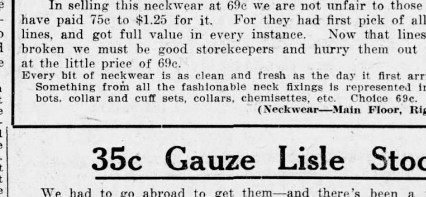
20c to 35c Veiling 10c

Just about enough for a busy day's selling—hence the "close out" price. In fancy mesh, solid colors, brown, navy, taupe, black and black and white combinations.
(Veilings—Main Floor, Right.)

$7 Corsets $3.50

Fashion is a matter of taste. Some women like a corset just this bust height —some women don't. The factory sides with the women who don't; they intend to discontinue the model. And that alone accounts for the halved price.

Corset is just a trifle higher in the bust than the newest models. Some fashionable long hips. Made of fine imported broche in pink and blue. All sizes to 30 in the lot, but not in each color. Up to recently this corset has been one of our most popular models at $7; the price tomorrow is just half $3.50.
(Corsets, Second Floor.)



Clearaway of Neckwear 69c

Usually 75c to $1.25 at

In selling this neckwear at 69c we are not unfair to those who have paid 75c to $1.25 for it. For they had first pick of all the lines, and got full value in every instance. Now that lines are broken we must be good storekeepers and hurry them out even at the little price of 69c.

Every bit of neckwear is as clean and fresh as the day it first arrived. Something from all the fashionable neck fixings is represented in jabots, collar and cuff sets, collars, chemisettes, etc. Choice 69c.
(Neckwear—Main Floor, Right.)

A Sale of New Ribbons

The sale is as rare as it is timely. For pretty ribbons like these are scarce in the market at full price—and some of these are at less than half.

All new and crisp in delightful color combinations that rival the hues of the rainbow. Warp prints, Roman and Persian stripes, self colored satin in stripes, Bulgarian and Dresden patterns, Pico edges—the list is almost endless. Variously in taffetas, moires and grosgrains. Divided into two lots.

50c Ribbons 4 to 6 inch at . 33c

6 to 10 in. 75c to $1.25 Ribbons . 43c
(Ribbons—Main Floor, Right)

35c Gauze Lisle Stockings 25c

We had to go abroad to get them—and there's been a fair shaving of our own profit to bring them down to 25c. But we think it pays to have the best 25c stocking in town—especially when so many women will want a light weight gauze lisle for summer.

The stocking is full fashioned; the finish is finer than the domestic grades. Reinforced where needed at heels, sole and toes and garter top. Black, white, tan and a wonderfully big 25c worth.

Silk Stockings 50c

Pure thread silk boot stockings with lisle feet and garter top. Full fashioned—the best 50c silk stocking we have ever found. All colors—black, white, tan, navy blue, grey, pink, etc.

Children's Socks 25

Brought from Chemnitz, Germany, because they make them better there. Solid colors and white, and fancies in stripes, dots and plaids. All silk or silk lisle. Full range of sizes, 25c.

$1 and $1.25 Silk Stockings 73c

These are called "run of the mill grade" which means they have not been examined for defects. We've searched them over—some show a dropped thread or other slight hurt which will never affect their wear—others appear to be perfect. All silk or with lisle feet and top. Black only.

WILSON'S HAND SEEN IN HOUSE REORGANIZATION

Underwood in Accord With President on Selections. Adamson Still Chairman

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 23.—The detailed organization of the house of representatives is not the least important matter that is engaging the attention of President Wilson just now. It is recognized that the president is exercising a controlling influence on the ways and means committee in the personnel of the several standing committees of the house.

Mr. Wilson feels an especial interest in the personnel of the Democratic membership of the banking and currency committee, which will, of course, frame and defend the currency legislation upon which the administration will rest its case. In many quarters it is believed that the currency question transcends in importance the tariff, and on this account the president is anxious not only that the committee shall be sympathetic with the administration, but that its members shall be men of ability.

Leader Underwood, in his capacity as chairman of the ways and means committee, is in entire accord with the president as to the importance of the banking and currency committee. It is stated on reliable authority that the leader is willing that Mr. Wilson shall vise the committee before it is finally elected by the Democratic caucus, and it is understood, further, that Mr. Underwood intends that the president's suggestions as to the membership shall be respected.

For many years the banking and currency committee was an inconspicuous committee of little importance. Its membership was the subject of small consideration in the organization of the house. After the Roosevelt panic of 1907, the subject of currency legislation was revived, and the currency committee invited the attention of the house leaders. Uncle Joe Cannon was then speaker. The Republicans controlled the house. Charles N. Fowler, a banker of Elizabeth, N. J., was chairman of the currency committee. He was an insurgent, opposed to Cannon and Cannonism. He had some ideas of his own about currency reform, and to punish him for his insurgency, Cannon displaced him as chairman and appointed in his stead Representative Vreeland, of New York, joint author with Senator Aldrich of the Vreeland-Aldrich currency act.

THE DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN.

Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, who edits and owns a couple of newspapers published at Lynchburg, will succeed to the chairmanship of the currency committee when the house is reorganized. Glass is a thorough progressive, quite in sympathy with the plans and purposes of the president. He has devoted most of his time to a study of the currency question for the past four years. Although he has had no practical experience as a banker, he has studied the currency question from the practical side, and is thoroughly familiar with the practical, as well as theoretical, advantages and disadvantages of the many plans that have been suggested.

Mr. Glass is acceptable to the president. The bill that finally becomes a law will very likely bear Mr. Glass' name—"the Glass currency bill." It will offer a rare opportunity to the paragraphers, and we will read doubtlessly that the Democratic currency bill is so transparent that it has been named "Glass," or something to that effect.

The new chairman of the banking and currency committee will succeed immediately Arsene J. Pujo, of Louisiana, who staked his political fortunes in a senatorial contest, and lost. Pujo was chairman by the operation of the rule of seniority, and Glass will become chairman by virtue of the rule, with the indorsement of President Wilson.

As constituted in the last congress, the banking and currency committee consisted of fourteen Democrats and seven Republicans. The proportion will be maintained in this congress, in so far as the majority membership is concerned. The Republicans will be required to yield one or two places to Progressives.

Four of the fourteen Democrats who served on this committee in the last congress are not members of the present house, and there is a wild scramble for the vacancies thus created, also, there is some speculation as to whether all of the surviving ten Democrats will hold their places on the committee. The chances are that none of them will be disturbed by the ways and means committee, unless the president wills it.

"HOLD-OVERS" ARE SECURE.

It is believed that the president will not attempt to disturb any of the so-called "hold-over" Democrats who served on this committee. It is the four new members to be selected in whom the president feels the greater interest. Among the "hold-overs" are a number of loyal administration men who may be relied upon to work in harmony with the president, and if the four new members are sympathetic Mr. Wilson's way will have easy sailing.

The "hold-overs" are Glass of Virginia, Talbott of Maryland, Taylor of Alabama, Byrnes of South Carolina, Korbly of Indiana, Bulkley of Ohio, Doughton of North Carolina, Stephens of Mississippi, Brown of West Virginia and Neeley of Kansas.

The only—or, rather, the most vigorous—objection heard to the reappointment of the foregoing "hold-overs" is the fact that most of them hail from the south. Six of the ten are southerners, one comes from a border state—West Virginia. The middle west has two members—Neeley of Kansas and Bulkley of Ohio—but neither the west nor the east has a single member of the committee among the "hold-overs."

It is entirely probable, therefore, that geography will cut a considerable figure in the selection of the men to fill the four places. New York and Massachusetts each demands a place on the committee, a voice in framing the currency legislation; New Jersey would like to have representation, so would Pennsylvania. The Democrats west of the Mississippi and those from the mountain and coast states claim at least two places.

THE COMMERCE COMMITTEE.

The interstate and foreign commerce committee, counted by many as the most important committee of the house, year in and year out, will be all "shot to pieces" in the reorganization of the house, owing to the caucus rule, which, recognizing the importance of the committee, provides that congressmen holding seats shall be ineligible to membership on the commerce committee.

Five "hold-over" Democrats who have served on this committee for a number of years, were chairmen of less important committees in the last congress. They can have these chairmanships again in this congress, but they will have to give up the commerce committee.

Judge William C. Adamson, of Georgia, is assured of reappointment as chairman of the commerce committee, but the next three members of the committee must get off or give up desirable chairmanships. They are, in the order of their relative rank, Richardson of Alabama, who will be chairman of the pensions committee; Sims of Tennessee, who will be chairman of the war claims committee; Goldfogle of New York, who will be chairman of an elections committee; Hamlin of Missouri, who will be chairman of an expenditures committee.

Broussard of Louisiana, who, ordinarily, would be advanced to the second man on this committee, is anxious for a small parliamentship, and is willing to quit the committee if he can have one. He has been elected to the senate from Louisiana, and wants a chairmanship so that he will have more clerical help in his office. Committee chairmen have at least two clerks.

Inasmuch as Broussard is one of the few Democrats in the house opposed to the abolition of the commerce court, to which the party is committed, it is understood that his retirement from the commerce committee will be entirely agreeable, if the chairmanship can be found.

House leaders have made tentative selections for the chairmanships of the following committees:

Agriculture, Representative Lever, of South Carolina; appropriations, Fitzgerald, New York; banking and currency, Glass, Virginia; District of Columbia, Johnson, Kentucky; education, Hobson, Alabama; foreign affairs, Flood, Virginia; immigration, Burnett, Alabama; interstate and foreign commerce, Adamson, Georgia; judiciary, Clayton, Alabama; labor, Maher, New York; merchant marine, Alexander, Missouri; military affairs, May, Virginia; naval affairs, Padgett, Tennessee; postoffice, Moon, Tennessee; public lands, Ferris, Oklahoma; rivers and harbors, Sparkman, Florida; insular affairs, Jones, Virginia.

The Republican assignments will be submitted by Republican Leader Mann. The Progressives will confer May 28 to decide finally on their list of selections for the thirty-seven committee places they are to get.

LAGRANGE WILL HAVE BIGGEST COUNTY FAIR

Chamber Commerce Launches Fair for This Fall for Troup County to Be Largest Fair in the State

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 23.—The LaGrange chamber of commerce has just perfected plans for the holding in LaGrange this fall of a fair for Troup county to be the biggest fair held by any county in this state and probably in the south.

The general secretary of the chamber of commerce announced yesterday the appointment of Mr. H. H. Wadsworth, as fair secretary of the chamber of commerce, and he will devote his entire time to the fair from this time forward.

Mr. Wadsworth is a native of Ohio and has been in Troup county for about eighteen months, having been in charge of the Southern Poultry Farms, which he has given up to take charge of the Troup county fair. He has had experience in fairs held in Ohio and is a clean, aggressive and conscientious man. It took a handsome salary to secure his services, and if the fair is a success this fall it will be a permanent proposition and Mr. Wadsworth, very likely will be retained as permanent fair secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Plans already outlined for the fair are the most elaborate and expensive of any county fair ever undertaken in Georgia. In fact, it will be a miniature exposition. Plans are now being drawn for the necessary buildings, and construction work will begin on them as soon as plans are complete.

BASEBALL GROUNDS.

The grounds secured will be the ones now being used by the baseball club, and are just two blocks from the court house square. The baseball diamond will be fitted up for a race track, and all the judging of stock and outdoor sports will take place in front of the grandstand, which seats about 1,000 people.

The buildings to be erected will be built on the corner of the lot toward town, and will be two-story structures, having place for exhibits on both first and second floors.

Fireworks will blaze at night from the center of the opening in front of the grandstand, and a firstclass midway will be open all afternoon and up to midnight.

Full details of the exposition will be ready and the premiums within the next ten days and will be announced by the secretary.

H. H. WADSWORTH.

BIG CHAMBER WORK.

The announcement of the appointing of a fair secretary, who will doubtless be a permanent factor of the work of the chamber of commerce of LaGrange, is but another step forward by the livest and most aggressive chamber of comiaerce work in Georgia or the south.

This addition to the chamber of commerce force gives in addition to the general secretary and two stenographers, three strong and aggressive men in charge of various departments. They are: O. E. Wilson, real estate secretary; T. J. Moulitor, promotion secretary; H. H. Wadsworth, fair secretary, making six active workers in the chamber of commerce office.

The general secretary of the chamber of commerce at LaGrange has daily requests for details of the workings of the LaGrange chamber, and to most of them he replies that the secret of the great work being done lies in the splendid and very active board of directors. They are men who seldom miss a meeting of the board and represent every walk of life in LaGrange and Troup county.

WALKER LAID TO REST; FLOWERS HIDE CASKET

Young Macon Banker Sleeps in Monroe Grave, Long Fight Over

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONROE, Ga., May 23.—With the casket literally hidden under great banks of flowers, the body of B. Sanders Walker, the young banker whose week-long fight against bichloride of mercury poisoning was ended by death Thursday, was laid to rest here Friday.

A great concourse of friends and acquaintances attended the last services.

The body of the young banker was accompanied from Macon by relatives, friends and escorts. The Walker lot in the cemetery at Monroe is filled. Next to it is that of Ex-Governor H. D. McDaniel, who immediately wired that he would give a part of his plot to inter the latest dead of his neighbors' house.

TELEGRAMS OF SYMPATHY.

When the news was flashed in the early hours of this morning that the young banker was dead it was not long until telegrams of sympathy commenced to pour in. Practically every city of importance in the United States was represented by the little white and yellow slips of condolence and few towns in Georgia but had some friend.

Even the suggestions for treatment continued to come in.

One was from the United States consul at Amsterdam. It was to the effect that the Dutch had discovered that powdered aluminum was successful antidote to bichloride of mercury. While this discovery is new it is already known to the Macon doctors in attendance on the case. However the four hours which elapsed between the time of taking the poison and the arrival of doctors gave the poison so much time that nothing could help it.

Relatives of the family stated that scores of telegrams came during Walker's illness from religious and pseudo-scientific bodies offering treatment, some in the names of individuals and some officially signed by associations. Practically every school of medicine or healing from the more cold-blooded surgeons to the most advanced "thought-healers" had their theory and offered it.

U. S. SLEUTHS FAIL TO FIND LIBELLER PAGE

Henry W. A. Page, Who Libelled Members of Congress, Believed to Be in Europe

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—Government agents today were unable to find any trace of Henry W. A. Page, a linen importer, whom they want to sought on the ground that he violated the terms of a suspension sentence under which he was released in Washington a year ago, after his conviction of libelling members of congress. He was sentenced at the time to serve five years in prison and pay a fine of $1,000.

Employes in the building where Page had his offices said today that they had not seen him for several days and some of them expressed the belief that he had gone to Europe.

Page abused members of congress in a pamphlet which he circulated, holding that he could not get justice in American courts. After his conviction he promised to desist in his campaign, but of late it was charged he sent letters to President Wilson attacking the department of justice. This brought about the order for his rearrest.

Teachers to Meet

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., May 23.—The County Teachers' institute will convene here Monday morning and will remain in session until Friday.

Miss Parrish, state supervisor, of Atlanta, will have entire charge of the exercises, assisted by Prof. Clarence R. Ware, county school commissioner.

Uncle Joe Returns To Washington and Laughs At Toilers

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, former speaker of the house, is back in his old haunts as jaunty as ever, wearing the inevitable carnation in the lapel of his coat and with the same rakish tilt to the big black cigar. He is here to attend a meeting of the Lincoln Memorial commission, in which both he and former Senator Cullom, of Illinois, retained membership after their retirement from public life.

The former speaker, who is in great spirits, already has taken occasion to gloat over the troubles of his former colleague, Representative Mann, of Illinois, minority leader of the house. Mr. Mann was Mr. Cannon's floor lieutenant during all the time the former speaker wielded the gavel and earned the title of "czar."

"It's mighty fine," said Uncle Joe, retrospectively blowing a huge cloud of smoke from his cigar, "not to have to be the 'goat' any more."

The former speaker declined to discuss politics or to comment upon the progress of the Democratic program.

ABSCONDING BANKER OF BOSTON DIES IN CHILI

F. T. Moore, of Boston National Bank of Commerce, Became Power in Valparaiso

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, May 23.—The death at Valparaiso, Chili, of Frederick T. Moore, former assistant receiving teller of the National Bank of Commerce, of this city, who absconded fourteen years ago with $3,000 of the bank's funds, was reported here today.

Moore died from Boston in 1898 when irregularities were found in his books. He was arrested in Valparaiso a year later on a charge of embezzlement but the courts refused requisition. During his residence in Valparaiso he became one of the leading business men of the city.

MRS. WILSON SELECTS ANOTHER POSTMASTER

President's Wife Names Sister's Mother-in-Law, Mrs. Elliot, to Murfreesboro Office

(By Ralph Smith)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 23.—A further fright concerning the distribution of patronage by President Wilson was thrown into democratic senators and representatives yesterday with the nomination of Mrs. Margaret Elliott, for postmaster at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Mrs. Elliott is the widow of the late W. Y. Elliott, who held the Murfreesboro postoffice under President Harrison. She is the mother of Dr. Edward Elliott, of the Princeton faculty, who married the sister of Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Elliott was not endorsed by the congressman from the Murfreesboro district, nor by either Senator Lea or Shields. They joined in urging the nomination of William B. Bragg, a well-known democrat of Murfreesboro.

STOPS ELOPEMENT AND TAKES SISTER HOME

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 23.—A message to the effect that his sister, Miss Zodie Langdale, eighteen years of age, and a freshman at Wesleyan college, was preparing to elope with a young man from Council, Ga., brought H. Langdale, a Valdosta lawyer and president of the Valdosta baseball club, to Macon this morning.

Mr. Langdale confronted his sister with the report and, despite her tearful denial, accompanied by one of the members of the college faculty, he escorted the young lady to the depot and took her home to Valdosta.

PEACH CROP IS SHORT, AUTHORITIES DECLARE

It Will Fall Nearly 4,000 Carloads Short of Last Year's Crop, It Is Estimated

Estimates by conceded authorities place the total crop of Georgia peaches this season below 1,450 carloads, in contrast with 5,000 carloads shipped last year.

The estimate of H. D. Marks, manager of the Georgia Frupt exchange, is 1,454 cars; the estimates of the Fruit Growers' express is 1,349 and the Central of Georgia railway expects only 1,312 carloads.

The price this year will probably be the biggest in many years.

Mr. Marks expects that the first shipment of peaches will come about June 3. Mr. Marks bases his short crop predictions on the heavy rains, and the railway officials base their prediction on early frosts.

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER JUNE SHEET

Campbell Co. and Atlantic Co. Win Contracts for Coming Year

A meeting of the finance committee of council was held Friday morning, at which the contract for supplying the city with coal during the coming year was awarded to the Campbell Coal company and the Atlantic Ice and Coal company.

The Campbell company gets the contract for screen coal and blacksmith coal, and the Atlantic Ice and Coal company for the run-of-mine coal. They will supply all departments of the city.

The finance committee adjourned at 12 o'clock, to reconvene at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The June sheet will be taken up at that time, and every department of the city may tell the committee what they want.

SEABOARD'S NEW DINERS ARE SEEN IN ONE HERE

Handsome Car in Town Friday Is One of a Dozen Made by Pullman

When Seaboard train No. 6 pulled into the Union depot Friday afternoon there was attached to it the most modern and up-to-date dining car that ever has been seen in the south—one of a dozen new diners which the Pullman company have made especially for the "Sally" line.

The cars are wellnigh the last word in railroad construction. They are seventy-three feet long and seat thirty-six people comfortably. They are made of steel throughout and many features within are constructed of the same material. The floors are tiled, the furniture is placed so that it may be moved with the greatest ease and the whole car washed out from end to end.

The up-to-date kitchen is fitted out with sanitary paraphernalia, a mighty range and apparatus that cools it off and deflects every particle of odor outside the car. The refrigerator is probably one of the largest in the south.

The car was inspected Friday afternoon by R. F. Maddox, one of the new directors of the road; Fred Geissler, assistant general passenger agent, and a number of others.

These cars will be run on all of the Seaboard lines in the south.

OSCAR GERSHON IS HURT BY RECKLESS MOTORIST

Knocked Down at Pryor and Alabama Streets—Police Seek Driver

The police are searching for the automobile driver who ran his car into Oscar Gershon, president of the Gershon Printing company, at the corner of Pryor and Alabama streets, Saturday evening. Gershon sustained severe internal injuries and is now in a serious condition at the Georgia sanitarium, whither he was taken following the accident.

The matter was not reported to the police until Friday morning, when a relative of the injured man asked that the driver of the machine be arrested. He gave the police the number of the car.

Gershon says he was crossing the intersection when the automobile whisked by him and threw him to the pavement. He thought he was only slightly hurt until internal complications resulted.

MANY ASPIRE TO BE GOVERNMENT SLEUTHS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A deluge of applications for appointments to the United States secret service continues to overwhelm Secretary McAdoo, although there are no vacancies.

One man who believes the government needs him in detective work, sent the secretary a list of about 150 occupations which he has filled to prove he was competent to undertake any kind of sleuth work.

These are some of his "trades."

Stage driver, laborer, "pardtner," school teacher, proprietor and editor, doctor, rough carpenter, mail carrier, lumber trade, waiter and bartender.

COMMITTEES MEET AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Two meetings will be held in the chamber of commerce at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, one of the smoke abatement committee, and the other of the W. and A. railroad committee.

The meeting of the smoke committee is called mainly to discuss what steps have been taken so far to abate the smoke nuisance and what success they have met. The railroad committee probably will take up the city plaza project.

ALABAMA SHAFT READY TO BE UNVEILED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 23.—The committee having in charge the dedication of the Alabama monument has completed all details for the exercises. It has been agreed that the committee will go to the site in automobiles, the exercises to begin promptly at 10:30 Wednesday. The dedicatory exercises of the Florida monument will occur at 9:15, allowing interested parties to attend both exercises.

After Manuel Popped the Question

Ex-King Manuel of Portugal; Princess Augusta Victoria his bride-to-be, and his future father-in-law, Prince Wilhelm.

He Had to Let His Girl's Dad Size Him Up, Just Like Us Red-Blooded Fellows Do

This is the first photograph taken of the deposed Portuguese ruler with his royal sweetheart. Princess Augusta Victoria, and her father. The date for the marriage is not fixed, but it is likely the wedding will occur soon. The bride belongs to the elder branch of the historic house of Hohenzollern, the Catholic branch, and the consent of the kaiser to the match was necessary. The princess and Manuel are second cousins, but had never met until a few weeks ago.

Princess Augusta has sunny hair and big dark eyes, a fascinating smile, and a willowy figure—and Manuel is said to be head-over-heels in love with her.

MAN FROM MONK, GA., INVENTS "KNEE-JERK" TO KEEP TAB ON POLICE BY RECORDING STEPS

Harry Winthrop, of Monk, Ga., who frankly admits being an inventor, though "not as famous as Edison and some others," has a great device which he predicts will revolutionize the police work of the world, eliminate the lazy policeman, keep the minions of the laws always vigilant, and do a lot of other unusual things. He has written to Chief Beavers.

The inventor calls his little device—which he describes as being on the order of a speedometer, but not so heavy— the "Knee Jerk," because, he says, it is worn on the knee.

Its object is to record the distance walked by a policeman in a given length of time, and thus make it impossible for a policeman "to sleep on duty or spend most of his time around peanut and soda water stands," to use the words of Winthrop.

The Monk man"s letter is remarkable in many ways. Chief Beavers thinks it is one of the most humerous he ever has received in his mail; and that always contains something interesting.

Winthrop says the "Knee Jerk" is strapped firmly to the leg both above and below the knee joint and registers every time a step is taken. A tape inside bears the record, and this can be examined when the officer comes off watch. There is no way of "faking" the chief, the inventor declares.

A policeman cannot sit or lies down and wiggle his leg.

Get the genius of this! and thsu register a certain number of steps, because the contraption won't work except in a perpendicular position.

Winthrop volunteers the information that these "Knee Jerks" cost only $50 apiece, and that the entire department of Atlanta could be equipped for a mere $12,000. He adds that he has written to the New York chief of police and is daily expecting a large order from him, but that he wants Chief Beavers to have first "whack" at the invention because he, the inventor, is a native of the south and wants this section to be the first to profit by the work of his brain.

The "knee jerk," the inventor declares, is fastened on with a key, and there would be no opportunity for the wearer to "doctor" the tape. He suggests that the chief personally nunlock each "knee jerk," when the three or four score policemen come off duty, "take out the tape, reload it, and lock them on the legs of the men going on watch."

Chief Beavers is doubtful about the proposition. He doesn't know whether somebody is prying to "kid" him or there really is an inventor by the name of Winthrop. He is not going to ask the police board for the $12,000 right away, however, he announced Friday morning.

After he read the letter he went out and weighed the speedometer on his automobile and found that it tipped the scale at twelve pounds and a fraction.

He can't see how a policeman can do much good with eight or ten pounds of machinery strapped to his leg, even if he can't sleep on the job.

BLASE ORDERS PRISONERS SENT TO COUNTY JAILS

Inmates in South Carolina Penitentiary for Safe Keeping

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 22.—Governor Blease has ordered all prisoners held in the state penitentiary for safe keeping to be returned to those counties from which they came and be confined in the jails there. He bases his reason for this on the fact that their being kept in the pentientiary is a reflection on the law abiding people o fthe counties.

He further decreed that those being held on suspicion may be carried back to stand trial and those whose cases are on appeal must be carried back for re-sentences or new trials, as the supreme court decides. Letters to the sheriffs having prisoners in the penitentiary to come and get them were sent out by the governor this afternoon.

PLAY IS GIVEN BY SHORTER STUDENTS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., May 23.—The commencement exercises at Shorter college are now in progress. The first event will be the rendition of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" by students of expression and oral English.

This will take place in the open air amid the pines adjoining the suburban campus of the college, and which will be termed for the occasion the "Forest of Shorter."

Make-Believe Is Very Real in the Movie

OCTAVIA HANDWORTH.

BY GERTRUDE M. PRICE, The Daily Journal Moving Picture Expert.

Make-believe is sometimes too terribly real to be a laughing matter.

So says Miss Octavia Handworth, one of the leading women of the eastern Fathe company at Hoboken, N. Y.

"If you have ever had the sensation accompanying the second time down in deep water, you know what I mean when I say it is risky business to be a moving picture player," she said.

But this girl, who drives oxen and rides bronchos and falls down mountain sides, laughed merrily as she made the assertion, indicating that, though the experience may be perfectly terrifying at the time, the game is, nevertheless, very much worth the candle, as we say.

Miss Handworth knows how it feels to have a horse run away with her and she knows what it means to play all sorts of parts which require bravery as well as skill.

Don't you remember her in "The Moonshiners?"

Miss Handworth has an excellent voice and used to play with Weber and Fields. One day she caught the measles. Afterwards she had to give up singing for a time because the disease seemed to have affected her throat.

She went to the "movies."

BARRY OPPOSES SUTTON FOR CHIEF OF INSPECTORS

Former Supt. of Mails in Atlanta Is After Chief of Fourth Division's Job

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A lively contest is on between George Sutton and Robert E. Barry for chief postoffice inspector for the Fourth district, headquarters of which are at Atlanta.

Sutton is in Washington now working in his own benalf. He is the present chief of the division, and thinks that his record and his politics entitle him to to continue in this office.

He was appointed from Missouri, and He was appointed from Missouri, and Democrat. Some of his opponents charge, however, that he was aligned with the Bull Moose forces in the last campaign.

Barry is a Democrat and has served for many years in the postal service in the fourth division, part of the time as an inspector and part of the time as superintendent of mails of the Atlanta postoffice. He is strongly indorsed for the position of chief inspector.

The position is one that is controlled by no one senator or representative. The Fourth division embraces a number of southern states, and the chief inspector, though his headquarters are in Atlanta, is as much the servant of one state as another. Moreover, it has not been the policy of the postoffice department in the past to consult geography in selecting its postoffice inspectors.

CIVIL SERVICE SHAKE-UP DUE DURING NEXT WEEK

Former Telegraph Editor of Columbia State, of South Carolina, Lands Place

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON May 23.—The shake-up in the personnel of the civil service commission for which the Democrats have clamored since the inauguration of President Wilson is on its way and is due to arrive early next week, according to unofficial information at the White House.

The commission as it will be reconstituted by the president will be composed of John A. McIlhenney, of Louisiana; C. M. Galloway, of South Carolina, and George R. Wales, of Vermont.

McIlhenney is now on the commission and Wales has been its chief examiner for a number of years. Galloway is a newspaper man and before he came to Washington as secretary of Senator E. D. Smith, was telegraph editor of the Columbia State.

Although McIlhenney was appointed to the commission as a Democrat, it is stated that he is now a Bull Moose, having supported Colonel Roosevelt in the last election. He was a Rough Rider. Wales is a Vermont Republican and Galloway is, of course, a Democrat.

Wales and Galloway will succeed General John C. Black, of Illinois, who was appointed as a Democrat, but who has been a Bull Moose, and William S. Washburn of New York a Republican.

The Clearaway of Junior Suits

Junior Department—Third Floor

In making these new prices no thought has been taken of the excellent style points, of the real worth of the suits, or of the fact that those who need suits and who see these would gladly pay several dollars more than they are now marked.

But this is a Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. clearaway, and prices have been made accordingly. She who will travel this summer, she who will stay at home—both will want just such suits, and now is the opportunity for both to own them, and to save.

$30, $35, $37.50 Junior Suits $18.50

This includes all Junior Suits that were formerly priced between $30.00 and $37.50. A fine variety!

Silk poplins, Bedford cords, serges, shepherd checks—plain tailored suits, charming Balkan suits with elegant touches of trimmings.

All $25 & $27.50 Junior Suits $12.50

Which means not one but that is at least half price! There are shepherd checks, navy serges, striped weaves in black-and-white and brown-and-white, just as chic and smart as ever $25.00 and $27.50 suits have been this spring. Bulgarian blouses and tailored suits.

Here Is the Way Children's and Misses' Millinery Is Priced

Girls' hats that were $1.50 and $2.00 are 59c.

These are colored straws—in many shapes—trimmed with ribbons, bands and bows.

Girls' hats that were $2.50 are 95c.

Rough and fancy straws in a happy variety of shapes and trimmings—ribbons and flowers.

$5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 hats are $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50.

Fine choice here! Chip and Milan and rough straws, charmingly bedecked with flowers and ribbons, with a scattering fews of tailored hats.

The finer $10 and $12.50 hats are all $5.00.

All the better hats—the fanciful affairs that are trimmed by milliners who specialize in girls' hats, now $5.00. Choosing will be a delight—the shapes, the colors, the trimmings are so varied.

The New "Swim Easy" Bathing Suit Is Best for the Junior Miss

Because it is so very practical.

It is all a one-piece suit. The knickerbockers are attached to the skirt. It slips on over the head. There are but four buttons to the whole suit. Two at the waist—which is adjustable, may be made large or small, the fullness is taken up in a box plait down the front—two at the yoke.

And the "Swim Easy" is just as attractive as smart tailoring can make it. In black, red and navy, light weight mohair, trimmed with braids and folds.

Priced at $1.75, $2.25, $2.75, $3.00 to $4.50.

Sizes ten to eighteen years.

Girls' Bathing Suits at $1.00 and $1.50—These are the little bloomer suits without the skirts, in navy mohair—prettily trimmed around the collars and sleeves.

CLAUDE BENNETT HEADS THE SOUTHERN SOCIETY

Former Atlanta Journal Writer Succeeds R. P. Hobson in Washington Club

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Claude N. Bennett, formerly of Georgia, was last night elected president of the Southern Society of Washington, to succeed Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, resigned.

It is denied by members of the society that Mr. Hobson's resignation was the result of friction, though it is undoubtedly true that the Alabama congressman was displeased with the failure of the society to adopt his scheme for "broadening scope" to the work. Mr. Hobson's desire was to make the society non-sectional, and proposed amendment of this sort at a recent meeting. It was defeated.

Claude N. Bennett was formerly a well-known newspaper man, representing The Atlanta Journal as Washington correspondent. He served also as private secretary to Senator Hoke Smith, when he was secretary of the interior. In recent years he has devoted himself to the lecture platform and research work in Washington.

Senator and Mrs. Hoke Smith, Senator Vardaman, of Mississippi and Judge and Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, of Atlanta, were among the new members elected at last night's meeting of the society.

Governor Emmet O'Neal will deliver the address of welcome, the commencement sermon will be by Rt. Rev. Beverly Dandridge Tucker, coadjutor bishop of Virginia, and the commencement address by Edward Alsworth Ross, Ph.D., LL.D., of Madison, Wis.

WILL ATTACH FOUNTAINS TO CITY WATER PLUGS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 23.—Instead of the public drinking fountains situated on the main street corners, it is most probable that a system will be inaugurated which has been worked successfully in many northern cities.

That is to attach the fountains to the fire plugs. Instead of a solid cap, covering the opening, an attachment is placed, which, is connected with and upholds the fountain. This plan will not interfere with the operation of the plug in times of need, as the appliance can be removed as quickly as the regulation cap.

BOTH DOCTORS DISCOURAGED

Place—Hospital in Pueblo, Colo.
Case—Chronic Bright's Disease of fifteen years' development.
Prognosis—Recovery impossible and patient (a Mr. Gaden) was so advised and that he could remain or go home. He was taken home.

On arrival at Center, Colo., could not sit up alone in bed. A local physician was called. He, too, said he could not recover and prescribed for his heart.

It did not look like the patient could live a week when Fulton's Renal Compound was taken to him.

In ten days patient was sitting up, in twenty could walk outdoors, and made a slow but steady recovery. He weighed 190 pounds at last advices.

These facts were given us by his wife, Mrs. Mary Gaden, of Center, Colo.

If there is any other preparation in the world getting recoveries in chronic Bright's Disease we have yet to hear of it. If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Strank Edmondson & Bros., 11 N. Broad St., and 106 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

RIVERSIDE GETS NASH AS NEW COMMANDANT

Colonel J. Q. Nash, Noted Soldier Instructor, Goes to Riverside

J. Q. NASH.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 23.—President Sandy Beaver, of Riverside Military and Naval academy announced today that Colonel J. Q. Nash had been appointed commandant of cadets at Riverside and would assume his new duties June 1.

There are few cadet commanders better or more favorably known in the southern preparatory school circles than Colonel Nash. A born disciplinarian, school soldier and magnetic man, the cadets under his comand are always known for that snap and dash which is best characterized as the West Point style.

Colonel Nash, after graduating with first honor from Gordon college in the class of 1896, supplemented this training by work in laboratories, reading courses, travel and study in the north and east. He then entered school work, to which he has devoted his entire life and in which he has been eminently successful.

He has been detailed by the adjutant general of the national guard of Georgia as inspector and instructor in camp and target practice. He was detailed by the governor of Georgia to serve on the staff of the grand marshal at the inauguration of President Roosevelt and again at the inauguration of President Taft. He holds commissions with the national guard from second lieutenant to lieutenant colonel; also as assistant inspector general of Georgia.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DR. MARION LEE HALL.

Golden Text: "He that loveth his brother, abideth in the light."

It was not long before the supply of wheat they had brought from Egypt was exhausted, and the sons of Jacob found themselves on the verge of want. There was still no harvest, and the reports from Egypt, the source of their grain supply were anything but encouraging.

No doubt they had been discussing frequently the return, their father's attitude to it, Simeon's detention and the unexplainable fact of their money having been returned. This discussion grew more acute as it became evident that they would have to return. Their children were beginning to suffer for the lack of staple food. They had fruits and meats in abundance, but they lacked wheat. Israel would not consent to let Benjamin go, and the men would not consent to go without him. The prime minister had so impressed them with his firmness, that they knew it would be absolute folly for them to go back without Benjamin. They discussed the matter for several weeks, in fact, long enough for them to have made the trip if they had decided to go at once; until finally Judah agreed to be surety for Benjamin if his father would consent for him to go. Israel did not have much hope of ever seeing him again, but it was a case of absolute necessity, so he consented, saying, "If I am bereaved of my children, I am bereaved."

The fact that they were not in dire want is shown not only by the fact that they could afford such a trip, but also by the present that they carried to the prime minister. I do not think that they were trying to buy his favor. It was customary for one in visiting another to bring a gift. Their gift was evidence of their loyalty in visiting another ruler. Besides this, they brought back the money which had been returned (to show their honesty) and an equal amount with which to purchase other supplies. But most important of all, they brought Benjamin. (It may be forcing an interpretation, but I am impressed with this truth just here. No gift that we can bring to Christ will demand His favor, unless we bring "Benjamin," because He has commanded that).

JOSEPH'S POWER.

The journey was over. When they reached the palace they were ushered into the presence of the chief steward of the prime minister. They were extremely discomfited, particularly when they heard that they were to be carried to the house of the prime minister himself. They began to make explanation of the money that had been found in their sacks, assuring them that they knew nothing of it, and trying to absolve themselves from any blame. The answer of the chief steward is quite remarkable, and showed better than anything else the spiritual power that Joseph was exercising. Listen to his words: "Peace be to you. Fear not, your God and the God of your father hath given you treasure in your sacks. I had your money."

Think of such a statement coming from a servant of a heathen court. There is but one explanation to offer for it. Can you supply it? Could it have happened then for any other reason than that Joseph had exercised his opportunities and had taught those about him to know and fear his God and the God of his father?

Then to reach them he brought Simeon out and restored him to them. When they found their brother, who had been held as a hostage, strong and well, they began to recognize that in some strange way they were in the hands of their friends, but just how they could not tell. And then the steward had them prepare for the noon meal, at which they learned was to be taken in the house of the prime minister. The asses of their caravan were unloaded and fed, and they themselves were royally treated.

JOSEPH'S TENDERNESS.

When the prime minister reached home at noon everything was in readiness for him. When they were brought into his presence they bowed themselves to the ground before him and presented their gifts. The prime minister was particularly interested in their welfare, asking minutely of their father, to all of which questions they replied. When he saw Benjamin he was overcome. You must remember that it had been about twenty years since he had seen the boy, who was quite small when he left. I think there may have been some resemblance to his mother that opened the gates of Joseph's heart and completely overcame him. He had to leave the room hastily and wept from joy and also from the sweet remembrance of the past. Then he washed his face and went back, restraining himself, and ordered the meal to be served.

Jacob's sons were very much surprised to note that in the arrangements which explained the attitude of the brothers. Their eyes were blinded by sin. Sin explained their distress and their discomfort; Sin made them dense so that they could not see the prime minister as their friend and their brother.

And just here lies the practical lesson. Every day some proof of God's grace has been given to you, but you have been so dense that you have not seen the Giver in it. You have not realized who He is or what He is, and you have been discomforted and distressed and discouraged. If you were but cleansed by the Blood of Christ, if you would but yield your life to him, repenting of your sin, you would find that all the time you have been in the presence of your Elder Brother whose every desire is for your good. May it be granted to you that however you may have, as Joseph had, the consciousness of Gd's presence always.

Arrested, Indicted, Tried, Convicted and Sentenced Same Day

(By Associated Press.)

MADISONVILLE, Ky., May 23.—A speed record for justice in this community was established yesterday when Will Wright was arrested, indicted, tried, convicted and sentenced for horse stealing, all in something less than two hours.

Wright was arrested at the Louisville and Nashville railroad yards here yesterday just after he had disposed of a horse and buggy at a price so low as to arouse suspicion.

Deputy Sheriff Powers, being minus a warrant, took his prisoner to the court house, had a warrant issue, secured an indictment from the grand jury which was in session at that hour, took his name before Judge Gordon, where he was tried, found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary.

The horse and buggy, it was alleged, belonged to a liveryman at Central City, Ky.

President's Car Is Used For Slumming Parties in Capital

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—"Slumming" in the automobile of the president of the United States almost has ceased to be a novelty and today Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, society woman, reformer and friend of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, for the second time in two days will conduct a party of investigators to the squalid section of the capital in a White House car.

This luxury of travel was made possible through the generosity of Mrs. Wilson, who placed the car at the disposal of Mrs. Hopkins.

In Mrs. Hopkins' party yesterday were Senator Hollis, of New Hampshire; Mrs. Owens, wife of the senator from Oklahoma, and Mrs. Somerene, wife of the senator from Ohio.

The investigations are being conducted under the direction of the woman's section of the National Civic Federation. The investigators now are at work on proposed legislation for the elimination of alleys, and narrow streets that disfigure certain sections of the capital.

APPLICATION FOR BANK CHARTER

GEORGIA, Fulton County—To the Honorable Philip Cook, Secretary of State, Atlanta, Ga.: The undersigned, citizens of this state, signed by each of them, and residences are hereto attached, hereby make their petition, in pursuance of an act of the general assembly of the state of Georgia, approved December 20th, 1905, and acts amendatory thereof, respectfully show:

1st. That we desire to form a corporation for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking.

2d. The name and style of the proposed corporation shall be Atlanta State Savings Bank.

3d. The location and principal place of business shall be the city of Atlanta, county of Fulton and state of Georgia.

4th. The amount of capital stock is twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00), divided into 2,500 shares of $10.00 each.

5th. That the nature of the proposed corporation shall be that of a bank, with continuous existence for twenty years, with the privilege of the right of renewal for a like term. To sue and be sued. To have and use a common seal, and at pleasure to alter the same. To appoint such officers and agents as the business of the corporation may require, to define their duties, fix their compensation and remove them at pleasure. To make such by-laws as may be necessary or proper for the management of its property and regulation of its affairs. To hold, purchase, dispose of and convey such real estate and personal property as may be necessary for its use and business. To discount bills, notes and other evidences of debt; to receive and pay on deposits, with or without interest, to receive on special deposit money or bullion or foreign coins or stocks or bonds or other securities; to buy or sell foreign exchange, or other articles of like legal salable nature; to lend money upon personal security, or upon pledges of bonds, stocks or negotiable securities; to take and receive security by mortgage, or otherwise, on property, real or personal; and generally, to do and perform all such other matters and things not hereinbefore enumerated as are or may be incident to the business of banking.

We herewith enclose the charter fee of $50.00, and pray to be incorporated under the laws of this state.

Signed:

J. O. Ross, Atlanta, Ga.; J. O. Connally, Atlanta, Ga.; Wm. Driskell, Atlanta, Ga.; J. W. Woodall, Hogansville, Ga.; David T. Howard, Atlanta, Ga.; M. E. Berry, Atlanta, Ga.; P. A. WOOD APPROVED PAYMENT FOR DYNAMITE PLANTING

Checks and Vouchers Introduced to Show Am. Woolen Mills Paid Conspirators

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, May 23.—Checks and vouchers for several payments made by the American Woolen company to Frederick E. Atteaux were introduced by the state this morning at the opening of today's session of the trial of Atteaux, William M. Wood and Dennis J. Collins.

The first of the vouchers showed the payment of $505 to Atteaux "for expenses incurred during the Lawrence strike." This was drawn on March 22, 1912. Another check for $2,160 was drawn on June 26, this being marked "in full for all claims to date."

The vouchers indicated that the payments were authorized by President Wood. Both checks were indorsed with Atteaux's signature.

The exhibits were offered in support of the government's claim that the defendants conspired with John J. Breen and Ernest W. Pittman to "plant" dynamite in the homes of the strikers at Lawrence in order to give the impression to the public that the strikers contemplated blowing up the American Woolen company's mill.

The state attempted to show that President Wood was involved and that the American Woolen company, through Wood, had helped pay the expenses of the conspiracy.

Edward B. Lynch, paying teller of the Federal Trust company, of this city, where Atteaux has funds on deposit, took the stand and identified Atteaux's signature on four or five papers which District Attorney J. C. Pelletier offered as exhibits. Henry F. Hurlburt, of counsel for Mr. Wood, objected to their admission as evidence against his client.

He argued that the exhibits were not competent until some connection had been established between the papers and the alleged conspiracy. The district attorney replied that the papers would speak for themselves and would show the payment of money from one defendant to another.

Judge Crosby admitted the exhibits with the understanding that they would be competent only in the event that some connection between the papers and the alleged conspiracy should be established by evidence.

The district attorney read the papers to the jury. One of them was the check for $505, drawn on the National Shawmut bank, of Boston, payable to and indorsed by Atteaux and signed "American Woolen company, W. A. Currier, assistant treasurer."

Accompanying the check was an American Woolen company voucher, on which Atteaux's signature appeared and was a receipt for $505 "for expenses incurred during the Lawrence strike," according to the inscription on it.

WORDS APPROVAL.

The voucher also bore the words "Approved—William M. Wood, president."

Another exhibit was a check for $2,160 drawn on the Beacon Trust company, Boston, on June 26, 1912, payable to and indorsed by Atteaux. This check bore the signature of William H. Dwelley, Jr., treasurer of the American Woolen company. The voucher which accompanied the check bore the approval of Mr. Wood and an inscription on it said, "In full for all claims to date."

The district attorney then called William H. Dwelley, Jr., treasurer of the American Woolen company, and questioned him. Mr. Dwelley told of being called into Mr. Wood's office one day when the latter told him that he had settled in full with Atteaux. At Mr. Wood's direction, Dwelley made out the check and voucher. That was the day, he said, on which the company was paying the attorney in connection with Lawrence strike affairs.

Dwelley testified to having heard Atteaux offer his services to Mr. Wood in an effort to settle the strike.

Dwelley was questioned regarding the payment of United Seed accounts. Except for the purchase of merchandise, Dwelley said it was the company's rule not to require an itemized account for expenses incurred by any officer or any regular or special employe of the company.

The witness said he had known Atteaux twenty years. He often saw him at the office of the American Woolen company both before and during the strike.

The district attorney endeavored to learn from Dwelley when he saw Atteaux with relation to the discovery of dynamite at Lawrence on January 20, 1912. The witness could not recall the dates of Atteaux's call and said that Atteaux might have called at the woolen company's office at that time. The witness said that he thought Atteaux was at the company's office about January 25.

Dwelley said he did not think Atteaux called on Wood at the company's office between the day the strike began, January 11, 1912, and the day the dynamite was found, because, he said, Mr. Wood was ill.

"What were Mr. Atteaux's special services in connection with the strike?" was asked.

ATLANTA WOMAN'S DESIGN

The above is a photograph of the Montgomery monument to be unveiled at Chickamauga.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 2.—AMONG the brilliant affairs that will make the United Confederate veterans' reunion to be held in Chattanooga May 27-29, memorable, will be the unveiling of the first monument erected upon the battlefield of Chickamauga by Alabama, whose troops bore the brunt of that terrible engagement. This monument has been erected by the Ladies' Memorial association of Montgomery—the very oldest of all the southern patriotic societies. The work being under the direct control of a committee of the association known as the Chickamauga Monument committee, with plenipotentiary powers.

Committee is composed of seven very distinguished women; the chairman, Mrs. Towns Randolph Leigh, is, by marriage, of the Lee-Leigh family of Virginia, while through her mother she is the granddaughter of one of the victims of "Order No. 11." She is the brilliant historian of the Alabama division, U. D. C. Her articles appearing in the Montgomery Advertiser, are being copied by the New York papers with favorable comments.

Another member is Mrs. Anne Goldthwaite Seibels, the beloved and revered president of the Memorial association, and the sister of "Dick Goldthwaite," who helped win Chickamauga with his brilliant charge of Semple's battery on September 19, and who commanded the battery after the night of the 19th, when Semple was promoted for gallantry. Mrs. Seibels is the widow of Colonel Emmett Seibels, of the Seventh South Carolina regiment.

Another member is Miss Pauline Hausman, daughter of a devoted "mother of the Confederacy," and whose father was one of the most successful blockade runners and who supplied the hospitals of Montgomery with the best coffee during the whole war. Miss Hausman is second vice president of the Memorial association.

RAISES $300 FUND.

Another member is Mrs. George Raoul (Sadie Crommelin Robinson) who was the youngest member of the association working for the fund to raise the monument and who succeeded in raising "all by herself" the sum of over $300 for the fund. She is by marriage the niece of Miss Theus Raoul, who fired the cannon that announced Alabama's secession from the union, and who raised the money to equip the soldiers of General James Clanton's regiment of cavalry.

Another member is Mrs. John W. A. Sanford, Jr., the daughter-in-law of Georgia's own distinguished son, General John W. A. Sanford, of Milledgeville. Mrs. Sanford is a devoted worker in the cause.

Another member is Mrs. Richard P. Dexter, whose father-in-law was one of Columbus' most beloved and honored citizens. Mrs. Dexter in her own right is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Carnot Bellinger, of Montgomery, who gave to the southern cause its first hospital and the first "soldiers' home." Mrs. Dexter is the first vice president of the Memorial association.

ATLANTA WOMAN.

Beyond the naturally patriotic interest Atlanta might feel in this Montgomery affair, comes a touch that "makes us kin," the last member of this group of patriotic workers is—an Atlanta woman! She is not only a member of the committee; she has had the honor to design the monument, which has been declared by the retiring secretary of war, Stimson, and the park commission, to be the most beautiful shaft on the grounds, taking into consideration its size and cost! Miss Toccoa Cozart, the designer of the monument, was born in Atlanta just previous to the Civil war. Her father, Wiley P. M. Cozart, was a young merchant who died when she was a babe.

Her grandfather, Hubbard Cozart, was one of Atlanta's most distinguished citizens, a contemporary of Richard Peters, of Isaac Winship and that group of men who laid the foundations of Atlanta so well. Miss Cozart through her grandmother, is related to the great Turner family of Maryland and Georgia. Through her grandfather, Hubbard Cozart, she bears yet more distinguished blood, the "Cossart-Cossatt-Cozart families having produced Andrew J. Cassett the great railroad president; Miss Mary Cassatt, a sister of A. J., is acknowledged to be "the foremost living portrait painter of America," thus we see the tendency in the Cozart blood to art.

Dr. James, president of the University of Illinois, is also of this Cozart family through his mother. In Pere La Chaise, the historic cemetery of Paris France, rests under a stone erected by Paris in his honor, a Cozart, one of the very rst sculptors of France. Since the death of her father, Miss Cozart has spent much of her life in Montgomery with her mother's family. Once an Atlantian always faithful, says she, so she claims two homes, for she is much beloved of her aunts, Mrs. William A. Bass, Mrs. M. Harralson, Mrs. Susie Cozart Fraser, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Ella Cozart Trotti of Decatur. She is a cousin of Miss Kate Harralson, the accomplished music director of the Atlanta public schools.

LABOR OF LOVE.

This monument, the labor of love of Montgomery's historic association, was to have been unveiled last June on Jefferson Davis' birthday, but owing to the fact that the re-union had just been held in Macon and at the formal request of the Montgomery camps of veterans, the unveiling was postponed until the coming re-union, when General Bennett Young, commander in chief of U. C. V. has made it a special feature of the re-union. The monument has been erected on Kelly's Field, not far from "The Bloody Pond." It marks the position of the "Confederates," just thirty-six yards from the Thirty-sixth Ohio monument.

It is of deep interest to all Georgians to know that Marietta's quarries gave up the most perfect specimens of "Georgia grey marble" for this shaft—it is absolutely flawless!

It is also of deep interest to Georgians to know that the draftsman who perfected Miss Cozart's design, is also a Georgian, Mr. J. B. Mell, a grandson of the grand old Chancellor Mell, of Athens! Miss Cozart found congenial co-laborers in Mr. Mell and Mr. E. C. Rammage, the contractor for the monument. These gentlemen afforded every assistance in carrying out the wishes of the committee. Mr. Rammage is the son of a Confederate veteran who fought beside four brothers on the bloody field of Chickamauga; he said that the monument was "a labor of love and memory and would accept not a cent in remuneration for his part of the work!

Dr. Evans, of Chattanooga caught a vision of the souls of the builders of this monument and this is his comment: "It is one of the handsomest monuments ever erected, as a work of art it has a warmth of feeling about it that bespeaks the real feeling of those who designed and executed it."

DIGNIFIED SIMPLICITY

The general design of the shaft is that of dignified simplicity. From three lessening bases a great plinth rises to support the tapering shaft which lifts its grey purity to a height of over thirty feet. The corners of the plinth are decorated with cannon, simulating columns, resting on cannon balls. Unsheathed swords thrust through a laurel wreath decorate one face, another bears crossed bayonets, the third face carries crossed, furled battle flags—in honor of Father Ryan's Immortal poem, "The Conquered Banner," the real face of the monument bears the following inscription:

"In tender memory of Alabama soldiers who fought and fell on Chickamauga Battlefield."

This shaft shall point to those exciting scenes

And visions, long since flown;
For Memory is the only friend
That Grief can call its own."

On the base, just below the inscription, is the word "ALABAMA."

On the reverse, is the word, "MONTGOMERY."

On the right, is the legend, "HERE WE REST."

On the left, the fateful date, "September, 19-20, 1863."

BRYCE EXPRESSES LOVE FOR AMERICAN PEOPLE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—James Bryce, former ambassador from Great Britain, just before leaving American soil, sent back from San Francisco a letter of appreciation and affection to the American people. The letter, made public today, was in reply to one from residents of Washington expressing their regret at his leaving. It referred to his well known interest in plans for beautification of the national capital.

"I am glad to think that an Englishman who loves the United States and its people," the former envoy wrote, 'is not debarred in an official position from taking in all your projects for the artistic development of the national capital an interest as keen as any that your own citizens could take."

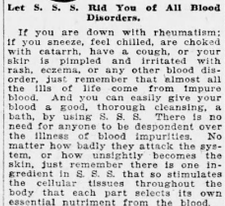
Spring Time Is Blood Cleaning Time

Wonderful How Quickly Your Entire System Awakens When the Blood is Cleansed.



Let S. S. S. Rid You of All Blood Disorders.

If you are down with rheumatism; if you sneeze, feel chilled, are choked with catarrh, have a cough, or your skin is pimpled and irritated with rash, eczema, or any other blood disorder, just remember that almost all the ills of life come from impure blood. And you can easily give your blood a good, thorough cleansing, a bath, by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be despondent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system, or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each part selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

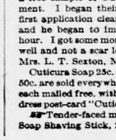
This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to constructive medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line. For many years people relied upon mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic, "physics," cathartics and "dope" as remedies for blood sickness, but now the pure, vegetable S. S. S. is their safeguard.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. And you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist freely and confidentially, address the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Company, 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

THICK RED RASH ON HEAD AND CHEST

And Arms. Itched so Scratched Skin Off. Pitiful to See. Mass of Sores. Had to Handle Him on a Pillow. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Well in a Week.

1606 Isabella Ave., Knoxville, Tenn.—"Last summer when my baby was only a few weeks old his head, chest and arms broke out with what appeared at first to be prickly heat, a very fine thick red rash. In a few days a brown scale formed over the affected surface, and just after this small boils appeared on his head. His head was hot and itched so intensely that he would scratch the skin off wherever he could get his hands. He scratched the blood out of his face, his eyes began to get sore, and he was pitiful to see. His head, chest, and arms were a mass of sores. I had to handle him on a pillow, and then he was in so much pain he could hardly sleep and was so fretful it took nearly all my time to care for him.



"I tried several remedies which all seemed to make him worse. He had been in this condition about three weeks when I received a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I began their use at once and the first application cleaned his head perfectly and he began to improve from that very hour. I got some more and in a week he was well and not a scar left on him." Florida's Great Drainage Project.

One of the interesting measures now before the Florida legislature is a drainage bill, calling for a bond issue of six million dollars with which it is purposed to reclaim the famous Everglades. News dispatches indicate that the bill is encountering stout opposition, not, however, because of any question as to the importance of feasibility of the enterprise itself, but because of a doubt in the minds of some of the legislators that the fund proposed is sufficient for the work required. They contend that before the amount of the bond issue is fixed, the special drainage commission now at work on estimates should be heard from. It is predicted that a special session of the General Assembly will be called later in the year to deal with this matter conclusively, and friends of the reclamation project, prominent among whom are Governor Trammell himself, are confident that in one form or another it will be carried to completion.

Georgians have particular cause to be interested in such undertakings; for their State, next to Florida, has a larger area of swamp and overflow land than any other commonwealth on the Atlantic coast. Within the past few years drainage associations have been formed in a number of counties by farmers and business men who realize the vast amount of good that can thus be accomplished. Lands which are useless and which are also a menace to public health can be converted by proper drainage methods into productive acres that are a rich asset not only to their individual owners, but to the community and the State as well.

The fact that Florida is considering a great bond issue to reclaim its swamp land should stimulate the legislature of Georgia to definite and liberal action in this regard. Our problems can be solved far more easily and cheaply than those of our neighbor State. It is essential, however, that the Legislature perfect the drainage law now existing and lend its aid to the separate districts in carrying forward this important work.

No Blue Spectacles For U. S.

The following editorial utterance is interesting within itself and is particularly so because it is that of the ever-conservative Washington Post:

"We have no desire to underrate the influence of Wall Street; it is powerful, it is strong, it is widespread, but it no longer exercises the control of business men of the country as it once did. It no longer dominates the sentiment of the country as it did in days gone by. Year by year it grows fainter in efforts to compel the business men of the North, of the South, of the East or the West to put on blue spectacles when it desires them to feel particularly sad. Wall Street, in the language of its own, is "up against it" in its local gloom and the country is doing business at the same old stand in a grand and glorious way."

There are folk who can never be happy except when they are miserable and there are interests who find it to their special advantage now and then to bestir a spirit of apprehension or alarm, if they can; and this, they always seek to do when any of their particular privileges are about to be shorn away. They have invariably answered a demand for tariff reductions with a cry of "business depression or ruin." They are like the family of peas in Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tale, which decided, when they began to grow yellow in their pod, that the whole world was turning yellow, too.

But, as the Post remarks, Wall Street views and wishes no longer dominate the country's business sentiment. When the railroads have more traffic than they handle, when exports are brisk and crops are promising, the country refuses to be dismayed or disturbed by the inspired prophets of gloom.

The Chief Source of Railroad Accidents.

A bulletin recently issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission on railroad accidents during the months of July, August and September, 1912, is rich in interesting and suggestive figures. It shows, for instance, that sixty-eight per cent of the derailments occurring within that period were due to defective equipment, such as broken rails or faulty wheels.

This is valuable information because it indicates more or less precisely the course that must be taken by the railroads' themselves to prevent so large a number of accidents. The operation of trains, it would seem, is for the most part skilled and careful, Signal systems and safety devices are apparently yielding substantial results. The Commission's report, as published in dispatches, does not set forth the causes, other than defective equipment, to which accidents are accountable but it is evident from the figures given that unsound rails and wheels are the great source of danger.

It is to theinterest of the roads as well as that of the public that the most vigorous measures possible be taken to strengthen these weak points; for, it is calculated that the damage to equipment and roadway during the three months mentioned amounted to three million, three hundred and sixty-six thousand, four hundred and one dollars. That is a staggering price to pay for negligence, if negligence be responsible, or for whatever may have been the cause of this great destruction or property.

The consideration of highest importance, of course, is the tragic loss of life and the immeasurable suffering which these accidents entail. Two hundred and eighty-eight persons were killed and four thousand, five hundred and ninety-eight were injured during July, August and September, 1912, an increase over the corresponding period of the preceding year of eighty-seven in the killed and three hundred and fifteen in the injured. Such losses are beyond compensation or repair; and they are a loss not only to individuals and families but also to the human and economic interests of the country as a whole.

Despite the woeful record of the Commission for the three months reviewed, there are reassuring omens that substantial progress in preventing railway accidents is being made. The loss of property and life is still appalling, but it is appreciably less than it was a decade or two ago. Travel is undoubtedly growing securer. The public is more insistent that its safety be regarded and the government is more watchful of public interests. The railroads themselves are doing more to meet their responsibilities in this regard. While some of them are still backward or unresponsive to the people's demands, the great majority of progressive lines and systems are giving this matter their earnest thought and energy.

It is well, therefore, for us to remember that, though a vast deal remains to be done in assuring safe travel, much good has already been accomplished; that the efforts of the government in this direction have not been in vain and that honest endeavors on the part of the roads are not without gratifying results.

The important thing is that these efforts should continue unceasing until the perils that now beset travel are reduced to a minimum; and this is not a hopeless or fanciful task but one that is as practical as it is all important.

The recording angel seldom keeps up with his job if men and women were credited with all their good intentions.

Special Bottles Needed For Poisonous Drugs

The case of the wealthy and widely beloved Macon citizen who came to his death as the result of having taken by mistake a tablet of bichloride of mercury has aroused public thought the country over to the need of surer means or devices for identifying poisonous drugs. This is a matter that vitally concerns thousands of households. It should be given the earnest attention of public officials and legislators.

The suggestion has been made that bottles of some distinctive color and touch be required for all poisonous substances, so that they could be recognized in the dark as well as the light. A bottle of sharply pointed or roughened surface would probably be valuable in this connection. Certain it is that some definite steps toward preventing such tragic mistakes should be taken at the next session of the General Assembly.

Editorials In Brief

An agricultural report in Minnesota shows that the acreage of the average farm in that State in 1890 was 159.7 and is now 177; so either the efficient farmer is getting the land of the inefficient or else the efficient man is going to town and letting the other fellow have the land. AT THE END OF THE RAINBOW

"Mr. Spiffington has married Lucretia Highway," announced the landlady, "and I can't say much for his taste. I really believe she's the homeliest girl in the neighborhood. She has a muddy complexion and a crooked nose and her hair looks like jute."

"Yet I have no doubt, my dear Mrs. Jiggers," said the star boarder, "that in the eyes of Lorenzo Spiffington she is a gem of the purest ray serene. After all, beauty is perishable freight and has little value. A man marries a beautiful woman merely because she is beautiful, and the first thing he knows her complexion turns yellow and her nose red, and then he is so disgusted that he begs her to go home to her parents and give him a chance to forget the melancholy past. There is no greater remedy than this, and it is a tragedy that is being enacted in countless homes even as we go to press.

"Mr. Spiffington's bride has the advantage of knowing that she can't look any worse than she does now, and the chances are that she will improve in appearance. Homely women always have that advantage over beautiful ones. Lucretia is an eminently sensible girl. I have known her ever since she was knee high. Early in life she realized that her face was going to be a serious handicap. She knew that her sunny smiles and winning ways never would capture a bridegroom, so she sat down in her boudoir and figured on the best plan to make herself attractive and fascinating. She concluded, after consulting her parents and a few select friends, including myself, that if she made herself a firstclass cook she would be irresistible, and her reasoning was sound.

"She took up cookery as other girls take up water color painting or music, and studied it diligently. She bought cook books instead of the novels of Bertha M. Clay. She passed her spare hours in the family kitchen instead of swinging on the front gate waiting for some handsome young man to come along. As she grew up her fame began to spread. People who were invited to meals at the Highway home devoted most of their time thereafter to scheming for further invitations.

"I have eaten there several times myself, and when I tasted Lucretia's doughnuts, Mrs. Jiggers, I burst into tears. The idea of going back to a boarding house and consuming doughnuts which tasted like handcuffs unmanned me for the time being. Only a few women in this country know how to make doughnuts as they should be made, and Lucretia's name leads all the rest. The doughnut, when properly compounded and cooked, is the noblest work of woman; when it is fashioned after the boarding house blue prints, it is a crime against society. When I think of the doughnuts Spiffington will be privileged to eat I feel that he is the most fortunate of men.

"Lucretia excels in every branch of cookery as she does in doughnuts. Her pies are poems, Mrs. Jiggers. Everything she dishes up is calculated to make a man forget his troubles and sing a roundelay. Yet yo speak sympathetically of her husband because her complexion isn't the admiration of all beholders. In the shortsighted manner of your sex you speak of her crooked nose, forgetting the pancakes she knows how to prepare. You point the finger of scorn at her hair, overlooking the fact that she knows how to compound the old-fashioned beefsteak pie, such as our sainted mothers used to dish up in their inspired moments.

"You speak of her marriage as though she were fortunate in securing a husband, evidently unaware of the fact that most of the unmarried men and widowers in this ward have proposed to her at one time or another. I was disappointed in love in my youth and vowed that I should never marry, but after eating some of Lucretia's pancakes I forgot my vow and proposed to her. I proposed to her three times and was turned down with the regularity of clockwork. When a woman will reject such a suitor as myself it follows that she places a proper valuation upon herself. The grocer on the corner, after eating supper at Highway's house, told Lucretia that he'd be glad to get a divorce from his wife if she'd marry him. Three prominent citizens attempted to abduct her and were foiled.

"The demand for this admirable young woman was far in excess of the supply, yet you speak as though she played in great luck getting a husband. I gave you credit for more intelligence, Mrs. Jiggers."

Where Are the Good Old Terms?

(Kansas City Times.)

What has become of the old fashioned parent who referred to the chastisement of his son as "givin' Bill his needin's?"

When Little Bill's mother would say, "Never mind, young man, when your pa comes home you will get your needin's," Little Bill knew what that meant. Not perhaps that Little Bill was ready to concede that he really needed to be led into the smokehouse after supper and chastised for some breach of discipline committed just after breakfast, but he knew the meaning of the term. He had been given his "needin's" with sufficient frequency to learn the meaning of the word.

And at shcool when Little Bill was told by a frowning teacher to "remain at recess," the kid was certain to be hailed when he did appear on the playground with, "Hey, Bill Jones, did you get your needin's?"

And there was that other good old word of "come-uppin's." Those who thought that "needin's" was a vulgar term, doing violence to the classic, used the high brow expression of "come-uppin's."

"It's about time that boy got his come-uppin's if they expect to keep him out of the penitentiary," the neighbors would say of the proverbial tough kid of the town. It conveyed in a general way the same meaning to Little Bill—to all Little Bills—as "needin's," but specifically it was meant to convey the impression that judgment once for all should be meted out to one whose departure from the straight and narrow way had reached a critical point.

If the mother's frequent administration of "needin's," and the teacher's influence at school had failed to keep Little Bill from "playing hookey," and from violating the curfew ordinance, and from being the welterweight champion of the town kids, then it was high time for father to go into executive session with Little Bill and give him his "come-uppin's"—good and a plenty.

In all the recent discussion of what to do with Little Bill in the Speaking the Public Mind column of the Star, not one mention was made of the two old fashioned terms, "needin's" and "come-uppin's."

The Greatest Authority on The Evolution of Games

In the "Interesting People" department of the June American Magazine appears an article about Stewart Culin, the wonder working ethnologist of the Brooklyn Institute museum, who has gathered together, with insufficient funds, exhibits that are the envy of wealthier nations. Following is an extract from the article:

"Mr. Culin's most brilliant achievement in science has been the unraveling of the evolution of games. In this work he has literally studied games of all nations and of all times. Of his many publications on this subject two deserve special mention, because of their importance and lasting scientific value. One is 'Korean Games,' with notes on the games of China and Japan, a publication of the department of archeology and Paleontology of the University of Pennsylvania. This is a beautifully printed and handsomely illustrated volume, many of the illustrations being in color. Culin's second great work is on 'The Games of the North American Indians,' a book of some eight hundred and fifty pages, published by the bureau of American ethnology.

"He knows Chinese psychology and customs so well that when he was a witness in a case involving members of secret societies, it was thought that he must have been a member at some time. Culin was the friend of young Chinese, here as students, who are now leaders in the new republic. Culin's knowledge of their unselfish liberalism made him a prophet of the overthrow of the Chinese empire when the forecast seemed almost absurd."

Went the Russians One Better

(From the Saturday Evening Post.)

The Cramps built a cruiser for the Russian government some years ago, and there were a number of Russian naval officers at the yard during the course of its construction.

After the boat had been accepted the Russians gave a dinner in Washington to celebrate the event and invited the builders and the men who had furnished armor plate, and so on.

When it came time for toasts the Russians proposed the health of the czar, drank it, and crashed their glasses on the floor. This amazed the Americans, who asked why the Russians were breaking the glassware in that fashion.

"Because," it was explained, "that is the custom of our country. Whenever we drink to the czar we break the glasses so they may never be profaned by any less worthy toast."

Two days later the steel men gave a return dinner. The time for toasts came and the head steel man gave one to the president of the United States.

After the toast had been drunk the head steel man grabbed the tablecloth, yanked it from the table and sent everything on it to the floor. The noise could be heard two blocks away.

"Why do you do that?" asked the astonished Russians.

"Because," said the head steel man. "when we drink the health of the president of the United States we not only break the glasses but everything else on the table!"

WITH THE MIRTH RAKERS

While a young American was on a trip abroad he visited the country home of a friend, and among the other guests was a prominent Englishman.

During their visit he and the Englishman became good friends.

One day the American's curiosity was aroused as he heard his friend refer to an umbrella repeatedly as a "jag."

Upon inquiry the Englishman remarked:

"Why, that is an American word; I picked it up when I was in New York last winter. THE INCOME TAX

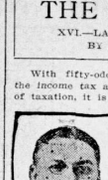
XVI.—LAWS IN OTHER COUNTRIES.
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.



With fifty-odd countries already having adopted the income tax as a part of their permanent system of taxation, it is interesting to note that in the past quarter of a century no nation that has adopted such a tax has repealed it. Ten of these countries have national as well as local income tax laws. The average date of the enactment of such laws is 1881, although a large majority of the countries had laws many decades ago. Taking twenty countries for average it is found that the average rate is about 4 per cent, that one person out of fifty pays the tax, and that, counting the families of these taxpayers, about one person in ten is affected by it. When the United States had its Civil war income tax law in force the exemption was placed at $1,000 during the years between 1867 and 1870, and yet only one person out of each 150 had to pay the tax. In looking for guiding lights in governmental matters the eye of the student nearly always turns to Australia and New Zealand, for there one finds much of the world's pioneer progressive legislation. The income tax laws of these countries are no exception. They are characterized by high exemptions, liberal graduations and sharp differentiation between labor-produced and capital-produced incomes. When the English committee was investigating such matters in 1906 it called in T. M. Coghlan, who had helped frame these Antipodean laws. Among other things he did was to furnish an estimate of what the New South Wales land tax and income tax would bring in in the way of revenues. In the London inquiry he testified that he had estimated correctly to within less than 1 per cent. His testimony was to the effect that the laws have worked well in practice, and that practically every contrary prediction has been discounted. For instance, when it was proposed to tax capital-produced income more heavily than labor-produced income, it was widely predicted that the effect would be to drive capital out of the country. He testified that no such effect has been noted. Labor produced, or earned incomes, are there called "personal exertion" incomes. It was feared that there would be a great difficulty in distinguishing between capital-produced and labor-produced incomes where a man manages the business in which his capital is invested. They get around this rather neatly, as the way the farmers are assessed will show. The part of the income which arises from the land is considered as the equivalent of the interest on the capital invested in the land, and the remainder of the income is supposed to arise from the "personal exertions" of the farmer.

• • •

In Victoria the exemption is $972. For the first $2,432 above that the tax is a little less than 1 1-2 per cent, and this increases with each successive increase of income until it reaches its maximum of about 3 per cent on all incomes above $10,000. Incomes from property are taxed at double rates.

• • •

In Austria (coming back to Europe) there is a tax on general earnings, a tax on corporate earnings, and a general income and salary tax. The rates vary, but go as high as 10 per cent. There is a provision which authorizes the government to enter into income tax reciprocity treaties with other countries, so that there shall be no double taxation of incomes between nations. Under this provision Germany and Austria have entered into such a treaty whereby income from land is to be assessed only where the land is situated, and income from personal property only in the land of actual domicile. This is probably the first such treaty in the history of the income tax. Taxable income is declared to be the sum of all revenues in money or "in money's worth" to the individual, including the rental value of his house and the provender his family consumes. Gifts and inheritances are not considered as income and reasonable life insurance premiums may be deducted from the gross income. Interest on debts is also deducted. There is an exemption of 200 crowns, and no one with an income of less than 2,000 crowns is required to make a report unless asked to do so. "Money's worth" is a good deal of a poser for the man who figures his income. Technically it is held that the value of a dinner given by one official to another is required to be included in income. There is no provision as to secrecy. Tax dodging is punishable by a fine of from two to nine times the tax. The Austrian law is generally pronounced as looking good on paper, but being at least a partial failure in practice. It is estimated that tax dodging is so general that certainly not more than half of the taxable income is reached, and that this may fall even as low as a third. This is attributed to the fact that the sentiment of the people is too overwhelmingly against the tax to permit of its efficient enforcement.

• • •

Italy has an income tax law that embodies the features of stoppage at the course and differentiation, but the rates levied are very high, so high, in fact, that the administration of the law has largely broken down in the face of them. The Italian rate is higher than the rates in England and Germany, and yet the yield is only a third as great as that of England and half as great as that of Germany. Of course these two countries are richer than Italy, and land incomes are not taxed in Italy, but even these things do not explain the great disproportion. It is attributed to fraud. Tax doging is almost universal. The people regard the law as the "code of financial torture." One writer says that the Italian taxpayer is the most patient human animal on the face of the earth, even he cannot stand the burdens of the income tax. The tax goes even as high as 15 and 20 per cent, and, of course, the people dodge it. The worst dodgers are said to be professional men, and of them it has been said that the diversities and undulations of their consciences attain a degree of refinement of which only the higher talents are capable. Publicity was tried as a cure for dodging, and it failed. It has been said that the only thing that would surprise an Italian would be to find that his neighbor had returned his true income, or had been assessed in any degree comparable thereto. The Italian tax is collected in a most peculiar way. The government does not undertake the collection itself, but for each collection district submits the privilege of collecting the tax to public auction, and the person or firm are income taxpayers. There is also an inheritance tax which contains an interesting sliding scale. Property that descends to children and their children is taxed 1 per cent; property that goes back to parents is taxed 3 per cent; property of couples without children passing from the one to the other is taxed 4 per cent, and this idea is followed on out as the relationship grows more remote until it rises to the maximum of 10 per cent.

• • •

Holland has an income tax law for property income and for exertion income. The property tax ranges from 2 to 5 per cent on earnings, while the exertion income tax is somewhat lower, this giving the usual differentiation between the earned and the unearned income. Incomes below $261 are exempted, and the meager income the Dutch average citizen enjoys may be gathered from the statement that only sixteen out of a thousand of the population are income taxpayers. There is also an inheritance tax which contains an interesting sliding scale. Property that descends to children and their children is taxed 1 per cent; property that goes back to parents is taxed 3 per cent; property of couples without children passing from the one to the other is taxed 4 per cent, and this idea is followed on out as the relationship grows more remote until it rises to the maximum of 10 per cent.

SOUTHERN ASSEMBLY ENDS WORK UNTIL 1914

Report on Closer Relations With Other Churches Will Come Up Next Year

On the pages of ecclesiastical history is written in bold lettering the 1913 session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

The memorable conference that began on Wednesday of last week with the farewell address of the retiring moderator, Dr. Thomas S. Clyce, and the election of Dr. J. S. Lyons to succeed him, adjourned sine die Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, as the few remaining commissioners stood and joined in the singing of the Doxology. The ranks began to thin out during the morning and at the closing session there were scarcely two-thirds of the assembly present.

Tired and worn from eight days of hard committee work and strenuous debate that at times bordered on the sensational, developing many tense and dramatic moments, the commissioners moved about restlessly in their seats as the hour of permanent adjournment neared.

FINAL HOURS LISTLESS.

Reports of minor committees were received and adopted with a listlessness that spoke plainly that all were anxious to get back to their home pulpits for Sunday. Debate in the final hours was unenthusiastic and the conservative element of the conference, constituting the minority, seemed to have lost its spirit of aggressiveness manifested during the morning in the tense fight for withdrawal from the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America.

The only interesting phase came at the opening of the afternoon session and threatened for a moment to delay adjournment indefinitely. The "select committee on closer relations with other ecclesiastical bodies," headed by Dr. H. P. Campbell, of Asheville, N. C., presented a report embodying a plan recommending an eventual federation of each branch of the Presbyterian church in America into a "Greater Presbyterian congress"—formed on the basis of the congress of the United States with an upper and lower house, vested with supreme power over all Presbyterian affairs in the country.

CONGRESS HELD OVER.

Lively debate was precipitated at once but was ruled out of order by the moderator, Dr. Lyons, on the grounds that an overture from several western presbyteries for organic union with the southern church represented by the assembly itself had been reported on favorably and sustained by the assembly in view of the proposed union with the United Presbyterian church, upon which the basis of union had been presented and action deferred for another year.

The assembly then voted to reconsider the action on the past question in order that the new basis of federation might have grounds for formal consideration. The necessary two-thirds failed to sustain the move for consideration, however, and it was lost by a small majority. This report will appear to meet with general approval, and undoubtedly would have been adopted had not the matter of union already been dispatched.

IT PUT OFF A YEAR.

Moves to table the committee's report were heard when Dr. W. McF. Alexander, whose presence had more than once calmed strong feeling, succeeded in having the report in its entirety referred to the next general assembly in Kansas City, Mo.

Through this action that made way for a swift consummation of the remaining business of the conference, the session of 1914 faces a problem for elders and commissioners to ponder over during the intervening time.

Two separate and distinct bases of union or federation are prepared already to go before the body. On the basis of organic union with the United Presbyterian church, action put off for a year must be taken. On the other hand, there is yet the report of the "select committee" looking toward the "congress," to be considered. That this will make conference and probably form the center of another spirited debate on the question, was admitted by prominent commissioners Thursday afternoon. A choice of one of the two reports must be made by the assembly unless both be carried over again for a year. The question has arisen already: Will organic union with the United Presbyterian church be effected or will the conference adopt the resolution of the "select committee" to federate with the Presbyterians of America?

SOME THINGS DONE.

The salient accomplishments of the assembly just brought to a close were the adoption of the "brief statement drawn from the standards of the Presbyterian church in the United States," to be circulated as a tract for information among the members of the southern church; the acceptance of the "basis of organic union" with the United Presbyterian church, and the refusal of the assembly to withdraw from the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, though the majority report of Dr. Thornton Whaling, president of the Columbia Theological seminary, which was adopted, states specifically that the assembly is not entirely in sympathy with some of the methods of the council and repudiates the council's action in regard to social service.

One other important action of the assembly was in taking from the executive committees the power to appoint field and other secretaries, a power conferred upon them by a former assembly, and restoring that power to the assembly itself.

DR. M'PHEETERS RETURNS.

After leaving the southern (U. S.) Presbyterian assembly just before the conclusion of its morning session, Dr. W. M. McPheeters, of Columbia, Theological seminary, Columbia, S. C., returned to it Thursday afternoon and resumed his part in its affairs after making a statement.

Dr. McPheeters stated that he returned for two reasons:

First, that his action in leaving might have been misconstrued as a personal reflection upon the moderator, Dr. Lyons.

Second, that it might have been misunderstood that he had acted in the heat of passion.

But, he added, he did not intend to recede from his original position. The moderator's ruling against him with regard to the minority report of the Federation of Churches of Christ in America matter was wrong, he insisted.

Shortly afterward he read the report on creations submitted by himself as chairman of that committee.

SEATS ARE SELLING TO SHOW OF PLAYERS' CLUB

Seats for the Players club's next play, "The Importance of Being in Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, went on sale Friday morning at the Grand opera house box office. The only performance will be given at that theater next Friday evening, May 30.

The performance will be given wholly by local talent, each of those taking part being a member of Atlanta's society. The leading parts will be in the hands of Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Miss Hildreth Burton Smith, Lamar Hill and E. Marsh Adair.

The play is in Wilde's happiest vein, and had a phenomenal run when first produced in London by many of the leading actors and actresses of that time. It is a bright comedy. Every member of the cast has been drilled well by Warren A. Rogers, an actor-manager of experience, who was brought from New York just for this performance. The rehearsals have been going on for weeks, and a firstclass performance no doubt will be given.

After the play the players will have an after-theater dinner on the terrace of the Piedmont Driving club.

LITTLE HEROINE KILLED TRYING TO SAVE BROTHER

(By Associated Press.)

GLASGOW, Ky., May 23.—When Verna Lane, a 14 year old girl tried to take from the hands of her younger brother a shotgun which he pointed at her in play here yesterday, she fell against the weapon which caused it to be discharged, emptying its load into her body and causing instant death. Today the boy was almost crazed with grief and physicians considered his condition serious.

TWO NEWS ITEMS

INDIVIDUAL TRUSTEE DISSIPATES ESTATE	TRUST COMPANY OF GA. DOUBLES THIS ESTATE
Georgia newspapers the other day gave an account of the dissipation of an estate which left a young lady penniless. The father, who had a comfortable business in a Georgia city, died several years ago, leaving his only child, a daughter, an estate of $35,000. A man, a friend of the family, who was then considered honest and capable, was appointed trustee for the daughter's property. On coming of age she called upon him for an accounting and delivery of her inheritance and HE IMMEDIATELY DISAPPEARED. He is still among the "missing," and THE YOUNG LADY'S INHERITANCE IS GONE.	The other news item, not heretofore published, relates to an Atlanta lady who died, leaving an only child, a son of ten years. SHE HAD WISELY MADE A WILL IN WHICH THE TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA was appointed EXECUTOR and GUARDIAN of the property of her son. From his inheritance, which was officially appraised at $16,500, the boy was supported comfortably and given a college education. When he reached his majority, less than a month ago, the TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA, his Guardian, turned over to him property appraised at $31,340, thus, with his maintenance, more than doubling the estate.

An interesting feature next Sunday morning at Second Baptist Bible school will be the graduation exercises of the primary class to be promoted into the junior department.

The public, and especially parents, are cordially invited to attend. Services begin promptly at 9:30.

DR. ELLIOTT SPEAKS ON THE RIGHTS OF THE WEAK

"The Rights of the Weak" was the subject on which Dr. John Elliott spoke Thursday night at Cable hall. His was the last of a series of ethical lectures which have been provided free to the public of Atlanta this winter under the auspices of a special committee.

Dr. Elliott is head of the Hudson Guild of New York and one of the most noted social workers in the United States. His talk Thursday night was interesting and forceful, and proved that he has a knowledge of social conditions in America which comes only from deep study and wide experience.

According to Dr. Elliott, the weaker half of America's population is forced to bear the burdens of the strong, and it is the strong only who can solve the social problem by "getting off the backs of the weak."

Dr. Elliott described at length the fearful conditions in which the poorer class of the country are forced to endure the sweatshop, the department store, the factory.

"The strong are riding upon the back of those whom circumstance has placed on the bottom," he declared. "The thing to do is to get off the backs of the weak. Then only will we do our duty to the world's unfortunates."

ROBERT EDESON SUFFERS FROM BLOOD POISON

(By Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Robet Edeson, actor, is being treated at a hospital here for blood poisoning. Edeson sustained an injury to his left leg at a local theater Tuesday night and blood poisoning developed.

Physicians say today that his condition is so serious that an operation will be necessary unless a decided improvement is noted soon.

WESLEY HOSPITAL NURSES ARE TO GRADUATE FRIDAY

Four young women will receive their diplomas from the Training School of Wesley Memorial hospital at the graduating exercises to be held at Wesley Memorial church Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock.

Those who will be graduated are Miss Corrie Mims, Elliot, Ga.; Miss Annie Traber, Atlanta; Miss Fannie Mary Catron, Barboursville, Ky., and Miss Annie Moe Luckie, Valdosta, Ga.

Asa G. Candler will preside. Rev. W. R. Hendrix, Rev. H. M. DuBose, Dr. E. G. Jones, Dr. Stewart R. Roberts and Rev. H. B. Mays will take part in the exercises. Mrs. Wesley Hirshburg will render a saxophone solo and J. O. Pitts will sing. An orchestra also has been engaged for the occasion.

The friends of the hospital throughout the city are invited to attend the exercises.

The Answer Book As An Investment in the $7,000 Booklovers' Campaign

Looking at the matter of buying an Answer Book to submit your answers in The Journal's Booklovers' Campaign from a business standpoint, you cannot fairly decide against getting one.

You are certainly in this great home game to submit the full result of your skill and not one-fifth of it. As the rules allow you the right to ten answers with a picture and coupon for every answer, or only one of each picture, and the Answer Book only costing you 80c at the office or 90c by mail, it is certainly to your interest to get one of them before it is too late.

To submit 750 answers under the old system would cost you $15.00. If you use the Answer Book your only expense will be the cost of pictures 36 to 75 inclusive, as we give the Nos. 1 to 35 free with the Answer Book.

As The Journal is giving $7,000 worth of prizes in this delightful campaign there is no good reason why you cannot come in a winner. Don't forget that The Journal does not ask you to solicit or beg your friends to vote for you in order to win in this campaign. Just select the most correct titles to the 75 prize pictures that The Journal is publishing and you will receive $1,000 in gold. If you do not get first prize you certainly ought to get one of the 747 prizes that will be distributed among Journal readers at the close of the campaign.

See the prize pictures on page 2, and read details of the plan. Then come in and get our new catalogue and our four-page circular giving you full details. Get in the game now, while you still have plenty of time to select titles.

You will find the Booklovers' Game the most enjoyable one you ever took part in.

It is the great home game that pays you a dividend!

REALIZING AND SELLING SHORT CAUSED DECLINE

Market in New York Closed 6 to 4 Pts. Down From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 6 points on May and of 2 points on August, with other months from 1 to 2 points lower under realizing and selling for a reaction after yesterday's sharp advance. Prospects for clearing weather in the south probably inspired part of the offerings and prices eased off to a net loss of 5 or 6 points on active months shortly after the call, but bids were better than the close. Liverpool reported a continued demand from continental sources, and while more or less unsettled, the local market showed a fairly steady undertone at the decline.

Liverpool houses seemed to be selling some July here, suggesting a reduction in the unduly long interest but Wall street shorts colined active buying of July on the theory that while there was also a considerable scattering demand for the long account and prices fluctuated later in the morning with the market rolling but unchanged at noo. Spot quiet; middling uplands 12.10 nominal.

The market was unsettled during the afternoon and prices eased off to a net loss of 5 or 6 points under rigidling or selling for a turn. Week-end figures were considered short in part off and the effect of detailed rain reports of the central belt wa soffset by indications for clearing.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 point up to 1 point off, compared with the last prices of yesterday. (Tables were better than due, but rains in the eastern half of the cotton belt led to some short selling and offerings from profit takers on the long side appeared. The Galveston weather map was not altogether favorable, as it showed decidedly low temperatures generally. This prevented much aggressiveness on the bear side. At the highest around the call prices were 2 points over yesterday's close, but at the end of the first half hour of business they were 2 to 3 points under.

The market was nervous and narrow throughout the first half of the session. Toward the middle of the morning selling was strong enough to put prices 5 to 6 points under yesterday's final quotations. Continued talk of more rain in the central belt caused some little buying and the market rallied from the day's low levels again. This small advance attracted both short selling and profit taking by longs and at noon the trading months stood at a net decline of 1 to 2 points.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, May 23.—There was good selling for around the opening and to the people who were disappointed by Liverpool cables. The buying, however, was not very large and when some belated shorts tried to cover they found little for sale. One of the prominent local operators was in the market up, but around 25 for October and December there was little offered, and prices soon reopposed on. Many believe there is still a short interest around, influenced by reports that there was a good deal of comment on same heavy rains in central belt and too much rain now is being talked of. The question is what is the strength of the arket is due to trade buying and how long it will last. We may expect a steady market.—Anderson.

THE WEATHER.

Forecast till 8 p. m. Saturday:

Atlanta and vicinity: Fair, cooler tonight; Saturday fair.

Georgia—Showers tonight or Saturday; cooler tonight; cooler Saturday in southeast portion.

Alabama—Showers tonight; cooler in south portion; Saturday fair.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A storm of moderate force is central over northern Minnesota and Manitoba, Canada, with the atmospheric pressure 29.78 inches at Atlanta and Asheville. Rains that accompany the storm are general over the eastern portion of the cotton belt except southern Georgia and Florida, and extend from the Atlantic northward. Atlantic states to New England.

Under the storm area the area of high pressure in the west clearing weather has set in over the Mississippi valley and Texas, and the temperature has risen over this area after the storm.

The temperature continues high over the southeastern section of the United States, but is cooler over the northern portion. The storm will be decidedly cooler tonight and Saturday at Atlanta, with temperatures between 50 and 60 degrees.

Fine weather prevails throughout the west and southwest. It is generally warm tonight. Saturday several days of fair weather will occur.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS DULL AND IRREGULAR

Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Illinois Central and Gas Up. Sugar Is Off

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—Business was again directed at stocks which have been conspicuous last week recently, when the market opened today. California petroleum declined a point to 35¾, a new low record. St. Louis and San Francisco, first preferred, dropped 2 points to 35. His general list was heavy. Western Maryland moved against the market, rising 2 points.

An inclination of the standard stocks to an advance after the heavy opening was defeated by further pressure of low priced shares. St. Louis and San Francisco first preferred, sagged 5 points, the second preferred and California Petroleum 2 and Rock Island 1. Pennsylvania touched 109¾, a new low mark.

Trading during the morning fell off considerably and there was no sign of a continuation of the recovery which closed prices generally yesterday.

Selected stocks, which have been unaffected of late by liquidation of various low priced issues, seemed more sensitive today to adverse influences, although there was little pressure against the list, such business as was done being in the direction of upward values.

Reports from Europe indicated renewed depression and more over foreign markets and the market in general suffered from the effects of the outset here. Failure of yesterday's rise to create public interest in the market discouraged bullish activity.

Sugar was conspicuous.

Suspension of the forenoon selling did not help the list. Speculation became stagnant and prices moved irregularly under moderate pressure stopped.

Heavy buying orders made their appearance for the Harriman and coalers and the market in general suffered from the effects of unfavorable information regarding the continued fall in St. Louis and San Francisco stocks and bonds created an extensive bullish operation.

Prices moved up steadily to the end and the list reflected something more than the early losses.

FINANCIAL BUREAU OF STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Financial bureau says: The stock markets abroad are overshadowed by the labor disorders. Nearly one-fifth of Japan's illness result fatally additional complications between Japan and the United States may be seen. The Erie railroad is preparing for a strike of its telegraphers, who have declared a general dissatisfaction in wages of 20 per cent. Information channels are friendly to the bears. Further improvement in grangers list, with attempts to force short covering and more confident buying of the leading stocks may be seen today. Should buy the leading active stocks on recessions for fair profits. Buy cotton on recessions. Sell wheat and corn on good advances for turns.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, May 23.—The stock market was weak during the forenoon when uncertainty regarding the peace negotiations caused it to take up new losses caused a general sagging of values. The tone was more cheerful in the afternoon and prices recovered on local covering and fresh support.

American securities opened quiet and a fraction higher. Realizing followed and most of the list was lower shortly before noon. The closing tone was undecided.

COARSE GRAINS LED THE ADVANCE IN CHICAGO PIT

Corn Advanced 1-4 to 5-8c, Oats, Pork, Lard and Sides Up—Wheat Is Off

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 23.—Traders ran up speedily on scanty offerings. Houses with southwestern connections were active buyers on Kansas reports from Illinois and interior of the state, and corn gone back 50 per cent. Opened unchanged to ¼c higher, July, after that the market was up as last night to ¼ up and rose to 90¼@90⅝.

Wheat reacted in predicted heavy world shipments and profit taking. Closed weak with July at the same as last night.

Dwindling of stocks favored corn, but July, which at the outset was ¼ off to a like advance at 87¾, by noon, went to 87¾@88.

Corn advanced still higher but closed weak at 87⅝ for July, a gain of ⅝c over.

There was a big trade in oats and prices were ¼@½c higher at 38¼ to 38¾ and climbed to 38¾c.

Provisions eased off with hogs. First sales were a shade to 7½ down with September prices $19.30 for pork; $11.00 to $11.00@11.02½ for lard, and $11.05 for ribs.

INTERESTING EVENTS POSTPONED

Because of the rainy, disagreeable day, "The Country Fair," which was to have been held today on the lawns of Mrs. Don Pardee's and Mrs. George M. Traylor's homes, has been postponed until Saturday afternoon at the same hours.

The fair, which will be given by the members of St. Elizabeth's guild, will be an interesting and enjoyable event.

The May festival, which was to have been Saturday at Uncle Remus' home, has been postponed indefinitely on account of the rain.

Music at First Baptist

The musical program at the First Baptist church on Sunday morning will include Van Laer's Te Deum, and "The Penitent," by Van de Water, to be sung by Mr. H. R. Bates. In the evening the chorus will render "Blessed Are They" and "Sing, O Heaven," by Tours. J. P. O'Donnelly, organist and director.

To Miss Pruett

Miss Mary Andrews will entertain Tuesday evening at her home on Peachtree circle in compliment to Miss Grace Pruett, of Clayton, Ala., who will spend several days with her after Brenau college's commencement closes.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Jolly round, red Mr. Sun, rubbing the sleepy-winks out of his eyes, smiled at what he saw very early that morning. Down the Lone Little Path marched Jimmy Skunk with his head held high and his big plumed tail waving proudly. Behind him trotted Unc' Billy Possum, his coat as rough and tumbled as usual, his keen little eyes twinkling and his sharp little old face stretched in a broad grin which showed all his white teeth. Last of all came Prickly Porky the Porcupine with a splinter of wood sticking out of one corner of his mouth like a toothpick, and rattling his thousand little spears.

Sammy Jay was the first to see them coming. He had hurried to the edge of the Green Forest at the very first hint of light. You see, Sammy knew all about why Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky were to try to set Unc' Billy Possum free from the wire-covered box in which Farmer Brown's boy had kept him a prisoner, and Sammy was dreadfully anxious to know how they had succeeded. As soon as he saw Unc' Billy Possum he knew that they had succeeded, and he hurried to meet them so as to hear all about how it was done.

"I suppose you left the baby Chuck at Johnny Chuck's house on your way through the old orchard," said Sammy.

Instantly all three looked very grave. "No," said Jimmy Skunk slowly, "we didn't. We left him up in Farmer Brown's dooryard."

"What!" screamed Sammy Jay. "Didn't you set him free?"

Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky and Unc' Billy Possum nodde their heads vigorously.

"Certainly we did!" replied Jimmy Jay, as if he never had heard of such a thing. "Why, what's under the sun was the matter with him?"

"I don't know," said Jimmy. "He just wouldn't come and we couldn't make him. Who'll tell Johnny Chuck?"

Jimmy looked at Unc' Billy Possum and Unc' Billy Possum looked at Prickly Porky, and then all three looked at Sammy Jay. "You'll have to," said Jimmy Skunk. "It's getting broad daylight, and it wouldn't do for any of us to go up to the old orchard in broad daylight. Of course Johnny Chuck is terribly anxious to know, so you'll have to go, Sammy Jay."

Of course the real reason none wanted to go was because they couldn't bear to break the news to Johnny Chuck that his lost baby refused to come home.

Sammy Jay made a face at Jimmy Skunk and at first refused to go. Finally he said he would and, because it was an unpleasant duty, he spread his wings and started for the old orchard at once. Of course Johnny Chuck wouldn't believe Sammy Jay when Sammy said that the baby Chuck refused to come home. Prickly Porky had tried to set him free, because no Chuck ever lived who would refuse to run away from such a prison as Farmer Brown's boy had made for that baby Chuck. No, sir, Johnny Chuck wouldn't believe Sammy Jay's story.

Johnny Chuck was so sure that Sammy's story couldn't be true that Sammy began to doubt it himself. To make sure he flew up to Farmer Brown's dooryard. There sat the baby Chuck right on Farmer Brown's doorstep sucking milk from a bottle which Farmer Brown's boy was holding. And close by sat Bowser the Hound looking on and grinning as he wagged his tail.

Sammy Jay knew then that the baby Chuck never would come back—that he was a pet and would rather live at Farmer Brown's than down in the old orchard.

"Poor Johnny Chuck," said Sammy Jay as he flew back with with this astonishing news.

VOLUNTARY PETITIONS SWAMPED THIS COURT

No less than six voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed with Deputy Clerk Fred Beers, of the federal court, Tuuesday, which establishes a record in that division of the bankrupty court of the state.

Augustus O. Mitcham, of Atlanta, a salesman, asked that he be relieved of debts amounting to $17,222.07, giving assets as $421.

W. C. Carpenter, another salesman of this city, declared liabilities amounting to $1,689.92, and assets, $437.

L. C. Hicketts, Atlanta, a barber, gave his indebtedness as $1,642.92, and declared no assets.

J. J. Barclay, McCaysville, Fannin county, a railroad flagman, asserted in his petition that his assets are $200 and his liabilities $192.16.

Godman D. Hackney, of Blue Ridge, Ga., Fannin county, a telegraph operator, gave in his petition disabilities amounting to $1,587.55 and his assets as $150.

P. D. Stansell, Red Oak, Campbell county, and formerly a merchant, but now a truck farmer, according to his petition, admitted liabilities amounting to $1,386.67, and declared no assets.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

The Dark Street

Milly sat on the steps alone. Behind her was the dim, poor, little old house where she had been born, where her mother had died, and where she now kept the home for her hardworking, commonplace father. It was Saturday night and he had gone downtown to smoke a cigar, perhaps play game of tenpins and buy a few necessities to tide them over the Sabath. He would return at about 10 o'clock, as was his custom, to find Milly sitting just where he had left her, alone.

Milly was so used to being alone that she never expected a companion to come and sit beside her on the shallow wooden steps. She had, indeed, no companions. When she left school she had dropped out of social life utterly. Now she was too old for the young set and too young for the old. Besides, she had no money for pretty clothes or good times. Life had become a gray, hard, changeless condition, from which she never escaped save in her dreams.

SHE WAS TOO DEEP IN HER DREAMS.

Oh, yes, Milly dreamed, and her dreams were as rosy as her actual existence was gray and kept her fresh and ethereally girlish. She was dreaming now as she sat on the steps. And the dream made her forget the long sacrifice she had made in devoting herself to her father, in accordance with her mother's dying wish.

West avenue, near where Milly sat in the gloom, was flooded with electric light. It was paved like a floor and was bounded by charming houses, full of light and life. Up and down its broad, white surface on June nights like these fine automobiles ladened with graceful women rushed. Girls in groups or with escorts passed. Sometimes a note of laughter floated into the dark street as far as Milly's steps, and she knew that somebody in the world was really happy even if she were not.

Milly, in her forgotten, dark street, loved to watch the bright one so near and yet so unbelievably far away. So, from her own individual darkness she looked out upon the world's happy dance. Sitting there with her small, tired hands casped and her small, heavy head drooping, she was too deep in dreams to hear or see the little white figure that shot across the street straight toward her, until a wavering voice spoke: "I'm lone—lonesome."

Milly jumped. She was so startled she could not speak. She could only stare at the child, who stared back at her.

"I'm lonesome," he repeated with more emphasis.

Then Milly laughed, and her laugh chanced to be one of the sweetest sounds in the world to hear. The child was moved by it to come close and to lean against his knee.

"Are you lonesome?" he queried.

"Very lonesome." Milly put her arm around him.

"Why are you lonesome?" he asked earnestly.

"I don't know." Milly caught her breath. "Because I am. I guess. Why are you?"

"Because my father went away and left me. He went that way." He pointed toward West avenue.

Milly sighed. "Everybody goes that way, it seems, but you and me. What's your name, dear?"

"My name's Thed, and my father's name is Dan. What's yours?"

"My name is Milly."

"I like your name," he confided boldly. "I like you. Maybe you'd like to have me sit on your lap."

Milly took him up and he gave a sigh of contentment. "You're pretty," he whispered.

Milly smiled. "Oh, dear no. You can't see."

"I can hear. You sound pretty. Do you know where I live? I live right over there." He pointed up the street a little way on the other side. "But we arn't going to stay there. My father says the street is too dark."

"It is dark," Milly agreed gravely.

"Do you know my father?"

"No; I never saw him. I never saw you before."

"I've seen you lots of times. My father's seen you, too! 'Cause he said so."

"So that's why you came to me tonight?"

He nodded his silken head trying to find her eyes in the dark.

"Won't your mamma care?"

"I haven't got a mamma. Just father."

"Oh, I haven't a mother, either," Milly said simply.

He patted her hand with sympathy. "We're going to move away. Father's got a better job. He said so. And we can afford a better house. Aunt Margret keeps house for us. Do you keep house?"

"Yes." Milly was amused. This sweet, warm, silken headed little chap was far more interesting than any dream she had ever dreamed.

The child leaned closer to her bosom, sliding a warm arm about her neck.

"COME!" MILLY SAID.

"Tell me a story," he commanded.

Milly sought among her imaginings. She did not know any real stories. She began dreamily to recite, "Once upon a time—"

The child stirred. "Is it a fairy story?"

"No, it's a truly-true story. About a girl who lived in adark place—the darkest place you ever saw. She was awfully lonely. She didn't have any one to play with and she never had good times. There was one thing she had, though, and that was a little window. Through it she could see all that was going on in the world, all the beautiful light, and the gay people and the carriages and automobiles!"

Down under the arc light a man had started to cross the street. At that instant a big car whisked noiseless by. Milly thought he was going to be struck, but he stepped back just in time. There was another car, too, which he avoided by moving quickly. She thought absently: "He ought not to cross there at this time."

"And so the girl kept looking and looking out of her window."

Thed straightened up determinedly. "I don't think it's much of a story," he said: "Tell me something else. Tell me about—bears!"

"I don't know any stories about bears," Milly began, feebly.

Among the shadows across the street a figure moved. "Theddy!" There was an anxious ring in the deep voice.

Thed gave a leap upon Milly's lap. "Father—father, I'm here. I'm here with Milly," he shouted.

The man came across. "So you ran away?" he said. "I hope he hasn't bothered you, Miss Milly?"

"Oh, no," Milly replied. "We've got real well acquainted," she added gaily.

The man laughed, a young, pleasant laugh. "Thed is a great talker. But Aunt Margaret is deaf, and much as he likes to talk, he won't talk to her. I suppose that he got lonesome after I went downtown. That's why he came to you. He's been noticing you ever since we moved in over there. All the same when I went home just now and found him gone I had a bad scare. He's my all you see." His voice grew serious. "I am deeply grateful to you for taking such good care of him."

"Father," said Thed, authoritatively, "she says she don't know any bear stories. Sit down here and tell her the one about the great big black bear and the little tweeny-weeny white bear."

"May I?" asked the man. And Milly murmured "Yes."

So he sat down beside her. And after the bear story was told he found still further excuse for staying until Thed went to sleep in his arms.

As he was being borne away, the child awoke and waved a languid good night. "We'll come back tomorrow," he said sleepily. His father whispered to him and he added, "If you're willing."

"Come!" Milly said.

And it was as if all the light in West avenue poured into her dark street, making it bright forever more.

Hail at Richland

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

RICHLAND, Ga., May 23.—On last Monday afternoon, considerable hail fell out between and on Messrs. J. W. Barge's and Alston Saville's places. In some places the hail heaped up in piles resembling drifted snow, but no serious damage was done to crops. Although the hail visited that section together with what rain may have fallen didn't benefit the dry lands very much.

MOTHER GOOSE PAGEANT

Nothing gives children more real pleasure than to play at being somebody else. Almost every boy and girl has some kind of costume ready to be donned at a moment's notice, as they are easily made of calico or tissue paper.

All the children are anxious to see Mother Goose and her family, and are eagerly awaiting Saturday, May 31, at 3 o'clock, when they will assemble on the lawn of Mr. Clyde King's home in Druid Hills to take part in the grand parade.

There will be clowns, harlequins, columbines, Indians, cowboys, fairies, flowers, vegetables, all the Mother Goose folks. All Babs and the forty thieves, Pied Piper of Hamelin, Blue Beard and his numerous wives and other familiar friends in the march, who will afterwards form tableaux. Little Orphint Annie will be accompanied by a troop of goblins, which (the goblins) will be the delight of all beholders.

Miss Moseley's dancing class in costume will give some beautiful artistic and character dances, after which dancing will be general.

A baby show will be one of the features of the afternoon. This is in charge of Mrs. George Dexter and a large committee, which insures its success.

Mrs. Peel is looking after the parade and anyone desiring to enter may obtain information from any of the ladies.

Mrs. S. C. Dinkins is arranging the Indians, and she wants every boy in town with an Indian outfit to report to her.

Mistress Mary and her garden of flowers is being arranged by Mrs. George Nilse, who will have a whole bouquet of beautiful young ladies representing the different flowers.

Mrs. W. J. Speer will chaperon a country dance from 6 to 8, in which all the belles and beaux are expected to take part. This will be lots of fun and will not interfere with any evening engagements.

All the Habersham ladies from Decatur to College Park, led by their efficient regent, Mrs. J. A. Perdue, are determined to make their first annual pageant the finest thing of the kind possible, and are sparing no pains to bring together in this jolly affair all the children who love fun, and all the grown-ups who have children, and all the young folks who love each other.

Made Garments of Valuable Tapestries From Pan Museum

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, May 23.—The loss of some prescious gobelin tapestries, which were presented to the museum at Pau fifty years ago and which were valued at several thousand dollars, has at last been explained by the confession of the care-taker that he and his little boy have been wearing some of the tapestries as lining for their trousers. The care-taker that he and his little boy estries were worthless so he took them home to his wife. She selected a Woodland scene to turn into garments for him and their son.

Peach Season Opens

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

RICHLAND, Ga., May 23.—The peach season has opened in this section, the first shipment having been made last Tuesday morning and afternoon by Dr. N. C. Alston, one of the most prominent fruit growers. This is an early variety, and, owing to their early ripening, promises to net the doctor a fancy price. The shipments were made to firms in Birmingham and New Orleans.

WHAT ANNE RITTENHOUSE SAYS

THE dressmakers are quite interested in the fact that frocks are selling on an average of three to one coat suit. It reminds the older ones of the days before the universality of masculine styles. One-piece frocks were the delight of women before the shirtwaist was invented or the straight up and down coat suit known. For over a decade they have been hopelessly in the minority and were only brought back to life about three seasons ago.

There is no sign so far of returning to the old fashion of wearing the blouse and skirt separate, with the former bored to a long silk lining and the latter hooked up on it; it is the day of expediency and swift adjustment in clothes, as in household matters, and the gown that is all in one is the delight of the majority.

All kinds of old-fashioned clothes have been revived this spring, and the frock that fastens down the front, has its girdle and collar attached, and is of a serviceable dark color, has come into first place and is accepted by a large majority of women, who call it fashionable and are therefore happy over it.

There were summers in which a woman felt she must wear a coat suit, whether it was thin or thick, light or dark, when she appeared in the open, but this summer she is not governed by any such rule, and she will go abroad day after day in small little one-piece frocks that are cool, easy to adjust and often dark enough to keep away from the tub for a reasonable amount of time.

Among these are gowns made of linen hopsacking in brown, violet and bright blue. The shops have made these up in most attractive styles and placed them within the reach of the average purse so that the woman who does not wish to bother about making clothes can buy enough of them in one day to fill her needs. They may not fit—they rarely do—but the price of alteration is quite reasonable at the majority of shops, and as it is done by skilled workers, the result is often much better than one can obtain at home.

The brown frocks are most attractive, for it has been some time since we have worn these bright browns and deep tans, and they present a certain degree of novelty. They are simply made and therefore stand hard washing and can be worn for all the hours except those given over to social life in the afternoon. Women wear them for lunch, in and out of restaurants, for traveling and for house parties, in which such gowns are constantly needed for the open air life.

Tailored Effects Chosen.

THERE is no attempt when making these gowns to trim them or give an air of gayety. They are made for service and are heavily stitched and securely fastened with large presentable buttons.

One of the good brown models in hop sacking has a straight skirt, without gathers at the waist line or any of the fashionable fulness at the back, and is fitted to the hips in the way that was considered correct two years ago. The fastening is slightly at the side of the front, with bone buttons, bullet shaped, and in a deep cream color. The blouse has a shallow yoke, is quite broad at the waist line and sags over the skirt, which is slightly above the normal. The sleeves are three-quarter length, put in without gathers to a slightly lowered armhole, and fastened at the side with long curved tabs in each of which there are two buttonholes.

At the neck there is one of those old-fashioned embroidery batiste collars that is bib-shaped in the back and rounded to almost nothing in the front. Holding it in place is a soft bow of brown velvet ribbon with two long-pointed ends. The sleeves also are finished with rounded cuffs of the embroidery, minus the velvet ribbon. There is no belt, as the top of the skirt is run with rows of stitching to give a neat waist line and hold the blouse in place.

There is a model in deep amethyst which, by the way, is one of the favored tones of the season for one piece frocks and coat suits; the skirt is fitted at the hips and has its narrowness relieved by two flat plaits at each side of the front width, which are only made visible by walking; the fastening is at the side, by hooks and eyes, and the buttons are merely used as ornaments to hold down the plaits.

The blouse is a double affair, made up of a shirtwaist and a coatee, gathered into the waist line. The first garment is of handkerchief linen, simply made, with a hemstitched hem down the middle front, edged on each side with tiny cluney lace. It has a rollover collar, also hemstitched and lace edged, and a tiny amethyst silk bow in front. The linen blouse of amethyst has a yoke at the back, sags at the waist line, has elbow sleeves that roll back to show the long white sleeve that fits the wrists snugly by means of white crochet buttons. The front of this overblouse does not meet by four inches and shows the fine white shirtwaist beneath as though it were a full vest.

IT'S ALL IN THE EXAMINATION

A pair of glasses are more than worthless if the lenses are not absolutely correct. The correct lenses cannot be properly fitted unless a careful examination is made by a competent and skillful operator, aided by the latest scientific eye testing instruments and appliances. Of course the comfort of a pair of glasses depends a great deal on the fit of the frames, the proper adjustment of eye glass mountings to the nose, and upon the size and shape of lenses. But primarily and most important of all is the correct fitting of the lenses. The experience necessary to properly diagnose a difficult case of eye trouble requiring correction by lenses, is not obtained in a day, and the longer these years of experience, the more you can depend upon the results obtained by your Optician. Our fifty years' growth has produced for you the very best optical service obtainable. We offer you the best equipped fitting rooms, the very latest styles of frames and mountings; the newest shapes and tints of lenses, the Kryptok Invisible Bifocals, moderate prices, and we make every possible effort to serve you pleasantly and satisfactorily. "The Kayser" SILK Glove

Three generations of American Women have set their "stamp of approval" upon "KAYSER" Gloves—and, for over a quarter of a century "KAYSER" Gloves have maintained their supremacy in the glove world.

"KAYSER" Gloves are the result of a lifetime spent in Silk Glove making—in striving for the attainment of that superlative degree of excellence that makes the "KAYSER" Glove the standard, by which all other Silk Gloves are measured.

There is no excuse for accepting the "just as good" kind—"KAYSER" Gloves "cost no more" and carry with them assurance of quality and reliability.

There's a way to tell the genuine—"look in the hem," if you find the name "KAYSER" you have the glove that "don't wear out" at the finger "tips."

Rain Stopped Most Battles For Thursday

Only One Game Played in the Southern and Just One in the National—Means Many Double-Headers During the Next Few Days

Thursday proved a bad day for baseball, rain causing the postponement of one or more games in a majority of the organized leagues. In some the entire schedule was rained out while in others just two or three of the games were prevented.

In the Southern league the Atlanta-Mobile struggle was the only affair staged and it went but six rounds owing to rain. None of the others even made an attempt to get away.

In the South Atlantic circuit one game was rained out, in the Georgia-Alabama but one was played; in the National the Brooklyn-Pittsburg game was the only affair and it went but five rounds; in the Cotton States not a game was played; in the International only two took place and in the Appalachian there was but one.

Indications today are that many more will surely be rained out. Weather reports indicate that the rain is general and few games are expected.

TODAY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 23.—A raw brand of weather was the prospect for today's Nashville-Montgomery game. Manning is scheduled to pitch for the visitors, with Gribbett receiving. McManus will pitch for Nashville, and Noyes will catch.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 23.—Indications during the morning were against any game of ball being played between Birmingham and Memphis this afternoon, a steady rain and cold weather being present conditions. A double-header was intended had the weather been good.

Three Giants For One Red

Art Fromme Added to New York Hurling Staff by Manager John McGraw

NEW YORK, May 23.—The New York and Cincinnati clubs of the National league have completed a deal whereby the Giants gave Pitcher Leon Ames, Outfielder Josh Devore and Infielder Groh to the Reds in exchange for Pitcher Art Fromme.

The 1912 records show Fromme's pitching average as .457 for forty-three games, of which twenty-three were completed games. He batted .087. Ames started in thirty-three games, nine of which were completed contests, and his average was .688. He batted .244. Devore batted .275 and fielded .918. Groh, who was a substitute infielder, batted .271 for twenty-seven games.

"Ames and Devore have been of little use to the club during the past three years," said Manager John J. McGraw in discussing the deal, "and I believe that they will play far better ball with the Reds. Groh is a good fast fielder and a consistent hitter, but I could not find a regular berth for him."

Fromme will report to the Giants at the Polo grounds Friday, and the trio of late Giants left for Philadelphia last night to join the Cincinnati club.

ERRORS AND HITS THAT WON GAMES

Cleveland absolutely cleaned up with Washington yesterday afternoon, trimming the Senators by the score of 5 to 0 and getting a total of nine hits off the delivery of the famous speed merchant, Walter Johnson. This is the first defeat that Johnson has suffered in more than three weeks. Graney, Cleveland's left fielder, got three hits out of four times up.

Russell, for Chicago, was too much for the Red Sox champions and Chicago won yesterday by the score of 2 to 1. The game was interesting and exciting. Bodie was the batting star of the game, getting two hits out of three times up, his hits driving in the two winning runs.

The pitching Epole was the feature of the Savannah-Jacksonville game yesterday. In the ninth inning, with the game won, he walked three men and then retired the side without letting them score. This is some pitching.

Plank had the Detroit Tigers at his mercy yesterday. He let them down with three singles and fanned the whole side in the fourth inning. Cobb was going perfect for the week until the ninth when Baker stabbed a foul and broke the streak. Philadelphia won the game, 7 to 0.

The Wagnerites trimmed the Brooklyn team yesterday in a five-inning game by the score of 1 to 0. The game was called in the fifth on account of rain. Both teams got three hits apiece.

St. Louis again trimmed the Highlanders by the score of 7 to 0. Stone, pitching for St. Louis, let the New Yorkers down with six scattered hits. This bears out the statement that somebody made to the effect that there were great setters in that league and that the boys from Missouri were showing the Highlanders just how the game should be played.

Friday's Game Is Doubtful; Hogg to Work

Probable That Paul Musser or Gilbert Price Will Be Sent to Mound for Crackers if Game Is Played

On account of the rain that is prevailing all over the south and especially in the city, the chances are very poor in favor of there being any game at Ponce de Leon this afternoon. This will be a great disappointment to the whole Atlanta fandom and the ladies and jobbers of the city. This was to have been a big day at the park and but for the rain, the Crackers would be several points nearer the first place that is now occupied by the Mobile Gulls.

If the weather is permitting there will be a game and Musser will work for the locals, while Hogg will do the slab work for the visitors. Today is Jobbers' and Ladies' day and the rain will be most likely to break up all arrangements that were planned for a big game.

THE FIGHT FOR THE TOP RUNG!

ENTRY LIST VERY LARGE

Arrangements for the twelfth annual tournament of the Southern Golf association, which is to be held June 3-7 in Montgomery, are rapidly being perfected and there is every indication that it will be one of the best attended ever held. President H. F. Smith and Secretary J. C. Ryan are working overtime getting out circulars concerning hotel rates and other features.

Atlanta will be well represented when the first ball is driven from tee No. 1. There are several local stars who are now going like a house afire, and they stand a good chance of bringing home some of the trophies that have been hung up. The course at East Lake is just getting in good shape for hard play, and with the improvement in the course the players are doing better.

Postpone Big Boxing Match

The big fight that was to have been pulled off at the auditorium-armory on the 9th of June, has been postponed until the 13th. This fight is to be one of the best that has ever been staged in Atlanta and there will be something doing every minute of the time.

The big bout will be for ten rounds and will be fought between Jim Savage and Jim Flynn. These boys are among the best and should furnish some very clever boxing. Eddie Hanlon and Mike Saul will be on for ten rounds and Spider Britt and Hayes Price complete the bill for ten rounds of good hard fighting.

Two Triples Gave Atlanta Gull Victory

Brady Got Away With Nice Game—Bisland and Smith Hit Triples—Tommy Long on Hand With Three Hits

A couple of triples at opportune moments gave Atlanta a victory over Mobile in the first local clash of the season. First it was Wallace Smith who came through with the three-smash and on the second occasion it was Bisland.

Old King Brady appeared right. He was working a bunch of curves and only for a fluke triple and an error the visitors did not have a chance to tally. And with all his curves Brady had a bunch of control.

Tommy Long was certainly the busy bee at the hitting game. The local's best hitter gathered in three bingles in four trips to the pan. Tommy got the first hit in each of the three rounds in which tallies came over.

Wallace Smith made one of his very best stops in the third inning when he speared a hot grounder sent towards third by Stock. The ball was traveling at a very fast clip and only quick work enabled the star third sacker to get the pill.

Al O'Dell robbed Welchonce of a hit in the fifth when he raced over in front of shortstop and picked up Harry's hard hit grounder with one hand. And at that he had to hurry the throw to first to catch the runner.

Outfielder Robertson, Mike Finn's start right fielder who is leading the league at the hitting game, looks mighty good at the bat even though he did not get a bingle off Brady. He stands well up to the plate and takes a mighty good swing. In the fourth, however, he appeared to pull a rather bad play. First base was occupied and there few three balls and no strikes o nthe batter and he hit at the next offering served by Brady. It might not have been bad to take at least one.

Brady pitched the game as it should have been worked. He has a good fielding team back of him and he trusted largely to the eight men who are out there helping him. He did not fan or walk a batter but made them all hit.

The game went for an even six innings before the darkness and rain caught the players and forced the umpires to call it off. At the time it was called it was not raining but was very dark. A few minutes later the rain came down in bunches.

GAMES GREATEST SWATS AS TOLD BY THE PLAYERS

A Cleveland newspaper has compiled the twenty greatest hits, and has the hitters tell when, where and how they were made.

"Larry" Lajoie, Cleveland, July 1, batted for Jack Graney and hit Jesse Baker, the White Sox pitcher, for two bases, shooting three men across.

Joe Jackson hit a home run with the bases drunk off Jack Powell at St. Louis.

Sam Crawford's home run against Boston in 1909 that cinched the pennant for Detroit.

Fred Clarke tied the first game of the world's series between Pittsburg and Detroit in 1909 with a home run.

George Moriarity, for whom Delehanty was passed by Harry Krause, came up at Shibe park and cracked the ball to the scoreboard for three sacks.

George Stovall, playing for Cleveland, faced his brother Jesse, who was on duty for Detroit. Brer George whacked a triple that saved his job, but bundled his brother to the minors.

Sam Crawford in a game at Detroit against the White Sox pickled a triple for three runs that would have been good for a homer.

Jim Delehanty in the same game hit a homer with two men on and a triple with the bases full.

Cobb, Crawford, Delehanty and Galser in a game against Washington with Long Tom Hughes pitching each tripled in turn.

Frank Baker's two home runs against Matthewson and Marquard came pretty close to settling the world's series.

Otis Crandall, when he doubled in the ninth inning of the Irish world's series game and pushed two runs across, sewed up the game. The Giants won in the tenth.

Joe Jackson made the longest home run ever seen over the right field wall.

Big Bill Lange bumped one over the center field fence at Cincinnati, the ball breaking a pane of glass in a saloon and bursting a pinochle game in progress.

Buck Ewing hit one over the right field fence in the old Cleveland grounds that is one of the longest hits ever recorded there.

Heine Zimmerman made two home runs in one day over the left field fence in Cincinnati, the only time a ball has been knocked over any of the present fences.

Ed McKean, playing for Cleveland against Boston, hit a home run in the ninth inning with two on. He came up again with two again on and did the same stunt.

George Rohe, substitute third sacker of the Chicago White Sox, hammered out a triple in the final game of the Cub series and won the world's championship in 1906.

Joe Tinker, with a triple, won the famous "Merkle" game that was played off. Joe's hit came off Christy Mathewson.

Charley Hickman made Wee Willie Sudhoff cry when he lammed one over the fence with a man on and the score 3 to 2 against Hickman's team. This was for Cleveland against St. Louis.

Zimmerman, two home runs against Babe Adams, tying and winning the game.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM WINS BY RATHER LARGE SCORE

NEW YORK, May 20.—The way the English polo players galloped through their first practice game in this country on the field of the Piping Rock Country club on Long Island, yesterday, defeating a makeshift quartet of American players, showed that both the Englishmen and their ponies are in fine fettle, despite their journey from England. The score of the practice match was 21 goals to 0, the entire score being tallied by the English four in the last five periods.

Such a showing upon first appearance and without observance of the regular team formation convinced the critical spectators that Harry Payne Whitney and his American cup defenders have a most aggressive group of challengers to meet in the international cup matches next month.

The British four lined up with Captain Edwards interchanging with Captain Cheape, the former playing at No. 1 and the latter at No. 2. Captain Ritson, who is to best field captain of the team, played his regular position of No. 3, while F. M. Freake held the position as back. The Americans who rode against them were F. Ambrose Clark, at No. 1; J. C. Rathbone, at No. 2; Quincy Q. Shaw, at No. 3, and Joseph B. Thomas, at back. None of these men are expected to be a cup defender, but they are all able players. Their mounts were distanced in every long gallop, despite the fact that only eighteen of the string of forty-two ponies brought across the water were used on the English side.

MOTORDROME NOW READY

The new motordrome has actually opened and the riders are certainly hitting it up around the bowl. These men seem to have absolutely no regard for their life and limb. The speed that they are going now is of the "here he comes and yonder he goes variety," in other words, they are flying.

Yesterday afternoon the bunch were out for a good practice, until it rained and then the men had to quit, as the least bit of water on the track ruins the gripping ability of the tires and down the men are sure to go. The riders are highly pleased with the track and say that they are looking for some records to be made on the new bowl. Prince and all those interested personally in the track are highly pleased with the outlook and the class of riders that Prince has brought to the city.

Atlanta fans are now about to see exhibitions of the best and most thrilling sport in the world. It is better than a football game, and that is going some. There are thrills every minute of the time. There are shrieks from the ladies as the daring riders take a sharp turn and try to gain on the other riders. It is a sport for the warm-blooded, the spirited person, who likes to see things done in jam-up style. If you want to sleep or crochet, stay away from the track, but if you want to see the fivest and best sport in the world, drop down on Jackson street and see what Prince is putting on daily in the way of practice and then multiply it by two and you will have a real race.

Fan Gets Ticket To Ball Game

J. M. Knight, of South Tryor street, was the baseball fan who won a ticket to Tuesday's ball game by identifying the photo of himself as appearing in Tuesday's Journal. Mr. Knight made the identification immediately after the noon edition was out.

Much interest is being shown in the fan pictures, and all who attend the games take a look at the paper in the hope that they are the one to whom the lucky arrow is pointing. Everybody has a chance to get the ticket. You may be the next one to be singled out for the picture.

Pitts Downs Pineview In Double-Header

PITTS, Ga., May 23.—Pitts downed the Pineview team on the local diamond in a doubleheader by the score of 5 to 2 in the first game and 11 to 3 in the second.

Stubbs pitching for the locals had the Pineview aggregation at his mercy all through both games, allowing one hit in the first game and two in the second. Chalker pitching for Pineview pitched a nice game in the first contest but Arnold was batted from the mound for Pineview in the second and was replaced by Brown who was rapped for five hits in the last two innings.

TRAVERS AGAIN IS WINNER WHILE TRAVIS IS PUT OUT

NEW YORK, May 23.—Successful playing on the part of the national champion, Jerome D. Travers, the elimination of Walter J. Travis from the third division of players and defeat of Fred Herreschoff, who won the Oakland tournament a week ago, were features in Thursday's rounds in the tournament for the Metropolitan Amateur golf championship at Fox Hills, Staten Island.

Travers won his match in the morning round of eighteen holes from H. H. Kerr, of South Shore, L. I., but did not exhibit his usual deftness at any stage of the game, while in the afternoon most of the plays being during a severe rainstorm, he was almost at the top of his game and defeated D. J. Graham, of Greenwich, Conn., by 3 up and 4 to play.

Herreschoff's defeat was accomplished by M. N. Michael, of Youngtakah, in the first round for the championship eligibles. Travis succumbed during the second round for the third division.

E. W. Wild, Cranford, beat S. D. Bowers, Brooklyn, 3 up and 2 to play; W. W. Taylor, Ardsley, beat M. P. Lewis, Flushing, 6 up and 5 to play; McKim Hollins Westbrook, beat J. M. Ward, Garden City, 4 up and 2 to play; Chisholm Beach, Box Hills, beat B. M. Ridder, Oakland, 2 up and 1 to play; S. J. Graham, Greenwich, beat T. V. Bermingham, Wykagyl, 6 up and 5 to play; B. T. Allen, Fox Hills, beat Roy D. Webb, Englewood, 2 up and 1 to play; L. P. Owler, Siwanoy, beat J. H. Slater, Fox Hills, 3 up and 2 to play, and Gardiner W. White, Oakland, beat H. V. Gaines, Wykagyl, 2 up. The result of the second match play round follows:

Wild beat Taylor, 6 up and 4 to play; Whitney beat Hollins by 1 up; Kammer beat Brokaw, 4 up and 3 to play; Hyde beat Topping, 3 up and 2 to play; Beach beat Michael, 2 up and 1 to play; Travers beat Graham, 5 up and 4 to lay; Kirkby beat *Allen 2 up and 1 to play, and Gwy*er beat White 3 up and 2 to play.

Fielding Help In Ball Game

Idea That Fielding Does Not Win Games Is All Big Mistake

Newspaper critics often say that fielding averages do not count, and that the best fielders often have the poorest records. According to the way the games are scored in recent years, their opinions appear to be a little off color.

Jiggs Donohue, former White Sox, led the American league three years in succession, and was there ever a man who fielded the initial sack as good as Jiggs, in either fact or record?

Lajoie and Collins have frequently led the second-sackers in figures—and didn't they deserve it?

Jimmy Collins, Lee Tannehill and Bill Bradley, former Nap, have been percentage leaders at third—were there ever any better ones?

Wallace, Turner and McBride have led the shortstops—and who has any better class? The critics were certainly wrong in the aforesaid statement.

Greensboro Wins Game

GREENSBORO, May 23. — The Greensboro high school defeated the strong Woodville team Friday by the score of 11 to 9. In the eighth inning Woodville was ahead by the score of 8 to 2, but the G. H. S. boys got right and scored nine runs.

The feature of the game was made by Wheeler and Winslett. Wheeler, G. H. S.'s star left fielder, in the ninth, caught a long drive and threw the ball to Winslett, who, with his ever ready right arm, tagged the runner coming home.

Batteries: For M. H. S., Durham and Wallace; for G. H. S., Boswell, Copelan and Winslett.

The Dairy Industry In Georgia

TODAY I do not suppose there is a better opportunity offered anywhere in the United States for profitable dairying compared to the chance one has anywhere in Georgia, and especially around the large cities. It is surprising to know the amount of milk and butter that is consumed even in Atlanta alone. There are over 500 licensed dairys doing business in and around Atlanta. There are probably several carloads of milk shipped into Atlanta every day from outside sources, and still it is almost impossible to furnish enough milk for daily use.

The dairymen who have looked after their trade properly, given their customers clean, wholesome milk and have taken an interest in their business are having no trouble in selling their output at 50 cents per gallon retail to the best class of Atlanta trade. Forty cents is probably the standard price that most milk is sold for, and 25 cents per gallon wholesale is the price received for most milk handled in this way. It can be readily seen that when a man has a herd of cows that have been properly bred and raised that are producing from two to three gallons of milk each per day you can easily figure what an enormous income these cows will bring.

The great drawback that has always come to dairying in this section of country is the high price of feed and the low quality of production from the average dairy cow. As these two things govern prices and of course play an important part in profits, they are the two things that will make for a man, if he can regulate them, a big per cent profit over those who pay no attention to these details. There is less money in milk today at 50 cents per gallon retail than there was twelve years ago at a price of 25 cents retail. This is brought about by the difference in the cost of feed, the difference in the price of dairy cattle, labor, and also the price of land; all of these having advanced from two to tenfold in the past twelve years.

After so long a time it is fully demonstrated now that we can grow anywhere in Georgia, not only the best but the cheapest dairy food in the world, namely alfalfa and ensilage corn. When a man has these two articles if a few pounds of cotton seed meal is added to these at each feed he has the cheapest dairy food that can possibly be made, and if his cows are the right kind he can grow this feed and produce milk easily at 10 cents per gallon. Such being the case you can easily figure what a big per cent of profit there is for the dairyman who can or does produce this own feed. Ensilage is probably the most important one feed that a man can have in keeping a profitable herd of dairy cows. The United States government certainly has done some great work in Georgia in assisting those who so desire to construct cement silos in different parts of the state, and it can be done so cheaply that there is no excuse for a person not having a silo on every dairy farm. For from $150 to $350 Prof. Hart, who is connected with the Georgia State Agricultural college has superintended and had constructed a large number of these silos which are permanent fixtures on many dairy farms. They are capable of holding from fifty to two hundred tons of ensilage, and by the proper variety of ensilage corn such as Eureka, Mexican June or any of the heavy fodder corns it is no trouble to produce on good land from fifteen to forty tons of ensilage per acre. With irrigation, which can be constructed for about $150 per acre it is an easy matter to produce thirty-five to forty tons of ensilage per acre and easily two crops per year can be had off of the same land. For instance, I know of one dairyman who plants very early roasting-ear corn, such as Snowflake or Stovall's evergreen. He usually sells about $200 worth of roasting-ears per acre from these, but of course it is on rich land which the cows have made rich. Then he has the corn, but not less than fifteen tons per acre to go in the silo. He fertilizes heavily this same ground and plants in July another crop of either Eureka or Mexican June, which produces about twenty-five tons per acre. This enables him to make the cheapest food that can possibly be had and the best, and this green succulent food will keep the cows up to a heavy flow of milk through the entire winter.

Yours very truly,

QUESTION.

I have just purchased a vacant lot that has a crop of alfalfa on it just beginning to bloom.

Will you please tell me when the right time is to harvest the crop and how often it should be harvested, also please tell me what to fertilize with and when it should be done, as I would like to keep it growing, as I believe it to be a very profitable thing?

Will appreciate any information you can give me. W. R. S.

Cedartown, Ga.

ANSWER.

The proper time to cut alfalfa is when it shows a new growth at the crowns about two or three inches high. When a nice new growth has appeared the top crop is ready to come off.

Alfalfa should be harrowed twice a year, once after the second cutting and once after the last cutting.

A disk standing harrow with the disk set up almost straight will answer the purpose, or a regular alfalfa harrow such as is made by The S. F. Avery people is the proper implement for doing this work.

It pays to broadcast a coating of Tennessee phosphate rock or well cured acid phosphate, about 600 to 1,000 pounds per acre once a year. This should be done in the fall after the last cutting. After alfalfa is two years old a heavy coating of manure can be broadcast in the fall. You will find it very profitable and nothing you can plant will pay you better.

QUESTION.

Will you please tell me the trouble with my little chickens, and what to do for them. They open their mouths just like they are gaping. Then they will scratch the side of their mouth. They do this way all during the day. They are four to six weeks old. They eat and drink hearty until about a day before they die. They are free from lice and mites. They have been well and have commenced to lay." At all dealers. Price, 25c, 50c and $1. Bee Ace Stock Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
